Fifty-two Today.
Sound Speed Measured.
Real Artificial Lightning.
Perhaps a Money War.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

THIS IS President Roosevelt's fifty-second birthday. He begins his fifty-third year more powerful than he was yesterday.

The House Naval Affairs Committee yesterday approved an amendment to the pending naval construction bill to give him authority to spend ninety-five million dollars on eleven hundred and eighty-four new fighting planes.

That isn't a big air fleet, compared with what France has, but it is something.

And with a good American pilot in charge of each plane it ought to make any nation cautious about attacking the United States.

NOT THAT the country or its cities could beat off airplane attack, or prevent great destruction. That is now impossible, as proved by experiments of the British Royal Air Force. But possession of a big fleet is a warning, saying to other countries:

"Keep away, if you don't want your cities destroyed."

The new air fleet plan ought not to hurt the feelings of pacifists. A few first-class bombardments and gassing of big cities would hurt his feelings more.

SCIENTIFIC measurement by Prof. Dayton C. Miller, who teaches physics, show that sound travels EXACTLY one thousand and eighty-seven and thirteen one-hundredths feet per second.

That is of slight importance compared with the speed of light, which measures all distances in the universe. But to know the exact speed of sound is highly important in war.

HEREAFTER, calculation will establish the exact distance and facilitate locating and blowing up enemy cannon as soon as the sound is heard.

Big guns at Sandy Hook, N. J., helped determine the speed of sound. Those super pop-guns will never again be useful in any other way, for no nation will ever be idiotic enough to attack this country except through the air, or by submarine.

PROF. BELLASCHI, Westinghouse research engineer, tells the American Institute of Electrical Engineers that science, which can make "artificial lightning," is now able to reproduce the shattering force of the lightning, as well as its light effect. This is done by adding 150,000 amperes to the artificial bolt.

The ancients believed that Jove hurled his thunderbolts at those whom he disliked, hence the lightning and thunder.

Scientific men may actually do it. That would make future war even more unpleasant.

The airplane is fast enough in destruction, but electricity goes around the world seven times in a second. If a man in Tokio could launch a thunderbolt and hit Moscow, Paris or Berlin in a tenth of a second later, that would be real war, and world peace would become necessary.

WASHINGTON reports that the United States may have "a serious currency war" with Great Britain. What it would be about the average man doesn't and never will know.

It is supposed that our large "graveyard rabbit's foot" of gold in Washington would give us a firm position in a money war. But what the Washington lump of gold can do for us, since nobody can have it, is not clear.

The ordinary man doesn't even know whether the war will be to make the pound cheaper than the dollar, or vice versa, or to make the pound more valuable than the dollar, or vice versa.

IN FACT, nobody knows anything about money. It is all guesswork. And that applies to the learned, so-called financiers.

When you've got enough gold to get along and transact business, you're on a gold basis, and very proud of it.

When your gold is inadequate, your need of money grows too fast, or your depression is too deep, you get off the gold basis and try to seem proud of that. What the facts are, no one knows.

DR. CONANT, brilliant young president of Harvard University, says, to encourage university men:

"The success or failure of the civilization we are building in America today depends on the new recruits enlisted by the universities to carry on this never-ending adventure."

Dr. Conant would tell boys that can't go to a university, that while much depends on the small group of thoroughly educated men, who are a small minority of those that graduate from universities, by the way, infinitely more depends on the millions that do not go to universities.

Those millions will produce in the future, as they have done in the past, such men as Abraham Lincoln and Thomas A. Edison.

What your long ancestry has put into your head and character before you were born is more important than anything that any university can add, either.

AIRMAIL INQUIRY LINKS MELLON

LETTER SENT 'A.W.' LOST, QUIZ TOLD

Contract Application Evidence Given to Senate Committee

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—Testimony that a letter from former Postmaster General Walter F. Brown to Andrew W. Mellon regarding an air mail contract was missing from Postoffice Department files was given today to the Senate committee investigating mail contracts.

The committee received what was purported to be a photostatic copy of the letter written in 1930 while Mellon was Secretary of the Treasury. It concerned the award of a contract for the Pittsburgh-Washington route. A Pittsburgh company in which the Mellons held stock was interested in obtaining the contract.

The letter said that the department was considering the Pittsburgh company's application, and that the contract likely would be awarded as soon as the Commerce Department placed lights along the route.

FARLEY TESTIFIES

Meanwhile, James A. Farley, genial Postmaster General and chairman of the Democratic National Committee, told the Senate investigators of a trip to Texas by himself and others in a plane owned by a mail contract holder, but said he never would do it again.

Appearing before the air mail inquiry committee to testify concerning the alleged absence of records of Walter F. Brown, former Postmaster General, he was subjected to a sharp cross-examination by Senator Austin (Rep.), of Vermont, a minority member.

Farley said he "wasn't responsible" for the details of what happened after he commissioned "a gentleman from Texas" in his department to arrange the trip.

AIR MAIL CONTRACT

Austin drew from Farley the testimony that Silliman Evans, whom he appointed fourth assistant postmaster general, had been an official of the Aviation Corporation, whose alleged obtaining of mail contracts without competitive bidding has been brought out in former sessions.

Farley agreed Evans was the man who arranged the Texas trip in an Aviation Corporation plane.

Illustrating the testimony that had been given previously by James Maher regarding the burning of records when Brown left office, the committee investigators had placed on view six file cabinets containing 22 drawers each.

Maher, now a stenographer in Farley's office and who until recently was receiving $25 a month from the Democratic National Committee, identified them as having contained the correspondence he said he had burned.

Awarded Medal

ANNE MORROW LINDBERGH

ANNE AWARDED PRIZED MEDAL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—Mrs. Anne Morrow Lindbergh today was awarded the Hubbard gold medal by the National Geographic Society for her "brilliant accomplishment as radio operator, aerial navigator and co-pilot."

She is the first woman to receive the medal. It has been conferred on nine men, including her husband, Charles A. Lindbergh, with whom she recently made an extensive air journey.

The award, made by a vote of the society's trustees, was announced today by Dr. Gilbert Grosvenor, the president.

Although several women have flown the North Atlantic by plane, Mrs. Lindbergh is the only woman to cross the South Atlantic in that manner. She also is the only woman to have crossed from America to Japan by air.

FRIGID WAVE TIGHTENS GRIP HERE

Suffering and Peril Mark 'Coldest Day;' Relief Tomorrow

7 a. m.	0	3 p. m.	7

Record-breaking cold for the season and this date brought peril and suffering for the second day of the frigid wave today as moderation was in prospect.

The mercury fell to 1 below zero in the official thermometer on top of the Oliver Building and to four and five degrees below zero in several outlying districts.

The official minimum broke the season's low mark of 1 above, recorded yesterday and December 27, and shattered the previous cold record for this date, of 7 above in 1915.

ZERO AGAIN TONIGHT

Observer W. S. Brotzman predicted the thermometer would register around 5 above zero tonight and that the extreme cold would pass tomorrow under the influence of southerly winds. Temperatures in the far Northwest were considerably higher today.

Ice was running in the Allegheny River. All movable dams in the Ohio River were down as a precaution against damage from the ice flow. Near Kittanning the river was frozen over.

ENTIRE NATION SHIVERS

The cold belt covered virtually the whole country from the Rockies eastward. The South was hard hit. Atlanta reported a low temperature of 6 degrees this morning; New Orleans 30. If bathers took a dip in the ocean at Miami today they did so with the mercury at 52.

Automobile, airplane and trolley traffic continued impeded by the extreme cold. Relief agencies faced the increased burden of caring for needy and homeless.

SKATING OPENS IN PARKS

James Moore, superintendent of parks, announced that skating would be permitted this afternoon and tonight on Panther Hollow Lake, Schenley Park; Carnegie Lake, Highland Park; Lake Elizabeth, West Park, and Olympia Park. Tests showed the ice thick and firm.

FLORIDA BAND LYNCHES MAN

TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 30.—(AP.)—A band of men early today lynched Robert Johnson, Negro, held for investigation for an alleged attack on a white woman.

Deputy Constable T. M. Graves reported he was kidnaped, beaten and then freed when the Negro, whom he was transferring from the city jail in charge of state authorities, was shot down.

The shooting took place in an isolated section 15 miles from Tampa at 3:15 a. m., a short time after Graves took the Negro from the jail.

Police reported they released Johnson to Graves at 2:30 a. m., when the deputy constable appeared with warrants charging Johnson with petty larceny.

Graves said his automobile was stopped and he was overpowered and tossed into the rear seat. Graves said a dozen cars followed the party to the scene of the lynching.

Police arrested Johnson Sunday and reported he was partially identified as the Negro who attacked a woman.

UTILITY TAX COMPROMISE OFFERED

Drop Meter Levy Plan For One on Realty, Phila. Co. Hints

The Philadelphia Company today offered to compromise with the City of Pittsburgh in their battle over payment of taxes.

The utilities indicated they would submit their million-dollar properties for taxation if Council would drop the plan proposed by Councilman John Kane to put a tax on meters.

City Solicitor Cornelius D. Scully informed Council this afternoon that Attorney E. P. Griffiths, of the Philadelphia Company, had asked for a three-day delay during which the utilities might meet to negotiate with the city for a real estate tax.

Scully said he received the impression that the proposed tax would apply to all the utilities upon whose equipment Kane has proposed taxes.

32-MILLION HOLDINGS

Tax-exempt properties of all the utilities in Pittsburgh are assessed at more than 32 million dollars.

The tax on this would be $564,744.

Councilman Kane asked Scully whether the Solicitor thought this would bring any money to the city this year. Scully said he thought it would.

Council granted the requested postponement, during which the utilities will submit their proposition to Scully.

UTILITIES INVOLVED

Among the utilities at which Kane has been striking are Peoples Natural Gas Company, Pennsylvania Water Company, Bell Telephone Company, South Pittsburgh Water Company, to say nothing of the many subsidiaries of the Philadelphia Company.

One tax proposed by Kane was a $5 tax on each meter. He estimated this would bring in three million dollars—but hardly without a court fight which may be avoided if the compromise is accepted.

An official of the Philadelphia Company gave this statement to the Sun-Telegraph:

"The suggestion was made to us by a disinterested party that if the utilities would agree to contribute to the city in an amount equivalent to their exemption of taxes that that could be offered as a substitute for the tax o nmeters. We indicated that we were prepared to discuss this matter with the other utilities and told Mr. Scully that we were willing to consider the idea."

LABOR BOARD WILL QUIZ WORKERS ON UNION

Labor Group Wins Aid Of President in Feud On Firm Election

By JOHN P. COWAN
Sun-Telegraph Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—President Roosevelt by executive order will direct that a poll of the employes of the Weirton Steel Company be taken immediately to determine whether another election shall be held for the naming of representatives for collective bargaining under the NRA.

Such was the promise made by the Chief Executive at a conference at the White House today between the President, Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator, and a group of representatives of the Weirton locals of the Amelgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers.

Announcement of the President's decision was made by William J. Long, head of the employes' delegation, and was concurred in by the other amalgamated officials at the meeting.

MAY VOID ELECTION

The poll of the workers will be taken under the supervision of the National Labor Board, according to Long. If a majority favor the union and the holding of another election, the federal authorities will proceed at once to set up the machinery for the vote in accordance with the rules of the Labor Board.

This would mean automatically a declaration that the recent election held by the company was void.

Long and his associates claim that at least 85 per cent of the employes in the Weirton mills at Weirton, Steubenville and Clarksburg are members of the Amalgamated association. The poll will be taken by officials of the Labor Board in a house-to-house canvass where employes will be identified by means of payroll checks.

It is believed that the entire personnel can be canvassed within a week or 10 days and the result determined. If more than 50 per cent vote in favor of the union and the holding of another election, the Labor Board will take up its work where it left off last

MONETARY BILL SIGNATURE DUE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—President Roosevelt will sign the dollar devaluation bill at 3:30 the dollar devaluation bill this afternoon and promptly move to take over the nation's gold supply.

Until the mechanically difficult task of taking over the more than three billion dollars of gold held by the Federal Reserve System is completed, Mr. Roosevelt will reserve action on devaluing the dollar permanently and establishing the stabilization fund.

The first objective is getting the national gold supply into control of the Treasury. It will be kept in bullion form as a basis for currency issues.

When this operation has been arranged, the President will issue a proclamation fixing definitely the new value of the dollar in terms of gold. This value will be between 50 and 60 per cent of its previous gold content in accordance with the new law which was requested by the President.

Mr. Roosevelt then will have a profit in gold of more than two billion dollars, resulting from the depreciated price of the dollar. He will use two billion dollars of this for a stabilization fund to use in steadying the dollar in foreign exchange and for other purposes.

Blood Transfusion Aids Banker Traylor

CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—(INS.)—Three injections of anti-pneumonia serum prepared from his wife's blood brought an improvement today in the condition of Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National Bank.

The serum treatment was resorted to as a precautionary measure, it was explained. Mrs. Traylor's blood was used in preparing the serum because she had recovered from an attack of pneumonia.

Husband to Fight Duel for Wife

BAYONNE, France, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—A second duel as a result of the Bayonne bank scandal is brewing today with a husband substituting for his wife.

A lawyer, M. Simonet, president of the local bar association, challenged the editor, M. Delarue, who assumed responsibility for his wife's remarks on the attorney's duties in connection with the failure of the institution.

Drunkenness at Fatal Relief Party Denied

GREENSBURG, Pa., Jan. 30.—Robert Hamberg, 30, of Irwin, Westmoreland County Emergency Relief employe, had only one drink of ale before his automobile crashed, killing himself and Miss Barbara Magee, his companion at a party of relief workers last Thursday, it was testified today.

Alva Tomb, of Youngwood, a witness at the Coroner's inquest, said it was the first of the parties he had attended, and ale, sandwiches and coffee were served. He said Hamberg had only one glass of ale. The parties, he said, were financed by each worker contributing 50 cents, and were not paid for from emergency funds.

It was the fatal crash last week that resulted in a demand being made for the resignations of A. W. Greisfend, executive director of the board in Westmoreland County, and Miss Katherine Wilkey, supervisor of visitors.

State Highway Patrolman Paul Ketterin testified that when he went to investigate the wreck, a man he later identified as Grotefend attempted to drive through traffic at the scene. He said he finally flagged Grotefend and forced him to get out of his car. He testified he found Grotefend highly nervous, but not intoxicated.

Biddle Calls Field Chief For Report On Crash

HARRISBURG, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—R. H. Stroud, field director of the State Emergency Relief Board, is in Harrisburg at the request of Eric H. Biddle, Executive Director, to report on events preceding the death of the two Westmoreland County relief workers in an automobile wreck.

Biddle's spokesman said today there will be no "action" in Stroud's case "unless he takes it himself" until the state board receives a report. The Executive Director's representative refused to confirm or deny Stroud would be asked to resign.

Reds Set New Stratosphere Record

Huge Soviet Balloon Reaches Altitude Of 12½ Miles

By LINTON WELLS
International News Service.

MOSCOW, Jan. 30.—In a surprise flight, three Soviet balloonists today established a new unofficial world's altitude record by ascending almost 12½ miles into the stratosphere.

Carrying on an uninterrupted series of meteorological and cosmic ray observations, the balloonists rose to an altitude of 20,600 meters (12.48 miles), and because of lack of visibility and weather of 45 degrees below zero radioed their intention to land near Jegorjevsk or Bronicy, 50 miles southeast of Moscow.

The balloonists were M. Fedoseemko, noted Soviet aeronaut; his assistant, M. Ousyskin, and M. Vasenko, constructor of the gas bag. The flight was made in the Osoviakhim No. 1, a huge bag with a capacity of more than 800,000 cubic feet, constructed by the Soviet Civil Aviation Organization in an attempt to better the mark of 11.8 mile set a few months ago by Soviet Army balloonists.

Although the officially recognized world altitude record is 11.5 miles, established by Lieut. Com. T. G. W. Settle, of the United States Navy, in a flight from Akron last November, Soviet authorities regard today's mark as a new world's record.

The flight was made under great difficulties. Radio reports from the metal gondola in which the three aeronauts were sealed told of a temperature of 45 degrees below zero and dense cloud banks which for hours blinded the balloonists to their course or conditions around them.

At one time, radio communication was cut off while the crew used a purifier to eliminate the carbon dioxide which formed in the gondola.

The balloonists took off at 5:40 a. m. G. M. T. At 6:55 they reported an altitude of 45,000 feet, with a temperature of 45 below outside and zero inside the gondola, adding:

"Our cosmic ray experiments are continuing without interruption."

At 7:15 a. m. the altitude was 19,000 meters and at 8 a. m. 20,000 meters.

Fifteen minutes later the balloonists reached their highest altitude, 20,600 meters, and shortly afterward began to descend.

A fleet of airplanes and balloons immediately took off from the Frounze Airport in an attempt to locate the stratosphere bag and lead it to a safe landing.

Civil aviation authorities were jubilant not only over establishing a new record, but over beating the Soviet army fliers after three years of preparatory work.

PACIFIST FOES OF BIG NAVY SCORED

Debate Opens on Bill To Build Up to Treaty Terms

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—House debate on the Vinson naval expansion and airplane bill was opened today with a bitter attack upon alleged pacifist organizations fighting the building of a "treaty Navy."

The naval bill does not flatly estimate what the ultimate cost of carrying the program into effect will be. Estimates range from $380,000,000, if the craft are constructed under routine procedure, to $450,000,000 or $475,000,000 if constructed on an NRA basis.

It was approved unanimously today by the Senate Naval Affairs Committee.

Representative Britten (Rep.), of Illinois, charged that efforts of pacifist organizations had brought the American Navy to "its present disgraceful condition."

GARNERS FETE ROOSEVELTS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—Take it from Will Rogers, the elaborate dinner staged by the man he calls "Cactus Jack" Garner and his wife for Mr. and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt "sure was a fine party."

The Vice President and Mrs. Garner had the honor of being the first to entertain the President and Mrs. Roosevelt at dinner this season.

Rogers, who flew here with his wife from California just to attend, even had a joke on himself. He was the only one not wearing "white tie and tails." The President jerked him by the coat tails, he said, and asked him where were his clothes. Rogers replied he wasn't on the program and "for once in my life I didn't bring my banjo." But he did give one of his monologues, poking fun at "all of 'em."

10-YEAR LOANS GOAL OF RFC

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Authority for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to make new loans for a period of 10 years was asked today by Jesse Jones, its chairman, at an executive session of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee.

Jones said the authority was necessary to carry out the administration's relief program. The present time limit on all RFC loans is three years.

Jones said the extension was needed in particular to aid railroads, which owe a total of $400,000,000. Of this debt, he added, railroads owe $300,000,000 to the RFC. He said:

"It will enable the railroads to amortize their debts and gain a little headway."

FEAR EX-PRISON CZAR'S SUICIDE

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—Joe Rao, deposed as a virtual ruler of his fellow inmates at Welfare Island Prison last week, is being guarded against possible suicide.

Shorn of his special privileges, the erstwhile Harlem racketeer is despondent, prison officials have reported.

He lamented, according to Dr. Louis Berg, prison physician:

"What have I got to live for?"

On advice of Dr. Berg, Rao was transferred to a ground-floor cell and placed under constant guard.

His wife went to the prison yesterday to see him. Commissioner of Correction Austin H. MacCormick, who directed the raid on the prison last week, refused her permission and questioned her about a special pass which formerly enabled her to visit her husband as often as three times a day.

LONG DENIES VOTE FRAUD

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—Senator Long (Dem.), of Louisiana, returned from a lost political battle in New Orleans today and in the Senate defended his state from the charges of political corruption leveled against it by the special Senate committee that investigated primary expenditures in the campaign of Senator Overton, his colleague.

Rising to a point of personal privilege and waving his arms in characteristic fashion, he shouted the committee had shown Overton, whom he supported, was "as clean as the angel's ghost," but in condemning the use of dummy candidates in the 1932 election looked upon this practice as something "unusual."

He added he knew of one candidate for the United States Senate who was encouraged by his party to enter the race, not to get the election, but to "divide the vote" and elect another man with a promise the "dummy" would be rewarded amply in some form or other.

SWARTHMORE, Pa., Jan. 30.—(AP.)—Prof. Harold Clarke Goddard, head of the English department at Swarthmore College, was slightly burned while battling a fire which badly damaged his home on the campus early today.

Maley, a native of Jugoslavia, has applied for passports to return there. One of the stipulations of the pardon is that he leave the country.

HITS CARRIERS ON UNIONS

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—Joseph B. Eastman, federal rail co-ordinator, has served notice on "some railroad managements" that "unless they show a change of heart" he will ask Congress to enact legislation prohibiting any control of company unions.

Discussing the Emergency Transportation and National Industrial Recovery acts in an address yesterday, Eastman said:

"Company unions are not of themselves outlaws, but they must be kept 100 per cent free and independent of railroad management. A company union must not be in any sense a 'kept' union if labor is to be given the privileges intended by Congress in past legislation."

Foreseeing "great opportunities" ahead of the industry, Eastman said the Emergency Transportation Act provides the necessary foothold for a "more perfect union" to achieve desired standards of operation and financial return.

BORAH PREDICTS SILVER VICTORY

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—A prediction that the government will remonetize silver in the near future was made today by Senator Borah (Rep.) of Idaho.

Borah and other silver leaders were highly pleased with the outcome of the silver battle in the Senate last week, in which remonetization was beaten by a two-vote margin. He declined to say whether the silverites would make another effort to force remonetization in the present session. He said:

"Its just a question of time before silver will take its place in our monetary system. Events are running over us but we don't know it yet. We need not be uneasy about what England will do on silver. She may beat us to remonetization."

Old Issues 'Bunk' Speaker Rainey Says

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 30.—(AP.—Henry T. Rainey from his seat as Speaker of the House of Representatives looks down not on Democrats and Republicans but on "the merged great political parties."

Old differences such as the tariff are "purely the bunk" and have been supplanted by the issues of depression and recovery, the veteran Illinois representative said in an address at the Penn Athletic Club last night.

ROBINSON SEES MILLS' BID FOR PRESIDENCY

Charges Repudiation of Hoover Policies to Ex-Treasury Head

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Ogden L. Mills, former secretary of the treasury, has announced his "candidacy for the presidency" by a "repudiation of Hoover policies," Senator Robinson (Dem.), of Arkansas, declared today.

Robinson said Mills' address to Kansas Republicans last night "is notable in that it indicates his candidacy for the presidential nomination on the Republican ticket and the platform upon which he expects to run."

Robinson sharply challenged Mills' argument that the Roosevelt administration had brought "the death of liberty." He added:

"So far as the masses of our population are concerned, there is far more liberty now than was enjoyed by our citizens during the time when he (Mills) stood close to the seat of power and whispered to the head of the government the devious courses to be taken to strengthen and to build up privilege and monopoly at the sacrifice of the common citizens' liberty and welfare."

Robinson chided Mills for favoring reciprocal tariff agreements to build up international trade. He said this was a Roosevelt policy and "implies repudiation (by Mills) of the principle for which he has stood throughout a long political career."

FIRE SEWICKLEY CHIEF AGAIN

Police Chief Roy Barclay, of Sewickley, who has been in and out of office on an average of at least once a week since the first of the year, again stood dismissed today by Burgess Paul Ingram.

Shortly after the chief was handed a written dismissal by Burgess Ingram on the street last night, Council is reported to have met "at the call of the chair" and reinstated the chief.

Burgess Ingram, who charged "insubordination in taking orders from Council" as the basis of the chief's latest dismissal, said:

"I gave the chief certain orders in regard to helping out with the school children during traffic hours. They were orders which any good chief should be glad to carry out. He told me he was taking no instructions from the burgess—that he would look to the police committee for orders. Sewickley needs an active police chief, not one who sits in a swivel chair and pencils notations on police reports. I do not know whether Council reinstated Barclay. His dismissal stands as far as I'm concerned."

J. C. Chaplin, president of Council, refused to discuss the case. He said:

"I don't know anything about it. I don't know whether Council met. And I don't want anything put in the paper about this."

CWA Called Bottomless Bucket For Taxpayers; Public Works Program Should Replace Waste

By RICHARD WASHBURN CHILD

Noted Author and American Ambassador to Italy Under Two Administratons.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The conditions surrounding the Civil Works Administration are giving the administration and also Congress some shudders.

Everyone knows that the Civil Works Administration was devised when the honest caution of Secretary Ickes as to the public works program expenditures slowed down the flow of money.

The public works program was intended to increase employment by construction jobs and therefore release purchasing power. Then when men and women and children were still hungry the money otherwise to be spent by the government in more normal channels was poured into civil works to give jobs.

IT IS admitted by almost everyone that immense, almost inconceivable, sums would be necessary to keep this civil works employment going indefinitely—even for 3 million men.

It is admitted that in many instances the CWA dislocates normal labor, taking from other jobs men who would be better off to remain where they are from a long term view of their welfare.

It is admitted by almost everyone that the opportunity for graft, as we have pointed out many times, is a staggering hazard which we have faced. Evidence enough of corruption has bubbled up already.

It is admitted by almost everyone that such a distribution of pay checks, no matter what the intention, creates a vast voting machine—WHILE THE EXPENDITURE CONTINUES but that when the flow stops, the reaction is terrific. It is terrific not only among those employed by the CWA distribution, but even among the most humane and reputable persons in communities where a stoppage of the flow of relief gives excruciating pain. In other words, while the flow continues, hymns of praise are offered up to a federal heaven, but when it stops there is encouragement of the desperate and embittered mob to raise the devil.

Common enough is the comment in Washington that the administration is realizing today that the CWA was easier to court and marry than to divorce.

PERHAPS then, the thoughts behind the scenes in Washington will tend toward the realization that temporary and emergency jobs with government, federal, state or municipal, as employer have two difficulties.

ONE—Such jobs create no vistas of assurance or stability ahead for those who hold them. They are not like jobs under the much-berated capitalist system.

TWO—The end of such jobs has to come when no more taxes are available to pay for them.

What we need today then is to let the public works program reabsorb this dangerous and wasteful civil works makeshift. This was the Hearst program initiated three years ago.

WHAT WE need is to set up under Secretary Ickes or around him any kind of machinery which will release funds to those construction efforts which are founded upon these factors:

FIRST—The jobs most needed and promising the best chance for paying back what is put in them.

SECOND—Honest contracts which will yield reasonable profits and so re-establsh the construction industry on a basis that its employes may look forward to something like constant re-employment.

Anything else is a bottomless bucket for the taxpayer. Anything else builds no structure of prosperity. Anything else sows dragons' teeth to destroy us when there is no more money.

BLUE LAW FEUD VOTE WAITED

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Jan. 30.—(AP.)—A couple of councilmanic votes are needed before Johnstown knows which way it's headed on the bothersome blue law question.

The Council was asked to rescind its order to close Sunday movies—the order that led Mayor Eddie McCloskey to decree all Sunday business must cease. Two members were absent because of illness, however, and the other two declined to vote unless all are present.

If the absentees recover, a vote may be taken this week. Otherwise the two Councilmen promised to vote next Monday.

In a three-hour session a dozen businessmen lodged strong protest against continuing enforcement of the blue laws. Representing theaters, news dealers, dairymen, restaurateurs and others, they argued the enforcement is needless and harmful to necessary and legitimate business.

NRA Will Set Up Consumers' Board

Dr. Paul Douglas, head of economic education under the NRA, will come to Pittsburgh, February 7, to organize and officially install the Consumer Advisory Board, Mrs. William M. Parrish chairman of local arrangements, announced.

The new board is one of three bodies which act as counsels for consumer, labor and industry during the preparation and the administration of the NRA codes of fair competition.

Damrosch Classes Crooner With 'Love-Sick' Cat

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—(INS.)—Walter Damrosch, conductor, composer and militant musician, celebrated his 72nd birthday today. He said:

"Jazz appeals to the nerves but never to the head or heart. As for crooners—they should be boiled in oil."

He defined a crooner thus:

"A man who thinks he sings, and you can discover a shadowy succession of tones in mezzo voce—but the tones are so slurred, the words so prosaic, the rhymes so vulgar that the result is more like the sound of a love-sick cat on a back fence than anything else I can think of."

CWA FUND NEAR EXHAUSTION

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Funds for operation of the CWA will be exhausted on February 9, Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, informed a House appropriations sub-committee today in urging speedy enactment of a bill carrying $950,000,000 for the CWA and the relief administration.

Chairman Buchanan (Dem.), of Texas, of the Appropriations Committee, assured Hopkins that funds would be provided to continue both activities.

Continuation of the CWA beyond the May 1 limit set by the administration was indicated by Hopkins, who met the deficiency sub-committee behind closed doors. Chairman Buchanan said:

"Reports have been received that many sections of the country are fearful that Congress will not provide funds to continue the CWA and we are anxious to get the appropriation through to remove this fear.

"No one can tell when the CWA will end."

Senate to Draft Bill To Regulate Markets

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(INS.)—The Senate Banking Committee today decided to begin drafting a bill to regulate the New York stock market and other exchanges within the next 10 days, Senator Couzens (Rep.), of Michigan, announced.

Public hearings will be held by the committee on the measure.

PROBERS SOON TO REPORT ON DUES DEMAND

Situation Laid Before U. S. Official; Bosses Banned in Politics

HARRISBURG, Jan. 30.—Robert W. Kelsoe, special federal CWA prober, made a flying visit to Harrisburg today and was told by Eric H. Biddle, state CWA head, that the problem of union collection of dues from CWA employes in Allegheny County was being eliminated.

Biddle said he told Kelsoe that a final report of findings by state CWA investigators was nearly completed and would be made public in a few days, together with a report showing that the difficulty has been eliminated. He would not reveal the contents of the report until it is completed.

PAY LEVY CHARGED

Charges have been made that the carpenters' union in Pittsburgh was forcing carpenters on CWA jobs to turn over half their pay to the union in payment of back dues.

Kelsoe's visit here, Biddle said, was a routine one that had been scheduled for several weeks. He added that they did not discuss Kelsoe's reported investigation of CWA in Allegheny County except the union situation.

Civil Works employes in supervisory positions will be prohibited from activity in political campaigns this spring, either as candidates or workers in behalf of other candidates, Biddle announced.

He said a bulletin had been sent today to all CWA administrators, informing them they will be held responsible to make the new order effective.

BAN OFFICIALS ON JOBS

The bulletin specifies that "any person who becomes a candidate for political office shall be disqualified immediately for supervisory positions in the Pennsylvania CWA program. The same applies to anyone active in furthering the campaigns of others."

Supervisory positions, Biddle said, include jobs as foremen, supervisors and timekeepers. By this definition the pick and shovel workers are not restrained from political participation. Biddle said his new rule merely amplifies a former regulation which prohibits any governmental officials from holding CWA jobs.

CWA Investigator Pays Surprise Visit to City

Unknown to local CWA officials, Robert W. Kelsoe, field representative of the CWA, stopped off last night in Pittsburgh for several hours between his arrival by plane from St. Louis and his departure by train for Harrisburg. He said his visit here was routine, and made it plain that he was not sitting in judgment on either the individual project or the methods of administration. He explained that his job required that he look over the "whole aspect of the field," a matter to which Civil Works Administrator Harry L. Hopkins, he declared, held him "strictly accountable."

SCANS UNION DEMANDS

Kelsoe expressed himself as being "concerned" about the requirement of carpenters' local unions that their members who were delinquent in union dues sign agreements to turn over to the union half of their CWA wages until arrearages were satisfied. Union officials recently admitted the general use of such a plan after it had been revealed as being used on the Cathedral of Learning CWA project.

Of the practice, Kelsoe said:

"No one should be able to compel anyone to sign a contract to get a job. What a man does with his money, of course, is none of our business, but making a man pay money to get a job is another matter.

"But I'll have to know a great deal more before passing judgment."

Investigations are carried on by accountants and engineers especially assigned from Washington, Kelsoe said.

Kelsoe is scheduled to speak tonight at a dinner of the Social Workers' Club in the Y. W. C. A. building on "The CWA and Federal Relief."

Stock Exchange Sued By New Jersey Firm

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—The receiver of the City Center Corporation of Newark, N. J., brought a $250,000 damage suit against the New York Stock Exchange and other defendants today as an aftermath of last year's proposal to move the exchange across the river to Jersey.

U. S. Loan Ban Looms For Debt Defaulters

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—Legislation to bar financial dealings with nations which have defaulted on debts was held today by Senate leaders to be virtually assured of enactment.

Senator Robinson, Democratic leader, told reporters the Senate would pass with modifications the bill by Senator Johnson (Rep.) of California, to close the United States money market to countries which haven't paid their debts.

Word that the administration would agree to this legislation, with some changes to meet State Department suggestions, has been conveyed to Senate Democratic leaders.

Under the proposed changes, the legislation would apply solely to nations behind in their debts to the United States government and not to those countries owing private citizens or corporations only.

In this country, the measure would affect only individuals and corporations. Government agencies would be excluded so as not to interfere with the intended use of the $2,000,000,000 fund in the money bill for use in stabilizing the dollar abroad.

Senator Robinson said:

"The principle of the bill is to express the conviction of Congress that those governments which won't pay are not entitled to further credit in this country. The bill is to protect the public against the purchase of new issues of those governments that won't pay the United States what they owe it."

Robinson expects to call the bill up in a few days in the Senate.

New Home Financing Waits President's O. K.

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Recommendations for liberalization of existing regulations to permit indirect government financing of new home construction and modernization of old houses were at the White House today for President Roosevelt's approval and submission to Congress.

Although the government's new drive to further aid the home owner and provide work for the vast construction industry will involve hundreds of million of dollars, Congress will not be asked to make any additional appropriations. John H. Fahey, chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, said the money could be secured through the treasury of the RFC.

The board submitted these proposals:

1—Expansion of credit resources of private home-financing institutions by increasing volume of funds available through membership in Federal Home Loan Bank system.

2—Development of federal savings and loan associations as private thrift institutions in communities were home-financing resources are lacking or insufficient.

3—Allow Home Owners' Loan Corporation, which deals only with home owners in difficulty with present mortgages, to finance desirable improvements on homes in which it grants emergency loans.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ADMITS WOMEN MEMBERS

CHANGE 'MAN' TO 'PERSON' IN BY-LAWS

Stephan as Speaker Predicts Return Of Stability

Women were made eligible to membership in the Chamber of Commerce today by unanimous vote of that body.

Mayor McNair was present as guest speaker as a motion to amend the by-laws to include the fair sex was unanimously adopted.

Under the amendment, the by-laws which read that "any man of good standing in the community" is eligible, now reads "person."

McNAIR'S COMMENT

The Mayor commented:

"I suppose the first thing the women wil want to do will be to balance the budget?"

Mayor McNair neiterated his opposition to the meter and telephone tax proposed by Councilman John J. Kane. He said:

"I for one object to being fined for havin ga telephone in my home. Such taxes will be puaid for by the consumer. We don't want to destroy business but encourage it."

STEPHAN SPEAKER

Pittsburgh's businessmen can look forward to Allegheny County's growth out of its lusty adolescence into a period of stable maturity, F. F. Stephan, Bureau of Social Research director, told the audience.

By 1940, he predicted, unless there is considerable emigration here from other parts of the country, Allegheny County's population will almost cease to grow. The wise merchant, he said, will plan for the future when there will be more families and fewer children.

Stephan bases his predictions on the accurate statistics compiled by Pittsburgh and Pennsylvania departments of health, the county Marriage License Bureau and the United States Bureau of the Census.

OUTLOOK FOR FUTURE

Summarized, his survey shows that in the future we can expect:

1—A great decline of births.

2—A decreasing child population.

3—Continued increase in the adult population, especially at the older ages, both in numbers and proportion of the total population.

4—A slowing up of population increase, which will be followed by a period of decrease within 20 years, unless unexpected factors cause a large migration to Pittsburgh.

5—Declining numbers and influence of the foreign born population as a distinct group.

6—Increasing number of deaths, at an increasingly older average age.

These trends, Stephan says, are modified by fluctuations closely coupled with the business cycle.

ACCUSED HEADS DODGE QUIZ IN STERILIZATION

Girl Charges Promised 'Surprise' Was Forced Operation

International News Service.

DETROIT, Jan. 30.—Four affidavits accusing officials of the Wayne County Training School with using coercion and deception in sterilizing boy and girl inmates of the institution, were introduced at a public hearing today.

The hearing was ordered by the County Board of Auditors, which has charge of the juvenile training school. Edward H. Filliams, one of the auditors, precipitated the inquiry when he chargede that sterilization was practiced upon inmates of the institution "with less regard for human rights than in Hitlerite Germany."

BALKE AT HEARING

Dr. Robert H. Haskell, superintendent of the school, and Mrs. Mildred Ainsworth, chief social worker, refused to attend the hearing or to testify. The two officials contend the Board of Auditors has no power to hold a hearing.

In one of the affidavits, a young woman alleged she was forced to submit to sterilization after working for six years in the laundry of the training school. The affffidavit charged the operation was performed forcibly despite the woman's protests that she was over 21 and had "signed no papers."

HELD HER HANDS, FEET

The affidavit said:

"They told me all girls must be sterilized before leavin gthe school. Dr. Haskell told me that then if a girl got to going around with the wrong man won might take advantage of her, she wouldn't have to worry about having no home for a baby.

"The doctors and nurses at University Hospital (Ann Arbor), held my hands, head and feet until I fell asleep."

"Now I'm going with a young man who wants me to marry him. I'm afraid to tell him about this."

The woman, whose name was not disclosed, was abandoned by her parents after a divorce wrecked her home. She was sent to the training school at the age of 14. The affidant charged:

"Each week after I was 21 two men came to me and said they wanted to help get me out. They asked me to sign a paper which they said was a release, but they kept it covered, all but the place for the signature.

'IT'S A SURPRISE'

"'It's a surprise for you,' they said. I refused to sign it without seeing it. Then they told me every girl had to be sterilized before she could be released. I told them I didn't want to be sterilized. They sent me to Mrs. Aainsworth and she tried to persuade me, but I told her I was 21 and wanted to get out.

"I told Dr. Haskell I wanted to marry and have children, and my father told them the same thing when he visited me one time and they tried to get him to sign the papers.

"Some time later Mrs. Sly came to me and said she was going to take me for a nice ride. I knew it was sterilization and refused to go. But Miiss Falich pushed me into the car and drove me to Ann Arbor.

DILLINGER GANG ALL ON WAY TO INDIANA

Leader in Airplane, Others Aboard Private Car

TUCSON, Ariz., Jan. 30.—(AP.)—Three members of the Dillinger gang of Indiana—Harry Pierpont, Charles Makley and Russell Clark—were placed aboard a private car attached to a train leaving here today for Indiana. Being taken with them was Mary Kinder wanted for aiding in a prison delivery.

Their chieftain, John Dillinger, is en route to Indiana by airplane.

Pierpont, Makley, Russell and Miss Kinder were taken to the depot heavily shackled and escorted by 30 officers, armed with submachine guns.

Matt Leach, of the Indiana state police, was granted custody of the prisoners shortly after Judge Fred W. Pickett in Superior Court ordered Sheriff John Belton, of Pima County, to acknowledge warrants signed by Gov. B. B. Moeur granting their removal.

John L. Van Buskirk, their attorney, who had hoped to forestall their extradition, said there was nothing further he could do in the face of the warrants.

REACH CHICAGO TONIGHT

DALLAS, Tex., Jan. 30.—(AP.)—John Dillinger, Middle West bad man, arrived here today on American Airways plane in the custody of four Indiana officers and took off two minutes later for Memphis.

Officials said the party would change planes at Memphis and arrive at Chicago tonight.

Weather Conditions.

The high pressure that brought the cold weather over the country is now centered over the central valleys, apparently developing into the Southeast. It is still attended by cold weather and the skies are clear nearly everywhere east of the Rocky Mountains. The cold weather extends far into the South this morning. Temperature at Atlanta is 8 degrees, Montgomery, Ala., 18, Jacksonville 28 and Tampa 34. At Miami it was 54. A low pressure developing over Alberta and the Canadian Northwest generally is causing a marked rise in temperature over that section and over the Dakotas and Minnesota. Precipitation for the last 24 hours was very light.

River Conditions.

The rivers are about stationary or falling slowly. Ice is forming rapidly on the upper rivers. Stage at Franklin is 4.4 feet; Lock No. 7 (Mon.), 13.1; Pittsburgh, 13.7; Dam No. 4, 9.8; No. 6, 11.5; No. 10, 12.1, and No. 12, 13.0. The dams are down on account of running ice.

SEEK HIGHBALL DEATH JURY

International News Service.

GREENWOOD, Miss., Jan. 30.—With District Attorney Arthur Jordan frankly skeptical of the possibility of obtaining three more jurors suitable to defense, prosecution and the court from the original venire of 200, trial of Dr. Ruth Dean, pretty children's specialist charged with the "poison highball" murder of Dr. J. P. Kennedy, a co-worker, today was resumed before Judge S. F. Davis.

Of 60 prospective jurors examined during the opening day, only nine were found acceptable.

Selection of a jury to try the woman, who is alleged to have given Dr. Kennedy a whisky highball containing poison in a fit of rage because he informed her he was to be reconciled with his estranged wife, was complicated by a state law requiring jurors to be electors.

Possibility that the young doctor may never go on trial was seen as the first venire was rapidly exhausted without a full jury being selected.

Under Mississippi law, if 12 qualified jurors cannot be found, the defendant cannot be tried since the prosecution is not permitted a change of venue.

Constitution And By-Laws Now Just a Monogram

By ARTHUR (BUGS) BAER

You've got to know your A, B, C's to know your Washington.

We have government of the people by the initials and for the alphabet.

If it ain't the NRA it's the CPW or the ZML.

They've boiled the Constitution and the by-laws down to a monogram.

It makes for economy and neatness. You can embroider the entire scheme of things and your political platform on the corner of a hanky.

For years we've been complaining that there was too much paper work and involved details in our national legislation.

We're way past that stage now. You are a poor scholar if you can't understand the words and music set down on paper by a rubber stamp.

AMY MOLLISON PAYS AUTO FINE

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., Jan. 30.—(AP.)—A woman, who Sheriff Walter R. Clark said described herself as Amy Johnson Mollison, the British aviatrix, was fined $50 and costs, or an alternative of 60 days, on a reckless driving charge yesterday.

She was released on her own recognizance after spending a short time in the county jail offices when she reported she was without sufficient funds with her to pay the fine, and was to obtain the needed money at West Palm Beach.

Deputies reported she returned later and paid the fine, which, with costs, amounted to $71.

PALM BEACH, Fla., Jan. 30.—(AP.)—Mrs. Amy Johnson Mollison, British aviatrix, admitted last night that she had been fined on a reckless driving charge at Fort Lauderdale yesterday, but said she didn't care to go into detail.

Janet Snowden Gets Annulment Chance

NEW CITY, N. Y., Jan. 30.—(AP.)—Supreme Court Justice George H. Taylor, Jr., today had signed an order authorizing the former Janet Snowden, oil heiress now in California, to submit a deposition outlining new evidence in her effort to obtain an annulment of her marriage to Prince Don Francesco Caravita.

Justice Taylor recently rejected a referee's recommendation that the annulment be granted, on the ground there was not sufficient evidence.

Wife Finds East End Man Bullet Victim

A bullet wound in his head, John Shaffer, 54, of 242 South Millvale avenue, was reported in serious condition in West Penn Hospital today.

Police reported Shaffer's wife found him wounded in a bedroom of his home last night, a revolver lying nearby. They said she could not explain his alleged act.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Senate laid off yesterday on account of Huey Long going to speak today. They give 'em a day off to get rested up. Huey give me a dose of my own medicine. I generally talk everybody to death, but he got ahold of me and rehearsed his speech on me. He was trying it out on the dog.

Will Rogers

I can remember it myself in case anything happens to him. Since the big money stabilization bill passed Saturday everybody here is in fine cheer, and great optimism. Senators all practicing dancing for the big ball.

BAER, BLONDES IN 'TRIANGLE'

By DOROTHY ROE

Universal Service.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 30.—Innocent bystanders thought they saw an eternal triangle when Max Baer, the pugilistic playboy, appeared at a sun club here yesterday with the beautiful Claire Windsor and the equally attractive June Knight, both blondes from cinema land.

But Max was equal to the occasion. Showering his smiles impartially on the two, he replied to queries as to his much rumored engagement to Miss Knight:

"Now really, it wouldn't be right to marry a June Knight in January, would it? Besides, the only engagement I'm worried about just now is the one with Carnera."

And June smiled her best and said:

"We're just good pals."

Mr. Baer, throwing a muscular arm about the slender Knight shoulders, echoed:

"That's it. Besides, there are four other girls I have to marry first."

And June, not to be outdone, added:

"I may announce my engagement, but it will be to somebody else."

FEAR MURDER OF BREMER

By THOMAS F. CULLEN

International News Service.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 30.—The kidnapers of Edward G. Bremer, wealthy bank president, still maintained their mysterious and ominous silence today, refusing to begin negotiations for payment of the $200,000 ransom awaiting them.

Fears were being expressed on the thirteenth day of Bremer's absence that the kidnapers may have murdered their victim. The missing man's family and friends, however, remained optimistic that a settlement will be reached shortly.

Repeated appeals made by the distraught father, Adolph Bremer, asking the kidnapers to communicate with him, have gone unheeded. With apparently infinite patience the elder Bremer was still waiting for some message from the kidnaping gang.

Police and federal authorities continue to hold to their "hands off" policy in compliance with Adolph Bremer's request.

TOUHY GANG HAD LIFE OF EASE

CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—The beer runner's life, it is now a matter of court record, was a pleasant one.

The details have gone into the testimony of the Factor kidnaping case, in which Roger Touhy, leader of the suburban beer trade north of Chicago, is charged with the kidnaping of John (Jake) Factor, wealthy speculator. The case is concerned with the bootleg beer business because Touhy's defense—probably the first of its somewhat candid type—is that he was not a kidnaper, but "a reputable and respectable bootlegger."

Among several of his employes called as state's witnesses, the chief was Walter A. (Buck) Henrichsen, who quit a good job as a deputy sheriff to go with the Touhy beer gang. He testified that as a truck driver he was paid $100 a week.

Bodies of Four Nuns Recovered by Divers

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Jan. 30.—(AP.)—The bodies of four nuns and the driver of the automobile that carried all to their death in the freezing waters of the power canal at Black River, seven miles from here, Sunday night, were recovered by divers yesterday.

The bodies were removed from the car at a point 500 feet from the place where it crashed through a stretch of guard rail and rolled down an embankment into 20 feet of water. Working in a temperature of 12 below zero, George Fisher, a diver from Ogdensburg, went down into the canal nine times.

Shank Given Stay In Poison Murders

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 30—(AP.)—An appeal which automatically stayed his execution set for February 2 was filed in the State Supreme Court late yesterday by attorneys for Mark H. Shank, Akron (O.) attorney, convicted of a quadruple poison murder. Shank was convicted of the murder of Alvin Colley, also of Akron, who, with his wife and two young sons, were killed by poison at a picnic lunch near Benton last August. Shank pleaded insanity as a defense.

Beatty's Empty Pistol Saves 'Killer' Lion

CLEVELAND, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—There was no bullet in Clyde Beatty's gun or Sammy the lion would have died instead of becoming a killer, but the noted trainer believes Sammy "will behave for a few days" after what the brothers Leo and King did to him.

Beatty disclosed today that his 40 lions and tigers have a law enforcement committee, or strong-arm squad, of four lions, King and Leo and two other brothers.

Sammy killed Bessie, a young lioness, during a training period yesterday, in a fight which the trainer said was "as dangerous as I've experienced." He went on:

"I had three new lionesses in the cage. If I'd had a bullet I'd have killed Sammy."

After the fight Beatty ordered his assistants to remove the carcass of Bessie and bring Sammy back into the cage—alone. He related:

"First, I made Sammy go through his whole routine. I had to show him who was boss. Then, when he still remained sore, I had my assistants send Leo and King into the cage.

"Leo and King are two of four brothers. Although he will never fight one of his brothers, there is nothing any one of these four likes better than to fight. So I had Leo and King give Sammy a merry going over."

Sammy was in the performance last night.

He knocked a chair out of Beatty's hands.

Kidnaping Ghost Stalks In Aimee Suit Trial

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—An old ghost of Aimee Semple McPherson's life, the bizarre Ocean Park kidnaping of 1926, when she disappeared in the sea in a green bathing suit and turned up 39 days later in a hot, cactus-studded desert, has returned.

It was resurrected by Homer Johnstone, a lawyer, in his effort to show that a motion picture proposed by the late J. Roy Stewart, film director, would have starred the evangelist and embraced actual events of her life.

Her asserted failure to make the picture brought about a suit charging her with breach of contract and asking damages of $240,000.

From the witness stand the evangelist said the scenario was to include her chloroforming and kidnaping.

The reference to the kidnaping was only one incident in a day of appearances for the evangelist in legal actions which disturbed her so the court agreed to a recess rather than run the risk of causing her to collapse.

A clue to what included testimony might have been was given by Johnstone in outlining what he expected to prove. It brought into the case the name of Cromwell Ormsby, once legal adviser to the evangelist.

Johnstone said in the fall of 1929, during a conversation between the late Joseph Ford, once counsel for the evangelist, and representatives of Stewart, Ford related that she would be unable to live up to the contract because she had become involved in a scandal with Ormsby.

The evangelist termed "absurd" the references concerning Ormsby and herself.

WEIRTON UNION POLL PLAN OF ROOSEVELT

month when officials of the company interfered and compelled the board's representatives to desist in their efforts to take the ballots under NRA supervision, it was stated today.

HINT COURT ACTION

Officials of the National Labor Board are awaiting the issuance of the President's executive order. The next move would be to send representatives to Weirton, Clarksburg and Steubenville and take a poll of the employes. Interference with the Labor Board's action would bring court procedure by the government to enjoin the parties thus thwarting the election, it is stated.

Long and his associates declared that the President's action would be satisfactory to the great majority of the Weirton employes, and doubtless would result in unanimous ratification by the members of the various locals of the Amalgamated association.

Following the White House conference Long was asked if the Amalgamated association would call a strike in the event that Weirton Steel Company officials would refuse to recognize the union if the majority voted for the Amalgamated.

SEES STRIKE PERIL

Long answered:

"Yes, it would mean a strike, and it would be justified under all conditions. We have held off and assisted the NRA in every possible way. We have kept all our pledges with the National Labor Board, and we are keeping our pledge with the President."

The workers' delegation, consisting of Long, Charles Greenwood, Mel Moore and Jacob Entinger, met Gen. Johnson and were driven in his limousine to the White House. The conference with the President lasted almost an hour, Mr. Roosevelt receiving the workers while the waiting rooms were crowded with congressmen, government officials and distinguished visitors who had come to extend their congratulations on the President's fifty-second birthday.

The mill workers took their opportunity on being received by the President to extend their congratulations and to tell him that back at home were thousands of their fellow employes who desired also to express their good wishes on his birthday.

WEIR SILENT ON COURSE

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—Advised of the administration move in the labor controversy between employes and officials of the Weirton Steel Company, Ernest T. Weir, president, today said:

"I just can't say what we'll do about it yet."

Asked if the proposed election poll came as a surprise, Weir replied:

"Well, I don't know that it is exactly. There has been some talk about court action against us and this might just possibly be a prelude to that—although I don't know."

The steel company executive said he could say nothing of his attitude or his future course until he conferred with company officials, which he hoped to do later today.

WEIRTON MINE STRIKE ENDS

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 30.—(AP.)—Another strike in the Western Pennsylvania bituminous coal fields is ended and some 700 men go back to work tomorrow in the Isabella mine of the Weirton Coal Company.

The week-old walkout was settled yesterday, Dan Sabula, president of the Isabella local of the United Mine Workers of America announcing that a "satisfactory" agreement had been reached with the company, a subsidiary of Weirton Steel.

Sabula said the miners had agreed to the retention of D. A. Bloyer as mine superintendent for an indefinite period "on trial." They had demanded Bloyer's removal on grounds of "discrimination."

No statement was forthcoming from the company, but Sabula said the operators had granted all the other demands, including removal of 17 deputy sheriffs and demotion of Joseph Maraney from a foreman's job.

Outbursts of violence shortly after the strike was called resulted in gunshot wounds for five persons.

Work would have been resumed today, Sabula said, but the return to the pits was put off until tomorrow to permit the men to attend the funeral of a fellow-worker killed in a motor accident.

MISS PERKINS FOR SHORT DAY

International News Service.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 30.—Permanency of the short work-day and the short work-week set up under NRA codes was advocated today by Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins before the annual convention of the United Mine Workers of America.

She declared that the interests of all factions—wage earners, consumers and industrialists — called for such action. She said:

"Every man and woman in this country who is willing and able to work needs to be permanently and securely employed. I am convinced we cannot do this, that we cannot maintain permanent and secure employment, except by a short work day and a short work week."

NUMBERSMEN'S PLEA DENIED

New trials today were denied nine men convicted of conducting the Rankin numbers racket of which Andy Garavini, slain racketeer, was alleged to be the leader.

A full bench of judges heard arguments in Criminal Court on the motions for a new trial. The nine defendants were among 19 tried on charges of conducting a lottery. The others were acquitted. Judge Frank P. Patterson said he would impose sentences Thursday.

Garavini was indicted, but he was slain in an alleged feud with "Iggy" Swartz, a hacker, in Grant street six weeks after police raided the Rankin numbers headquarters.

Heart Attack Fatal To Accident Victim

Augusta Fuller, 60, a cook at the residence of Attorney Don Rose, 46 Beaver road, Sewickley, died last night in the Valley Hospital at Sewickley, following a heart attack.

She suffered a broken leg January 12 when she was struck by an automobile. An autopsy revealed the accident did not contribute to her death, the hospital reported.

New York Youth Held for Holdups

Bennie Marano, 17, of 36 Lincoln street, Rochester, N. Y., was arrested at the home of relatives on the North Side today. He is wanted in Rochester and Buffalo in connection with store holdups, auto thefts and a shooting, the police reported. He said he would waive extradition.

Newspaperman Hurt As Car, Trolley Hit

Henry Ward, 27, Pittsburgh newspaperman, was taken to Columbia Hospital with scalp lacerations and an injured shoulder after his car collided with a street car on Trenton avenue, Wilkinsburg today. His condition was not serious.

ROMANCE GONE, ASTOR TO TOUR

Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—John Jacob Astor is going 10,000 miles away to forget his blighted romance with Miss Eileen Gillespie, New York debutante.

The Astor private car was being provisioned today for a trip to San Francisco on the first lap of a trip that will take him around the world. From the Pacific Coast he will go first to New Zealand and Australia.

Young Astor, son of the financier who was lost in the Titanic disaster, will leave Saturday with two unnamed companions who are not prominent socially.

Over the week-end society suspected there might be a reconciliation of Astor and Miss Gillespie, who announced the termination of their engagement only two weeks before the date set for their wedding. They both were guests at a party given by Anton Dunn, but it was just a coincidence.

Urge Receiver Quit Bank in Finleyville

Depositors of the First National Bank of Finleyville have asked that the Comptroller of the Currency dismiss its receiver, named when the bank was reorganized some time ago, on the basis of extra cost, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

A resolution adopted at a meeting last night said slow assets could be liquidated at less cost under a committee of trustees. The receiver was appointed to dispose of remaining assets of the old institution at the time of reorganization.

O'Ryan Opens Drive On Policy Rackets

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—(INS.)—Under orders from Police Commissioner John F. O'Ryan to "smash the policy game racket" within 30 days, special police squads spread through the city today in search of policy gamblers.

As an incentive the commissioned announced that officers who would "bring in the big wigs of the racket with evidence to convict" would be rewarded with promotion and increased pay.

Crushed Under Train Man Dies of Hurts

Injured when his foot was crushed under a freight car early Sunday, Thomas Volk, 35, of 331 Olivia street, McKees Rocks, died today in Allegheny General Hospital after the foot was amputated, according to a report to the Coroner. Volk was hurt in the Scully yards of the Pennsylvania Railroad in Robinson Township.

FACTIONS WAR IN QUEST FOR CITY PLUMS

Mayor William N. McNair today still held firm to his principle of non-interference with department heads after a clash of Italo-American citizens had thrown the spotlight on Magistrate Charles F. Papale as candidate for police superintendent.

Petitions containin 30,00 names asking Papale's appointment as police head were presented yesterday to the Mayor amid cheers of the audience. But in opposition, Attorney Joseph A. Rossi sprang to his feet to declare Papale didn't want the job. Boos greeted him.

Patronage was the subject first last and all the time at the cabinet meeting.

ATTACKS APPOINTMENT

An attack against Director of Public Works Leslie M. Johnston by Mrs. Helen Schroeder started off the session. Mrs. Schroeder, chairman of the Democratic organization in six Beechview districts, voiced vigorous disapproval of Johnston's appointment of his chief clerk, John McCaffrey.

She said it was an injustice not to place a Democratic worker in that job, charging the incumbent was a personal friend of Johnston. Another woman political leader, Mrs. Bonnie Quaill, chairman of the Thirty-second Ward, came to Johnston's defense.

Finally W. T. Poole, Negro, appeared to make a plea for patronage for his race. With him was Robert L. Vann, Negro publisher and assistant United States attorney.

CITES SMITH ADVICE

To the varied demands pressed upon him, McNair replied that he had delegated the employment duties to his department heads and was not going to change his course. He said:

"That was the advice given me by no less an expert than Alfred E. Smith. It may not help me politically, but it will help the city and make it outstanding in this country."

The principal address of the afternoon was delivered by Frank Nerone, chairman of the Italian Democratic organization. His plea for a representation in city jobs in proportion to the organization's voting strength was generously applauded.

He especially asked an Italian-American be appointed superintendent of highways and sewers.

Striking at McNair's delegation of power to his aides, Nerone said that to allow a department head to run his bureau as a private concern was fundamentally wrong, since the Mayor alone is answerable to the public.

CLASH OVER LEADERSHIP

The clash of factions came when Rossi suddenly declared:

"There is only one Italian leader in this community today and that is Salvatore Sunseri."

Sunseri, backing Mackrell in the primaries, came over finally to the Democrats. Rossi continued that Papale had told him the support of the Italian Democratic organization had caused him "endless grief," that he never authorized that support and didn't want the police head job.

S. L. Schifano denied Rossi's statement, saying that Papale had told him that day that he was an aspirant for police superintendent.

Poole, in his address on behalf of the Negroes, stated that there was plenty of talent in his race for various city jobs, specifically suggesting an assistant city solicitorship, a police magistrate and police positions.

M'NAIR DODGES CURFEW ACTION

Mayor McNair isn't particularly pleased with Police Supt. Ben R. Marshal's decision to enforce the closing hours for cabarets, but His Honor said today he wasn't going to do anything about it. He added:

"That's up to Ben Marshall. He's a seasoned policeman. I think the people should be let alone but I'm not going out and order anyone to let them alone."

Marshall has warned the cabaret operators to stop dancing at midnight Saturday and 1 a. m. during the week.

Munhall Reappoints M'Naughton as Chief

Reappointment of O. E. McNaughton as chief of police of Munhall and the addition of a new policeman were decided upon by borough council at a meeting yesterday. The police force now numbers 24.

Editor Will Speak At Festival Here

The festival of Chamisho Oser B'Shvat will be observed by Pittsburgh Jews at a meeting in the Y. M. and W. H. A. tomorrow night. M. Rybalov, editor of the Hebrew weekly, "Hadoar," will speak on "The Revival of the Jewish Spirit in Palestine." Audience singing will be lead by Cantor Bloom, of the B'nai Israel Congregation.

ONE MORE DAY TO FILE TAX

Tomorrow is the last day for filing personal property returns with the County Board for Assessment and Revision of Taxes.

Several thousand persons have been making affidavits each day for several weeks at the board's office in the Courthouse. A decision of Orphans' Court as to the taxability of cash savings in banks is expected soon, tax board representatives said.

GARLAND HITS FLOOD CRITIC

President of Council Robert Garland today called the controversy over the Flood Commission's request for a $5,000 appropriation for flood control study a "tempest in a teapot."

Mr. Garland replied to George S. Davison, president of the Flood Commission, who yesterday assailed Garland. The latter had suggested that the commission's request be turned over to the County Commissioners.

Today Garland said:

"Mr. Davison does me too much honor when he assumes that I am the whole Council. I am only one-ninth. It was the unanimous opionion of the members that the county should bear its proper share in such a larage undertaking.

"So far as I personally am concerned I have always supported the Flood Commission and will continue to do so. All this lengthy, unnecessary and foolish publicity looks to me like a 'tempest in a teapot.'"

First Lady Urges Free School Lunches

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—A pickle or a piece of candy would no longer serve as a school child's lunch if the country takes the suggestion of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

She said school lunches should be served to all undernourished children, rural as well as urban, on a basis of pay if possible, if not, a lunch anyway.

Coincidentally a program whereby more and better food will be fed to undernourished children in the capital at school luncheons got underway today as a result of Mrs. Roosevelt's interest.

A Large school building downtown was being taken over by Army engineers to be equipped as a central feeding kitchen.

BUSINESSMEN AID TAX DRIVE

A campaign to collect city taxes from individuals and corporations heavily delinquent is to be conducted by a group of downtown businessmen in co-operation of City Treasurer James P. Kirk.

The drive was authorized by Council yesterday after James W. Bamford, of the Building Owners and Managers' Association, told them that it might be possible by energetic collection methods to get in $2,000,000 in delinquent taxes and increase the rate of current collections by 10 per cent.

Council left the naming of the committee to Bamford. He was to confer with Kiry today and work out plans.

Bamford's idea is to pick out income-producing properties and call the need for payment to the attention of the owners along with a warning that the city will go as far as the law allows in collecting.

Plans City Trolley Line Over Wabash System

A new threat to the Pittsburgh Railways Company and a bid for a 5-cent fare is seen in proposal before City Council to have the city operate a traction line via the Wabash Bridge and tunnel to the South Hills.

Council has approved a resolution offered by Councilman Thomas J. Gallagher which would ask the City Planning Commission to investigate the plan at the earliest possible moment.

Gallagher's idea is for the city to lease the bridge and tunnel from the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railroad Company, and run an electric shuttle line from a large parking space along the Sawmill Run boulevard to the downtown Wabash terminal.

A 5-cent fare would be charged, Gallagher said.

Residents of the South Hills might drive their cars to the parking lot, and take the city's electric cars into town.

The federal government recently turned down the idea of assisting in the purchase of the bridge and tunnel as an automobile highway and a new bridge and tunnel was suggested as a substitute.

HITLER ASSAILS MONARCHISTS AMID CHEERS

By WALTER DIETZEL
International News Service.

BERLIN, Jan. 30.—The aspirations of the deposed Hohenzollern dynasty were crushed by Chancellor Adolph Hitler today in a forceful speech before the Reichstag commemorating the first anniversary of his rise to power. He said, amid rousing cheers:

"I want to protest here against the Monarchist thesis that the German people can be happy only under a kaiser.

"Under no circumstances can we recognize dynastic interests as necessary in the interest of the state.

"Despite highest respect for the merits of the monarchy and veneration for the great German emperors and kings, the final form of the state remains out of any discussion."

DENOUNCES TREATY

Coming only three days after the seventy-fifth birthday of the former Kaiser, celebrated in traditional style at his exile chateau in Doorn, Holland, the Chancellor's remarks were of greatest significance.

In addition, he violently denounced the Treaty of Versailles as a document which "perpetuated hatred," and defended the aims and achievements of his own regime, which he declared "far better expresses the will of the German people than obsolete parliamentarian democracy."

He denied there was any element of contempt for the Jews in the "racial purification" program of the third reich, and charged that those who fled from Germany during the Nazi revolution did so "more for criminal than political reasons." He said:

"The tens of thousands of foreigners visiting Germany will realize that the stories told by emigrants are lies."

The Chancellor started his address with a long and comprehensive review of the Nazi revolution from the day he took power amid chaos up to the present time.

REFUSES TO TAKE BLAME

He then launched into his denunciation of the Versailles treaty, sharply repudiating the clause written into it saddling guilt for the World War upon the shoulders of Germany.

So far as the Nazi government itself is concerned, Chancellor Hitler said, he is convinced that it is expressive of the wishes of the German people. He said:

"The new state has given far better expression of the will of the German people than obsolete parliamentarian democracy."

Although he has already achieved a United German Federation far beyond the dreams of Bismarck, Hitler indicated he had not yet finished with governmental reforms and hinted indirectly at possible abolition of the various German states. He said:

"The German tribes desired of God will remain, but the states of Germany were created by man. And they represent actions partly good and partly bad."

VILLARD WARNS OF HITLER WAR

CINCINNATI, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—Oswald Garrison Villard declared last night that Adolph Hitler's plans for Germany constitute "a deadly menace," and warned that "Hitler is planning for war." He said:

"I venture to assert that there is not a chancellory in Europe which takes the slightest stock in any word that Hitler may offer on the subject of peace. Talking with some of our best informed officials in Washington I found them unanimously of the belief that Germany would be completely armed in from three to five years, and that the army to be led by Hitler would be far more dangerous than that of the Kaiser because it will be inspired by a fanaticism which I can only liken to that of the dervishes under the Mahdi and Khalifa in the Sudan."

GERMANS HAIL HITLER RULE

BERLIN, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—Berlin teemed with the brown uniforms of the Nazis today in honor of the first anniversary of Chancellor Adolf Hitler's rise to power.

Every storm trooper, whether on duty or in his shop, deemed it a privilege to sport his colors.

Nazi swastikas and black, white and red flags, mingled with the purple and white of the churches and the black and white of Prussia helped further to aid in the colorful picture.

Hitler Aide Opens Ruthless War on Monarchists

BERLIN, Jan. 30.—A decision to "ruthlessly destroy Monarchist organizations was announced today by Dr. Herman Goering, premier of Prussia and minister without portfolio in the National government.

He wrote Dr. Wilhelm Finck, minister of interior:

"Evidence has been accumulating of unseemly monarchist propaganda, especially among the young and new organizations, have been springing up with the aim of thwarting the Nazi movement.

"I therefore propose, my dear minister, to dissolve worthwith all monarchist organizations and warn against any attempt to revive them. The same as I have crushed Communism in Prussia, so I will ruthlessly destroy all other discontented element, even if they are disguised as monarchist."

CABINET PICKED AS PARIS RIOTS

International News Service.

PARIS, Jan. 30.—Premier-designate Edouard Daladier, after many hours of anxious effort, completed formation of a new cabinet today while Communist mobs staged serious riots which completely paralyzed the streets of downtown Paris.

As expected, Daladier retained for himself the post of Foreign Minister, which he will hold jointly with the Premiership. Thus, in a determined effort to bring an end to the grave crisis facing France, Daladier ousted Joseph Paul-Boncour, veteran of many governments in which he held foreign and war portfolios.

Eugene Frot was named Minister of the Interior; Francois Petri, Minister of Finance, and Col. Jean Fabry, Minister of National Defense (war).

Hitler Asks Church To Feed Defectives

BERLIN, Jan. 30.—(INS.)—Nazi Germany will abolish her sterilization decrees if the church, which opposes them, will pay for support of the mental defectives slated for treatment, Chancellor Hitler told the Reichstag today. Hitler said:

"It is not the churches which feed the defectives, but the people. If the churches are willing to support them we will renounce sterilization."

Paris Taxi Drivers Protest Gas Prices

PARIS, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—Three hundred taxicab drivers protesting against new gasoline taxes invaded the Place de l'Opera early today. They sounded their horns furiously and tied up traffic.

ROYALIST CHIEF ALERT TO NEW FRENCH CRISIS

(Editor's Note—As a result of the scandal arising out of the collapse of the Bayonne Municipal Pawnshop and the suicide of its founder, Alexander Stavisky, the Royalist Party, once the laughing stock of France, has taken a new lease on life.

Hudson Hawley, chief of the International News Service Berlin Bureau, visited Brussels to size up the man upon whom the Royalists base their hope of a monarchical restoration—Jean Pierre Clement Marie D'Orleans-Bourbon, Duc De Guise, pretender to the vanished throne of France.)

By HUDSON HAWLEY
International News Service.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 30.—Seventy years ago a young French nobleman, serving under the family name of Capt. Orleans, was an active member of Gen. George McClellan's staff in the American Civil War.

Today, his strapping six-foot son, whose military figure bears its 60 years lightly, sits in enforced exile at the Chateau Manoir Anjou, six miles from Brussels, following every move not only in the French political crisis but keenly interested in every piece on the European checkerboard.

He is the Duc De Guise. Should the shouts of "Long live the King!" which are reverberating along the Paris boulevards be translated into reality, he would be Jean III, King of France.

With him is his son, who can claim that both his grandfathers were Union Army veterans—for the Count De Paris, father of the Duchess De Guise, also was one of McClellan's staff officers.

SPORTSMAN, AVIATOR

He has inherited his grandfather's portentous title and also much of his trim alertness. In his mid-twenties, Prince Henri is not only a keen follower of European events like his father, but is a sportsman and a licensed aviator.

The Duc did me the honor of receiving me alone for 45 minutes. It was a private conversation, there being no witness except his son, who came in toward the end. The conversation was off the record. The Duc explained he could not comment in any way on the French cabinet crisis or the trend of events in his native country. He said:

"I must even refuse to give interviews to French journalists. But I am receiving you as a friend because you know friends of mine."

The Duc, however, was eager to talk about his impressions of his father, whose formal titles were the Duc De Chartres and the Count De Paris. He took me into the hall and showed me a small painting which the Prince De Joinville, another member of the Royal House, made of both his father and father-in-law at the Battle of Gaines Mill. He said:

"They were both so enthusiastic over America that they returned there in 1890 to revisit the battlefields and renew acquaintances."

The private library where the Duc received me was full of "Americana," although the pretender himself never visited the country. He is alive, however, to everything going on in the United States and is deeply interested in the personality and policies of President Roosevelt.

France Boosts Quota On Austrian Imports

PARIS, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—France celebrated the first anniversary of Adolf Hitler's assumption of the chancellorship of Germany today by throwing its economic support to Hitler's arch enemy, Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss, of Austria.

The government signed an economic agreement giving Austria increased import quotas with the expectation of increasing them still further later.

GIMBELS TELLS THE TRUTH

LET US TELL YOU A STRAIGHT STORY

For years on end, we at Gimbels have been thinking that we were telling the truth. We have been supported in our belief by "the customs of the business," by "trade privilege," by reports from the Better Business Bureau of Pittsburgh, by our comparison shoppers and by the comments of our own customers.

We are not apologizing for the past. We have been telling "commercial truths," the kind almost everyone, everywhere has been telling. We would tell you, quite honestly, that a certain pair of curtains had been copied in design from a famous model, that the colors were pleasing, that the price was very low. Every word of this was scrupulously true. But we may have failed to say that the curtains would probably fade after a season of wear.

In the same way, we would tell you that certain dresses had materials of good quality, that the fashions were fresh, and the price very reasonable. Every word of this was scrupulously true. But we may have failed to add that the workmanship was by machine rather than by hand, and, therefore, the price was low.

We believe it is time to take a revolutionary step, in line with the beliefs of the Administration, and the opinions of intelligent people everywhere. We believe that old-fashioned "commercial truth" has no place in the New Deal. From now on, all Gimbels advertising (and every word told you by a Gimbel salesman or saleswoman) will be—the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth.

How are we going to get these whole truths for you? It is human to make mistakes, and we may make them. If so, we want them called to our attention. We will gladly and willingly print corrections. But we believe we will make few errors, for this reason: as a check on our store buyers and our advertising writers, we have employed the services of a famous outside research laboratory—to make frequent scientific tests of the materials, workmanship, and value of the goods we offer for sale. This is one of the best equipped laboratories of its kind in the United States, with a reputation of many years of service to many of the largest industrial corporations in this country. They are experts in textiles, and chosen for this reason, since 80% of our merchandise is either textiles or dependent on textile for wear. They have no human or partisan reason to give us the benefit of a doubt. They will give us impartial tests and reports.

THE INDUSTRIAL BY-PRODUCTS AND RESEARCH CORPORATION OF PHILADELPHIA

We take no credit for making a great discovery. For the whole tendency since last March has been toward frankness, laying the cards on the table, getting down to unadorned facts. You've seen it in government, in private business and in your own social contacts. Now you will see it in Gimbel advertising.

Please read Gimbels advertisements in all the Pittsburgh papers, knowing that Gimbels tells you all about the merchandise, for Gimbels tells the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth.

Mr. Axthelm

The committee in charge of the program consists of Mr. Hopton, chairman; Otto A. Zange, Col. William A. Dunlap, Elmer H. Maier, Louis H. McMahan, George G. Schmidt, Harry G. Wenzel, Dr. Laird O. Miller, Walter F. Weberg, Harry A. Little, Edmund F. Erk, George S. Oliver, John S. Herron, Frank I. Gollmar, Judge Benjamin Lencher, William Y. English, Herman F. Brandt, Capt. Edwin Kohl, William Feldner, Elmer G. Barton, George A. Ossman, Joseph N. Mackrell and Judge Ralph H. Smith.

Play Site Purchase Repeal Proposed

Repeal of an ordinance purchasing the Florence Townsend property at Chartiers avenue and Ernie street, Elliott, for playground purposes has been introduced in Council by John J. Kane.

The old Council authorized the purchase, but the court granted a preliminary injunction on a plea by neighbors that the property is too small for playground purposes.

Overheated Stove Causes Cafe Blaze

An overheated stove was blamed by firemen for a small blaze which early today broke out in the three-story brick building occupied by the Penn Cafe, 4108 Penn avenue. Damage was estimated at $10 by firemen.

LAURA WHEELER DESIGNS

Leaves in Gay Colored Scraps

Indian Summer, suggestive of autumn leaves with all their gay colors, is as lovely a quilt as the season it is named for. This patchwork quilt affords an excellent opportunity for using up scraps—an opportunity which the quiltmaker is not likely to miss. The leaves can be done in all sorts of gay scraps, each leaf being of a different material as shown. Though designed entirely for patchwork, the leaves could be done in applique if desired.

Pattern 595 comes to you with complete, simple instructions for cutting, sewing and finishing, together with yardage chart, diagram of quilt to help arrange the blocks for single and double bed size, and a diagram of block which serves as a guide for placing the patches and suggests contrasting materials.

Send 10c for this pattern to Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Needlecraft Department, 82 Eighth avenue, New York City.

Pope Urges World To Honor Eucharist

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—Pope Pius in an appeal yesterday signed by Cardinal Pacelli, secretary of state, expressed hope the entire world would celebrate at the end of March the 1900th anniversary of the institution of the Eucharist and of priesthood.

Evangeline Booth Ill, Delays World Tour

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—Evangeline Booth, commander-in-chief of the Salvation Army, was compelled by illness today to postpone her scheduled departure on a 30,000-mile world tour.

Miss Booth suffered a wrenched shoulder recently, but expects to recover sufficiently to leave within a month.

THE INSIDE STORY OF McCanns FRESH EGGS

3 doz. 89c

Every egg that goes into a McCann egg carton first passes through the hands of an expert egg man. He judges each one for size and discards small eggs or eggs with unclean shells. Then, with the aid of our candling apparatus, he looks inside each egg and actually sees whether or not it is a fresh egg. With all this care on our part, it's practically impossible to get anything less than a perfect egg at McCanns. Start today to enjoy this superlative quality. Eggs are fairly priced at McCanns—always.

Shellwhite Eggs.....3 doz. $1
All white shells. Mildly flavored.

Dutchy Limburger

CHEESE

a McCann quality brand

lb. 25c

If you like Limburger, by all means try Dutchy. It's simply great. If you think you don't like Limburger, be sport enough to sample Dutchy. You'll be converted by its fine flavor.

Dixie Cream Cheese....pkg. 5c
Pasteurized cheese for sandwich fillings and salads. Three-ounce packages.

Pork Sausage

that doesn't shrivel to nothing when it's cooked

lb. 21c

Fresh, lean government inspected pork is ground with pure spices when we make sausage here at McCanns. No scraps or pork that's practically all fat is used. You can taste the difference as well as see the difference when the sausage is cooked.

McCanns Scrapple...2 lbs. 19c
A corn meal mush product made rich with meat tidbits. Slice and fry until brown.

South American

COFFEE

makes a "strong" cup

3-lb. pkg. 69c

single pounds, 25c

Don't use more coffee because you like strong coffee. Buy "South American." It's a blend that makes a strong, satisfying cup of coffee without a trace of bitterness. Roasted at McCanns every day. Always fresh.

Black Assam Tea.....lb. 45c
If you like tea with a deep, satisfying flavor drink Black Assam.

Have a Boston

CREAM PIE

for dessert. Chocolate or Vanilla

ea. 29c

In case you don't know, a Boston Cream Pie is a thick layer of cake split and filled with custard. They're very good, indeed, as McCanns bakers make them. Cut six portions.

Assorted Cookies...2 doz. 25c
Big round ones. All the favorites, including raisin-filled, oatmeal, chocolate, cocoanut and lemon.

Things I Never Knew 'Til Now

(Thanks to Gordon Sinclair, author of "Cannibal Quest" and "Devil's Island")

That in Bali, the Coney Island of the South Seas, a man has to die in the order he is born or he is scallioning his kin. If you, frinstance as the oldest son, die first, you're a nice guy. But if your younger brothers pop off before you do—they keep them around the house wrapped in leaves until you die.

That in New Guinea it is against the law to wear clothes.

That in Bangkok a man changes his name with each new son. (After the 17th son, however, papa resumes his original handle.)

That in Bali there are seven lovely women to every male. They have no income tax, divorce is unknown and there's no army or navy.

That at the highlands of the mighty Irriwady, the women have four to six husbands each. Generally the same family of brothers share the same bride and kiddies. The oldest brother is 'papa."

That in Borneo a husband can't cut his own hair without his frau's consent. That is where elephants fear only bridges and it is where no woman may marry until she has had at least two children.

That in Burma wives wear brass neckbands weighing 60 pounds and they are chained at home when visiting tribesmen come to town.

That in Turkestan it is a crime to be a bachelor, and you or I or any casual prowler is given three days after arrival in which to buy or borrow a bride. You'll find them auctioned off in the milk market every day. The cash value of a plump wench is now 12 Al Smith dollars.

That in Mandalay there is no hotel or restaurant and there never was, and there are no flyin' fishes and there never were. And there were no temple bells. And the sun doesn't come up like thunder out of China 'cross the bay because there is no bay, but if there was —Siam would be across it, not China.

That the loneliest man in the world is Dr. Gordon Sinclair (no relation to the author of these fascinating items) who is public health chieftain for Tibet with h'quarters at Lassa. One of his early jobs was showing natives how to carve up human bodies and feed them to the mountain birds in such a way that nothing would be left—not even the bones. (Ugh!)

That there is no penitentiary of any kind on the notorious "Devil's Island" and never was. But there are 12 convict camps in French Guinea of which the island is a part and more convicts escape from these camps than from any other prison on earth, but they perish in the jungles.

That three hours west from North Burma (by air) takes you to a country where men often have three wives. (Good bye!)

That in Bangkok, capital of Siam, there are thousands of tiny houses set on stilts out in the backyards. They are like doll houses and are supposed to shelter the ghosts of departed kin. (Who's afraid?)

That over there more people are married who have no choice whatever in the selection of their mates. There is no romance as in the movies. They do not go in for "sex"—just kiddies.

That in S. India there are 18 million people to whom crime is a religion. (Theft, however, is more serious than murder.)

That in the Schwe (pronounced Sway) Dagon Padoga in Rangoon, biggest and most beautiful on earth, are great show cases full of gifts to the gods by the pious Buddhists. The gifts range from native corsets, slightly used false teeth and wigs to five scrapbooks of columns by W. W.

That Indian picture censors cut out all fight scenes because it is thought unwise to show any white man ever being licked.

That in Burma 5,000 licensed story tellers sit in the shade and weave mystic tales of fantasy and conquest. All for a nickel! Women demand love stories and get them—unexpurgated, too!

That you can find beauty parlors, taxi stands, night clubs, charity balls and platinum blondes in Borneo—but no wild men!

That nobody can sleep in the same room with a cobra. If a cobra crawls in while you sleep, it'll wake you up. (No kiddin'?)

That before you're allowed to enter New Guinea the gov't makes you post a bond of $250. When Sinclair asked how come, they told him: "That's to bury you with—if the search party finds your body."

That when Hellinger was in Bali—they made a big fuss and wanted to entertain him with beautiful Bali goona-goona girlies, who were all set to wiggle and flip their hips and etcetra—but the dope stayed in his room "blue," and wanted to be home in N. Y.!

That the main gland of a lion is worth more than the lion!

And that Gordon Sinclair, who will soon globe-trot again —has promised to mail similar columns from every port—for which thanks, thanx and thanques.

GUILD PLAY

Nixon's Play Repast for Epicures

By GEORGE SEIBEL

It was as if a bevy of Watteau's happy shepherd lads and lassies had tripped from Versailles or Fontainebleu to the Nixon Theater, thrumming their lutes to tunes of Lully and Rameau, when the Guiterman- Langner adaptation of Moliere's comedy, "The School for Husbands," was presented last night to an audience that glowed with pleasure while the chill winds blustered outside.

Mr. Seibel

Lawrence Langner and Arthur Guiterman have done something that required the most delicate touch and done it with exquisite finesse. They have twined a farce with ballet and concert to make a perfect entertainment for epicures of stage art. The first word that comes to you as you try to describe it is "graceful," and the last word as you try to recall it is "haunting."

Osgood Perkins and June Walker, in the two principal roles, catch the spirit of the divertissement perfectly. Not that Osgood Perkins is the Sganarelle of Moliere, who must have evoked loud and furious laughter. Perkins is a sardonic Sganarelle, too clever rather than too stupid. And June Walker as Isabelle also is very worldly wise despite her strict guardian. But the pair present a sketch of deft intrigue which would do infinite credit to the amusing bipeds and quadrupeds of Lafontaine, who are so much like Moliere's human beings.

'THE FORCED MARRIAGE'

In order to inject the musical comedy spirit into the rollicking farce, Langer and Guiterman have adapted the Moliere ballet of "The Forced Marriage" as an interlude, "The Dream of Sganarelle." This gives glorious opportunities to Charles Weidman and Doris Humphreys for quaint and poetic dances and for some ballads and dialogues that are extremely appealing.

Lewis Martin and John Cherry, as Solomon and Socrates, give the most hilarious of all these episodes. As they supply Sganarelle with matrimonial advice from threadbare proverbs, the chuckles of the audience rise to shouts.

But on the whole this performance is not one of the sort that provokes guffaws. It appeals to the refined taste—it is not beer, it is not whisky, it is champagne. It sparkles and scintillates—it reproduces something of the playful romantic mood of the closing scene of "The Merchant of Venice."

MARIONETTES IN BISQUE

Take two of the players who made the happiest impression—Flora Le Breton as Lisette and James Jolley as Ergaste—they sing and dance and act like marionettes of bisque, brought to life by some alchemy of lighting and direction. Flora Le Breton is so arch and coy, with her flaxen curls and roving eye, that she runs June Walker a close race for first honors. Stuart Casey as Ariste has a voice and air of old romance —when gay and gallant courtiers danced the minuet while Voltaire was firing up the volcano on which they capered.

It is all exquisitely done—the tripping verses of Arthur Guiterman, read with perfect diction by Osgood Perkins and the rest; the acute theatric sense of Lawrence Langner, welding Moliere's plot to modern taste; the settings and costumes by Lee Simonson, recreating the summer solstice of Le Roi Soleil. Some of the lyrics are highly amusing and dainty, and then there is that gem-like chansonette "Au Clair de la Lune." It made us forget this bleak business century, and the weather, and the cheap slapdash of circus clowns, to fill the Nixon Theater with the fragrance and bloom of a gallant and precious world, the world of Lully and Watteau and Moliere.

California Beauties In Variety Bill

"Jazz Babies," featuring the Carroll Sisters, California beauty contest winners, is the burlesque current in the Variety. They are singers and dancers, whose skits are called "Miss Hollywood and Miss Southern California," and "Western Beauties." The show is in 35 episodes. Clyde Bates and Jack Hunt are the featured fun-makers. Willie Gordon also is prominent. Featured comedy bits are "Nite Court," with Bates and Hunt in the principal roles and "The Taster." Featured musical sketches are "Romance," with Helen Rodgers, prima donna, and "The Old Spinning Wheel," with Billy Elliott, tenor, in the lead. "Zuleki" and Gladys Fox are Oriental dancers. Nararro Hallo, Georgia Clark, Artie Brooks and the dance team of Jervis and Jervis also have principal parts.

Singing Comedienne

Rae Samuels, singing comedienne, heading her own company, will be seen in "Cocktail Hour" on the Pitt stage, opening Friday.

Difference in Time Proves Painful

After a week-end spent puttering around his ranch tending plants and fixing up the house, Charlie Ruggles made his appearance on Paramount's "Six of a Kind" set with a decided limp.

"What happened, Charlie?" Mary Boland asked him.

"Just a slight discrepancy in time," Charlie explained. "I tried to come down a ladder just two minutes after it was taken away."

First Film Appearance Since Marriage

Margaret Livingston (Mrs. Paul Whiteman, made her first appearance before the camera since her marriage to the famous orchestra leader in "The Social Register," which is shortly to be released by Columbia.

Young Player Given Time To Attend College

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 30.—Jeon Rouverol, 17, has signed a film contract that, for unusual clauses, rivals the famous "no-kissing" agreement between Evelyn Venable and Paramount.

Under the terms of her compact with Charles Rogers, the youthful actress shall be allowed six months off in 1934 and a like period in 1935 to attend Stanford University.

But, stranger still, she also shall not be required to live in Hollywood.

The last clause was put in at the suggestion of her mother, Aurania Rouverol, the playwright, who says:

"I don't want Jean to become too sophisticated."

Several months ago, when Jean got her first big chance in "Eight in a Boat" and suffered a nervous collapse, her mother promptly withdrew her from the cast, and whisked the young actress away to New York for a stage play.

In the Paramount commissary the other day, a group were discussing a player at a nearby table.

"You couldn't mistake him for anything else but an actor, could you?" someone cracked.

"No, except on the screen," was the withering reply.

The gossips out here are still trying to find out the lowdown on the separation of Kay Francis and Kenneth McKenna, but Kay still baffles them. The Warner Brothers studio has received requests for 22 interviews with the star since her return from the East. Kay has turned them all down.

You never see him on the screen, but Warren Williams' stand-in is quite a character. His name, oddly enough, is William Warren Dearborn, and he is a chiropractor with movie ambitions. Before his present assignment, Dearborn stood in on the same lot for William Powell.

Gary Cooper is excited, or as nearly excited as the lanky star ever gets, over a thoroughbred horse that he has just received as a gift from Harry Balfe, grandfather of Sandra Shaw. Mr. Balfe breeds fine horses on a ranch near Fresno. The animal he gave Gary is one of the finest in his stables.

Carl Brisson, Paramount's new foreign star, has not yet flashed his fine imported car before Hollywood's eyes. The machine was damaged in being unloaded at the harbor and is not out of the repair shop yet. Meanwhile, the star arrived at the Paramount studio the other day sitting in the rumble seat of a small coupe with a chauffeur riding in front.

* * *

When May Robson left on a personal appearance tour, her chief concern was a 15-year-old canary. She finally placed it in the care of an aviary here . . . Alice Fay has bought a chow puppy to replace the one, a gift from Rudy Vallee, that was killed the other day . . . Tired from working day and night on two pictures, George Raft is an influenza victim, and is not evpected back to the studio for several days.

Composer Set For Film

Werner Richard Heymann, composer of the music of "Congress Dances," who wrote the scores for several Max Reinhardt productions, has arrived from Europe to write the music for "Gypsy Melody" production for Fox.

Heymann, who turned from the composition of symphonies that were played by the Berlin Philharmonic, to more popular tunes of the type made popular in the cabaret of Der Grosses Schauspielhaus in Berlin, has written two operettas, one of which, "Florestan I, Prince of Monaco," is now running in Paris, and the other, "Kiki," will be produced there shortly.

The Charell film, which will star Charles Boyer, French stage and screen star, will have a Hungarian-gypsy background with music native to that country.

Bing Crosby Is Cast As Deckhand

Bing Crosby, who doesn't want to be what he calls a "romantic young leading man" finally gets his wish. In "We're Not Dressing," his next Paramount musical, Crosby is cast as a lowly deckhand aboard a palatial yacht, and gets into innumerable scrapes. Carole Lombard, George Burns and Gracie Allen and Ethel Merman also are in the cast of the film-musical, which Norman Taurog is to direct.

Lines in your face come from jangled nerves

Jangled nerves can make you look older than you are. And that's bad news for any woman —or man either.

Look in the mirror today. See if you already have any of those telltale wrinkles that come from nervousness—and, if you have, do something about it.

Get enough sleep—fresh air—recreation—and make Camels your cigarette.

For, remember, you can smoke as many Camels as you want. Their costlier tobaccos never jangle your nerves.

COSTLIER TOBACCOS

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS than any other popular brand of cigarettes!

TEST No. 15

Take a small rubber band—not more than two inches in length. Place one loop over your little finger . . . Then pull it across the back of your hand, well below your knuckles and catch the other loop on your thumb. When you are ready to perform the test, the hand is in the position indicated in the drawing. Now, without touching your hand to your body, without help from the other hand, work off the rubber band. Average time is 10 seconds.

Shepard Barclay (Camel smoker), famous bridge expert, completed the test in 1½ seconds.

All in a Day

By Mark Hellinger

Strictly Confidential.

IT CAME to pass, believe it or not, in a small New England town.

For almost 30 years Lucius courted Millie.

But his courtship was a strange one.

If Lucius had ever proposed, no one ever knew about it; if he had ever attempted to make love to Millie, no one knew about that, either.

Every Tuesday and Friday evening, promptly at 7:30, Lucius would appear at Millie's home.

He would march into the front parlor, deposit his bulk in the Morris chair in the corner, sit there until 10'clock—and then depart.

That went on, Winter and Summer, Spring and Fall, all through those thirty long years.

Lucius arrived, Lucius sat in the Morris chair—and Lucius went home.

But Lucius never mentioned a single word about the holy state of matrimony . . .

After Millie passed her 45th birthday, she began to grow a trifle impatient.

She decided to take a trip to New York, and she told Lucius of her intentions.

Lucius merely sighed, and said nothing.

So Millie went away—and Millie came back—and Lucius resumed his twice-weekly sittings in the old Morris chair.

The man hadn't changed at all—but, sadly enough, the woman had.

She had found herself a new beau!

She had met him on the train coming back, and he had been dropping over to see her during week-ends.

In due time her new beau proposed—and was promptly accepted.

There was but one difficulty: Lucius had to be told about the situation.

Millie didn't know how to go about it, but Lucius saved her the trouble.

He heard the gossip in the village, and he raced over to her home.

"Is it true, Millie?" he asked. "Is it true you're aimin' to marry this man they tell about?"

Millie felt badly.

After all, this was a friendship that had gone on for 30 years.

"Yes, Lucius," she replied sadly, "I'm gettin' married. I couldn't wait no longer."

Lucius struggled with his voice, and the words came with difficulty.

"Listen, Millie. I've been comin' here for a purty long time. And in 30 years, Millie, a feller gits right fond of things."

Millie nodded comprehendingly; she felt sorry for the man.

"And so I was wonderin'," he went on, "seein' as how you're gittin' married and won't need it now—maybe you'd let me have that Morris chair I've got so attached to." . . .

NUDIST gags are getting a little tiresome.

But Jack Benny has one more that might be related.

He tells of a meeting of a Board of Directors in a Nudist Colony.

The chairman rose and began his speech in this fashion:

"Uncostumed as I am to public speaking—" . . .

A NEW YORK reporter, one of the ablest of the craft, decided some months ago that he was drinking too much.

He made up his mind to reform, took what money he had, quit his job, and headed for the West.

He was going out to the Great American Desert, where men get close to the bosom of nature and the air is the cleanser of the soul.

He was going to build himself into a new man; a strong, silent man who was through with liquor for all time.

For several months, nothing was heard of the ex-reporter who had made such a noble resolve.

Then, one day last week, the story drifted back.

Away out on the desert, our hero had fallen into trouble.

It seems that, in a small town, the inhabitants heard of a strange, gaunt figure who was living as a hermit some miles out.

He hadn't bothered to shave, and they did say that he was an Evil Spirit, an Ogre, a Winchell—and that he frightened little children.

So a posse was finally organized to get to the bottom of the reports.

Half the night the posse rode—until finally, off in the distance, they discerned a pinprick of light.

Heading toward it, they crept slowly up to the fire.

There, in the mouth of a small cave, they saw two men.

One was a Piute Indian in a dirty blanket—and the other was the reporter who went West to cleanse his soul.

Both were making alcohol out of cactus, and drinking it as fast as it dropped from the still!

"Fashions of 1934," a comedy, with William Powell, Bette Davis, Frank McHugh and Veree Teasdale in featured roles will have a gala premiere in the Stanley Thursday night. There will be a fashion show on the stage.

Edward G. Robinson, Genevieve Tobin, Glenda Farrell and Emma Dunn have leading roles in "Dark Hazard," coming to the Warner screen Friday. Robinson plays the gambler, who quits the game to marry Miss Tobin, but it doesn't turn out so good.

* * *

"Three Cornered Moon," with Richard Arlen, Claudette Colbert, Mary Boland, Joan Marsh, Lyda Roberti, Wallace Ford and Hardie Albright in the cast, opens Friday in the Davis.

Two Players Chosen For Lloyd Film

George Barbier, stage and screen character comedian, seen in many of the Chevalier productions, has been selected by Harold Lloyd to portray the part of "Mayo" in the comedian's forthcoming "The Cat's Paw," by Clarence Budington Kelland. Barbier is the only member of the east besides Una Merkel so far selected for the production which Fox will release.

Odds and Ends
STORE HOURS: 9 TO 5:30

Good storekeeping requires good stock-keeping—that is why we take stock twice yearly. It is natural for odds and ends to accumulate . . . but the wise merchant sacrifices this merchandise, after Inventory, regardless of loss. While this merchandise is seasonable and offers real bargains to those who can use it . . . it is of little value to us because it represents odds and ends and broken assortments.

Patricia Pitt's Sprightly Comment on Pittsburgh Society Happenings

In Mayfair
—With—
Patricia Pitt

Not so many denizens of the social world braved our zero weather last night to attend the Nixon as usual, but many of the regular Theater Guild subscribers were present in spite of it to see Moliere's delightful "School for Husbands."

Mrs. W. Terrell Johnson and Mrs. William Maclay Hall were among the first arrivals. Mrs. Johnson was wearing a gown of ashes of roses crepe combined with deeper rose, and like most of the season's evening dresses, it had brief, cape sleeves. Mrs. Kirkland W. Todd's costume was of black velvet with a wrap of black velvet furred with chinchilla.

Stately Mrs. Harry L. Mitchell was with her daughter, Mrs. James L. de Vou, Jr., the former Caroline Mitchell. Mrs. Mitchell, in black velvet, wore a long evening coat having a scarf collar of ermine finished with ermine tails, and Caroline also wore black velvet.

Mrs. George Singer Ebbert was there, too, in black, and Maj. and Mrs. Reginald Macdonald and the John W. Lawrences. Mrs. Wilmer M. Jacoby's gown was of very pale green transparent velvet. Mrs. Herbert DuPuy I noticed and Madeline McClintock.

Colorful Gowns Worn By First-Nighters

Patricia Witherow, in red with a green velvet wrap, was with her mother, Mrs. David Witherow, who wore citron velvet. Others were included Mrs. T. Clifton Mains, the David McCargos, Mrs. T. M. Jones, III, in garnet crepe; Genevieve Bell, up from Sewickley, in emerald green rough crepe; and Clodagh McCune, in black crepe with the deep V-decolletage banded with white fur.

Mrs. B. F. Jones III chose pansy purple rough crepe for her gown, which was made with a fitted, long-sleeved jacket having a slight peplum effect. Attractive Rosemary Casey wore red velvet with two curled plumes of red instead of flowers at the front neckline. Her sister, Mrs. George L. Craig, Jr., was chatting with friends during intermissions, wearing black with a stunning black velvet coat having a deep cape collar of ermine.

A skirt of black satin with a bodice of orange crepe fashioned the costume of Mrs. James Edward Lewis.

Others I noticed were Mrs. A. P. Brill and Mrs. John W. Ritchie, in black crepe with a full-length evening coat of black velvet, unfurred.

Colonial Dames' Parade, Presidential Ball Today

At last the day of our two big late January events has arrived—the day of the Colonial Dames' parade of heirloom fashions and the day of the Presidential Ball.

And many of the smart set will hurry from the Colonial Dames' parade and tea in the Twentieth Century Club this afternoon to their homes to dine, rest and dress for the ball tonight in the Hotel William Penn.

Many of the men of the smart set will be on the floor committee, headed by B. F. Jones III. Among those will be Norman Allderdice, James M. Bovard, Henry Clay Bughman, Jr., Henry Chalfant, Jr., Blair Childs, Harmar D. Denny, Jr., James O. Flower, Frederick Gwinner III, Alexander H. Hunter, John S. Laughlin, Robert H. McClintic, Wilfred Murtland, Henry Oliver, Jr., Thomas E. Rhodes, W. C. Robinson, Jr., and Ledlie W. Young.

Among those on the general committee for the ball are Mrs. Oliver J. Haller, Howard Heinz, the James F. Hillmans, A. L. Humphreys, Roy A. Hunt, the T. M. Joneses III, Mrs. William B. Klee, David L. Lawrence, Mrs. John McK. Lazear, James H. Lockhart, Mrs. George H. Love and Howard Hale McClintic.

Entertainment Different In Each Room at Ball

Each of the rooms at the Presidential Ball are to feature a different entertainment, orchestra and decorative scheme, and in the cardinal room there will be an extra cover charge.

The cardinal room is to portray "echoes of Paris," the echoes evident only in silhouettes of Paris night life and street scenes around the walls and a French cafe.

In the main ballroom the United States Army Band will play, followed by the Earl Carroll floor show. Boxes will be placed on the balcony and chairs around the lower floor. In the urban room will be another orchestra and acts of entertainment and buffet service will be had in the blue room, Adonis room, and in the silver room will be bar service, also in the new Hurdle and Halter room. President Roosevelt's talk will be broadcast at 11:32 o'clock, after which the Army Band will broadcast.

Miss Bessie Watzman To Marry in March

Announcement was made at a dinner Sunday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Watzman, of Chislett street, of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Bessie Watzman, to Morris Melman, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Melman, of Brookline boulevard. The marriage will take place in March.

Husbands, Juniors To Be Guests At Club

The next meeting of the Sheraden Woman's Club is designated as "an evening with our husbands and the junior section" and is set for February 9. The program will be in charge of the drama and music committees with the social committee members acting as hostesses.

Dr. Herbert Spencer, of the Frick Training School, addressed Friday's meeting of the club, the program also including vocal solos by Mrs. T. C. Pitzer, accompanied by Mrs. John T. Clark.

Oakmont Community Plans Presidential Ball

The various civic organizations of Oakmont, Verona, Rosedale and Penn Township will combine to hold a community ball on the President's birthday, tonight, in the Willows, Oakmont. Proceeds will be used for the same purpose as all the other Presidential balls being given tomorrow throughout the country, the benefit of the Warm Springs Foundation. The dance will be informal and there will be cards.

First Dance of Year By Basketball Team

The National Union basketball team will give its first dance of the new year on Friday evening, February 9, in the National Union Fire Insurance Company Building, University Place.

Marianne Genet Program for Musicale

Miss Marianne Genet, Pittsburgh composer, will present a somewhat unusual program at the Woman's City Club musicale luncheon tomorrow.

The program comprises several Oriental numbers composed by Miss Genet and the soloists will appear in costume. Oriental instruments to be used were collected in the Orient by Miss Edith Bane, musician and world traveler.

The soloists are Miss Sara Jamison Logan, contralto; Charlotte Shallenberger Mulloy, soprano, and Edward Dunbar, tenor. The last two will sing Miss Genet's popular "Caravan Suite," which was given at the last convention of the League of American Pen Women in Washington when the audience included 17 ambassadors and a representative from all the other embassies.

The instruments, Oriental drums, tambourine and gong, used for sound effects, will be played by Mrs. Taylor Allderdice, Miss Bane and Mrs. Florence Gretton Eckhardt. Miss Genet will accompany at the piano and will also give a talk on Oriental music.

Miss Dorothy Walsh and her sister, Mrs. Daniel O'Conner, daughters of P. J. Walsh, of Baum boulevard, returned Wednesday on the SS. Kungsholm from a cruise of the West Indies and South America. They visited Barbados, Trinidad, Venezuela, Curacas, Panama, Jamaica, Haiti and Nassau.

Twentieth Century Club Hears Talk on Humor By Max Eastman

By MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

In his talk on "Why We Laugh Like Human Beings" before the Twentieth Century Club yesterday morning, Max Eastman said humor is a wonderful invention of nature to offset pathos and that without it people become either excessively irritable or excessively religious. Laughter is always caused by a disappointment arrived at when the comic sense is in a play mood, he stated, adding that humor is a play substitute for pain.

He quoted definitions of the comic as "some defect or ugliness which does not bring pain" and "a strained expectation which comes to nothing" and said that in every joke there is an element which would cause tears if we were serious.

Mr. Eastman spoke of the two classes of theorists, the first that believes all laughter is essentially egotistical, derisive and mean, and the second that holds it to be genial, amiable and joyful. Dogs laugh with their tails, he said, in commenting on the state of play of all young animals.

There are two kinds of jokes—the practical and the poetic—and every joke is composed of a disappointment and a satisfaction brought together. Americans think the English can not see a joke, that they are ungenerous about appreciating the poetic flavor, when as a matter of fact they enjoy it longer. Puns, the speaker said, are a vapid and vacuous form of wit because when someone talks no one is listening to his words but to what is being said and the listener must momentarily stop listening to become conscious of the pun. It is like explaining a joke; one has to become serious in order to listen to the explanation. Nothing is so stale as a stale joke, he summed up.

Tube City Group Plans Formal Dance

Advance reservations indicate a large out-of-town attendance at the annual formal dance to be given Thursday by the McKeesport Section, National Council of Jewish Juniors.

Miss Ruth Sieff is general chairman for the affair, which is to take place in the Penn-McKee Hotel. Mrs. Freda Cowan Kimmelman is co-chairman and chairmen of committees are Miss Dorothy Zeiger, reservations; Miss Nathlyn Molans, printing, and Miss Celia Reisberg, publicity. Aides include Miss Hulda Able, Miss Hannah Berger, Miss Selma Berger, Miss Betty Feldman, Miss Rose Fisher, Miss Birdie Kline, Miss Birdie Rosenberg, Miss Evelyn Stark, Miss Elsie Weiss and Miss Rosabel Wingert.

University Women To Hear Russian Music

Husbands and friends have been invited to the premier performance of "Modern Russian Music" to be presented by Harvey Gaul, Post-Gazette music critic, before the American Association of University Women this evening in the Woman's City Club.

The soloists are Mrs. Benjamin H. Williams, soprano; Barbara Wilman, contralto; Michael Dolan, tenor; Mark Meyer, violinist, and Janet Spaugh, accompanist.

Miss Margaret McElderry is chairman of hospitality for the evening and her aides are Miss Helen Long, Miss Helen Singleton and Miss Hilda Forsberg.

Miss Rose W. Mangus Weds Walter W. Fath

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Willebrand, of Ebensburg, Pa., make known the marriage of their daughter, Miss Rose W. Mangus, to Walter W. Fath, son of John V. Fath, of Western avenue, North Side. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Miller, brother-in-law and sister of the bridegroom, were the only attendants.

The ceremony took place Tuesday morning, January 16, in St. Joseph's Church, North Side. After a trip in the East, Mr. and Mrs. Fath will be at home in Perry highway, Zelienople, Pa. At present they are in Atlantic City.

Sewickley Valley Women Hear U. S. World Policy

Felix Morley, editor of the Washington Post, who was for three years correspondent for the Baltimore Sun at Geneva, termed President Roosevelt's "policy of the good neighbor" inadequate when he addressed the Woman's Club of Sewickley Valley yesterday on "Our New International Policy." To be a good neighbor necessitates a positive attitude of co-operation as well as a negative attitude of restraint, no one would consider a man a good neighbor in his home town if he merely refrained from assaulting other [illegible] showed no disposition to talk with them for the benefit of all, he said.

The speaker characterized as "a curious exposition of the neighborly attitude," the administration's intention to construct the world's most powerful armada, although, he said the position of the United States in the world today may justify its naval building program.

The most striking aspect of the Roosevelt foreign policy, Mr. Morley said, lies in its tacit contradiction of the isolationist doctrine and there is indication that [illegible] domestic problems [illegible] steps will be taken by the administration to co-operate more actively with other nations.

A SILK SPRING SUIT AND A SOMBRERO

By PRUNELLA WOOD

This sombrero is navy Toyo banded and faced with white grosgrain.

This is the sort of ensemble which is indispensable in the Spring wardrobe, whether its owner follows the Southern trek or stays put within the Northern weather ranges. It is Milana crepe, navy with white dots for the coat, and reversed for the frock, which has short sleeves and an Ascot clipped with rhinestones. Note the pleated sleeve tops on the coat, and the swank link buttons at the slim waistline.

SILK SUITS that can be worn under a fur coat, or on the streets when the weather turns warm, are coming along nicely now with but few new tricks to accent their perennial popularity.

They are going South in droves for a fling at this resort or that, confident of a second debut up North later on. They offer just the costume to wear to the Southern race-track on a windy day, beneath a woollen top coat, just the outfit that appeals when a flight to Havana or Nassau is in the wind from Florida winter headquarters, and a general all-around choice for forays into resort shops between bathing and afternoon divertisements.

THE MODEL sketched shows Old Faithful, the polka dot, in a 1934 version. A silk tweed in gray, beige, horizon blue or sage green would be just as timely, and a short, well-fitted Cardigan cut coat just as fashionable as the Redingote effect of the polka dotted model.

Sheer woollen, soft and delicate, makes many suits in this genre called tailored silk.

It is the nun's veiling sort of fabric, the woollen sheer that has a few silk threads, or that is woven to resemble linen which is used for models.

ALWAYS A great play is made of color contrast in these suits, to divorce them from looking too much like a two-piece silk frock. A dark blouse with a lighter coat and skirt still holds good. A jacket and weskit of plaid worn over a plain color skirt is new, and duplicate prints, dark or light, and light on dark, used for coat and frock, are legion in their designs.

HOME-MAKING :-: Glances Into the Realms of Domesticity and Romance :-: By MARION BRUNOT

Back-to-Home Movement Inclination of Today

Are we in an era of going back to home-making?

Have those lively, never-to-be-forgotten gad-about twenties of this century worn themselves out on the night club floors to the sound of jazz songs, and are we settling down for a snooze by the open fire and in full view of the spatter-work motto?

There is a trend in this direction, that is certain.

Many things the uppish miss used to say were too old fogey for any use, have the best places today. Victorian furnishings are out of the attic and lumbering into prominent corners. Fat pin cushions were given out in quantities at Christmas. The women in the southern resorts are all knitting . . . Fingers that "rolled their own" and held Martinis in 1929, are now embroidering doilies.

And brides are doing their own work.

Answering their own door bells, like it is said Abraham Lincoln did in the White House, polishing their own silver, and making melody such as they never heard at any roadhouse out of the sound emanating from the pots, pans and kettles of their kitchen cupboards.

Women's clothes are assuming a home silhouette. Materials creep over the floors, mouselike. Ruffles and beads decorate bodices. High puffed and ornamental sleeves are everywhere.

TWO WIVES

There are plenty of people who won't agree with what I am saying.

"Let the dead past bury its dead," they will shriek.

They will wisecrack, and say: "Home is a place to hang your hat."

And grinning still wider add that it also is a place to go when nothing better is in the offing.

And they will grow serious and bang off a half a thousand words on what mechanical devices have done for the housewife. She has had too easy a time outside the four walls of home to go back to her former imprisonment.

But I come right back at them, and say I know a bride who does her own washing, and uses elbow grease. Also I know a young married woman whose family never even felt the outside crust of the hard times, who goes about asking her men folk to let her have their old shirts. They make such good dust cloths.

Both of these wives were flappers long enough after Lew Fields sang his famous song. Both were never-me-care, never-at-home when they passed through the deb age.

SPACE CONQUERED

And so I repeat, why this back-to-home movement?

Is it that we all have suffered during the period just past, and that we want more than anything else the security, concrete as it may be, of a roof? Maybe we have become timid, and we like to look outside, and yet have a glass between us and other people. Or have we joined in chanting home-loving hearts are happiest?

The edge may be off the farplaces, anyway. Admiral Byrd may never be at home. Neither is Mr. Ripley. Yet we are envious of neither, as we might have been a while back. The movies and the radio have conquered space for us. They can do our traveling. It is more original for a girl of today to know how to cut a cherry pie and put it in a pan, than it is for her to have crossed the Gobi Desert.

Or is it one of our fads? We are people who take a thing up, and wear it threadbare, and then forget about it. And it may be like this, with going back home.

What do you think about it? Let us hear.

The foreclosed mortgage awoke forebodings of much discomfiture.

Or is it that something bigger and more vital is developing in the hearts of our people?

Good Clothes Are an Inborn Feminine Need, Says Fay King

By FAY KING

The women of Russia are going to begin to wear more attractive clothes again. That is fine.

It is an inborn feminine trait for women to wish to look their best. To feel that they do has much to do with their peace of mind and disposition.

Clothes need not be expensive, but they need that bit of becoming color and line that brings out the wearer's best personality.

In this country all our women have style. They do not resent the fashionable world, but are inspired by it, and look as well on a less expensive scale.

Clothes permit that expression of personal taste which is a delight to the individual. And it is a joy to see how well our women look.

Given in Marriage -:- A Sequel to Heart of a Wife

By ADELE GARRISON

Avis Fears Being Locked in Her Room

I flayed myself that the genuine pity I felt for Avis Arlen should be tinged with irritation at her outburst of sobbing, but I had no time to discipline my reactions; so I simply tightened around her the arm upon which she had leaned so heavily as in ascending the stairs, and hailed, half-carried her along the corridor to my room. There I deposited her upon the bed where she had lain awake watching me, and from which she had stolen away to interrupt my interview with Noel.

"I'll get Mrs. Bickett," I said, patting her shoulder in what I felt was an awkward and futile attempt at consolation.

She started up and clutched at my hand tightly.

"You're not going to lock me in, as Noel said!" she pleaded, as she had done when we left the study, where Noel had issued that untimatum.

"Not if you give me your solemn promise to remain right here until I return," I told her, knowing well that I would not be out of sight of my door during the time I should be absent from her.

"I'll promise anything," she gasped, "if you only won't lock me in." I realized that she was in the grip of claustrophobia, something which I might have expected from a person so neurotic as she is.

MENTAL UNEASINESS

"I'll leave the door wide open," I told her, "and you will be able to make me hear you at any second. I'm not going to be gone a minute."

"All right," she gasped, and changed her dry sobs to copious weeping. I made no further attempt to console her, but hurried across the hall to the nursery. I tapped lightly, and Katherine came promptly to the door.

"Is anything wrong?" she asked a bit tensely. "I heard Mary go out a little while ago."

"Nothing is seriously wrong with anybody physically," I told her with a wry smile, "but the mental and spiritual atmosphere is charged a bit heavily. I wish that you would come over and give Avis a sedative. She needs some rest badly."

"And so do you, I warrant," she retorted shrewdly. "I'll be right over. Baby Faith is sound asleep, and I'm sure she won't waken for hours. But the suite here must not be left alone long."

"Of course not," I agreed. "I'm going to Lillian's room now. She'll come and mount guard wherever you say, in the nursery, or in my room over Avis. I have to go back to my study where Noel and Mary are waiting for me, and there must be somebody on guard over Avis. She must not come out of that room again tonight."

QUICK UNDERSTANDING

"Sounds as if there'd been a lively [illegible]y at the zoo," Katherine commented shrewdly. "But I'll be right over. Run along and serve your papers on Lillian. I'm already on the job."

"I know that," I assured her earnestly, and went on down the hall to Lillian's room, to find her awake and reading.

"Guess the general excitement is getting me, too," she said with a gamin grin, as I came in. "I couldn't sleep, no matter what I tried."

"I'm glad you couldn't, I said, "for I need you," and I explained my errand, as I had done to Katherine.

"So the cobra wriggled out of the basket when your back was turned," she said, with quick understanding of what I had omitted in my story. "But don't you worry any more. I won't have to turn my back until morning, and I'll be on the job from now on." Then I hurried back to my room, where I found Katherine bathing Avis' face and hands with cool water.

"Help me get her undressed," she said as I entered. Together we undressed the girl and put her again into her night clothing. Katherine gave her a sedative, then looked at me inquiringly.

"Now what?" she asked. "She doesn't need professional services any longer; but I can stay here with her if you want to go."

But Avis put out a frantic, clutching hand.

"Don't go, Mrs. Graham," she gasped. "I must ask you something."

-:- Correct Manners -:-

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

The First Stop

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am a high school girl and I would like to ask you a question concerning a progressive supper.

There are a group of girls getting together to have it, and there will be one course served at each house. I am to have the cocktails . . . and I am planning to have tomato juice cocktails. Will you please tell me what I can serve with it, in the line of crackers of some kind?

B.

With tomato juice cocktails most people like rather salty crackers . . . saltines, for instance. Spread the crackers with a small amount of butter, and heat them thoroughly in the oven before you serve them. Careful hostesses seldom serve "cold" crackers with foods.

Late Announcements

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I would like to know whether or not it is proper to send out wedding announcements after the couple has been married secretly several months?

Gertrude.

There isn't any rule about this, and whether or not the announcements are sent out so late depends on circumstances and especially on the wish of the couple. If it isn't very many months after the ceremony has been performed, and if the majority of the relatives and friends do not know of the marriage, it usually is quite all right to send out the formal announcements. But if most of the relatives and friends already know of the marriage, this is an unnecessary gesture.

Many people meet this problem by writing notes announcing the news to their close friends . . . . then the news spreads quickly enough! Other people, instead of sending out announcements, give a reception, formal or informal, in their new home. This party may be a tea, say on Sunday afternoon, or a house-warming, or a buffet luncheon or supper.

Contract Bridge :-: HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

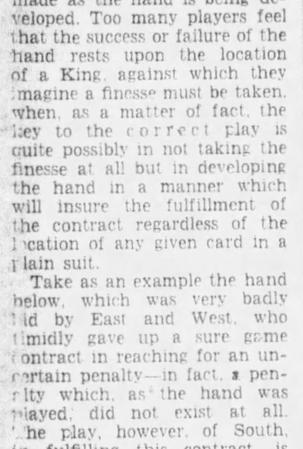
By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

The Play of the Cards

Every Bridge player will find that the time he takes in studying the combined holdings of the Dummy and the closed hand and in reviewing the bidding which has preceded the final contract is well spent time, sure, in the majority of cases, to return a dividend in tricks made as the hand is being developed. Too many players feel that the success or failure of the hand rests upon the location of a King, against which they imagine a finesse must be taken, when, as a matter of fact, the key to the correct play is quite possibly in not taking the finesse at all but in developing the hand in a manner which will insure the fulfillment of the contract regardless of the location of any given card in a plain suit.

Take as an example the hand below, which was very badly bid by East and West, who timidly gave up a sure game contract in reaching for an uncertain penalty—in fact, a penalty which, as the hand was played, did not exist at all. The play, however, of South, in fulfilling this contract, is interesting indeed.

South, Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.



The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♡	1 ♠ (1)	2 ♡	Pass (2)
4 ♡ (3)	Pass (4)	Pass	Pass

1—West should double rather than merely overcall. This is the first mistake in the bidding.

2—While East has some help for his partner's bid he feels that a free Raise at this point would show too much strength—hence the pass.

3—South, of course, is fully justified in bidding for game.

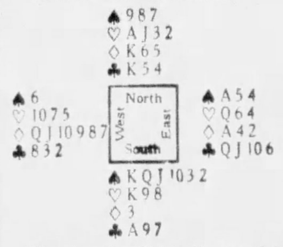
4—West has no one but himself to blame for his present difficulty in finding a sound bidding continuation. Naturally a bid of four spades, with the knave high suit, is out of the question, as his partner's hand may be trickless and he thinks there is a chance of defeating the adverse contract.

West's Opening lead was the club King, and when the Dummy was spread on the table the Declarer could see a possibility of losing one spade and three diamonds. If the King of spades was in the West hand, which had bid the suit, and the Ace of diamonds in the East hand, five-odd could be made. However, South was not interested in overtricks but in a purely fulfilled contract. The first trick was won with the Ace of clubs and a heart led, which was taken with the Ten in Dummy. A club was returned and ruffed in the closed hand and a small spade led and the finesse refused. Dummy's last club was then led and ruffed in the closed hand and South now returned the last spade. East won and returned a diamond, but the contract was now absolutely safe. West won with the Knave and returned a spade, honing against hope the Declarer had three spades. A diamond was discarded in Dummy, and the spade ruffed in the closed hand, one more diamond trick conceded and the contract thereby fulfilled.

Tomorrow's Hand

South is the Declarer at a contract of four spades. How can he make his contract against the Opening lead of the diamond Queen?

East, Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.



The hand will be discussed in tomorrow's article.

Household Hints

To make combs shine—place in mixture of one tablespoon of ammonia to a quart of water—let stand a few minutes. The combs will be clean and will also shine.

If ordinary wall paper is used in the kitchen a coat of varnish brushed on after it is hung will help prevent steam from loosening the paper and will give it a more durable finish.

You might call this meat loaf decorative as well as tasty: Put half the meat loaf mixture in a buttered loaf pan, insert hard cooked eggs, placed end to end, and cover with the remaining meat mixtures. Bake and unmold. When sliced each piece will have an egg slice in the center, making the plates more attractive.

CHURCH URGED TO FACE SIN BOLDLY

HARRISBURG, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—A recommendation that the church face sin boldly was presented to the annual convention of the Pennsylvania Council of Churches today.

It was embodied in a report of a committee on evangelism, headed by the Rev. Edward F. Randolph, of Lancaster, and delegates agreed it would be adopted without opposition. The committee said:

"The attitude toward sin we believe to be one of the most alarming symptoms of our day and we call upon ministers and churches to preach with love and yet with boldness the exceeding sinfulness of sin and the urgent need for repentance."

URGES SURVEY

Among other things, the committee also recommended:

Closing the "back door" of the church by preventing members from drifting away from the fold.

Community surveys to discover the "unsaved" and lapsed members.

Co-operation of churches and pastors in bringing a religious program to Civilian Conservation Corps camps.

A plea for a unified church—a religion without social castes and cliques—was made before the council yesterday by Dr. Gaius J. Slosser, of Pittsburgh.

TO STUDY MERGERS

A committee on comity, of which Dr. W. M. Cleaveland, executive secretary of the Presbyterian Church in Pennsylvania, is chairman, recommended systematic surveys to determine where the church can be bolstered by mergers and consolidations.

The committee also asked that some means be found to regroup the church setup so that each community which needs a church may be eliminated by consolidations to the end that the whole structure will be strengthened.

The convention, attended by representatives of 21 Protestant denominations, opened yesterday. It closes tonight.

Two Girls Paroled In Counterfeiting

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—(INS.)—Irene Daroczy, 16, and Helen Margaret Galic, 15, both of Johnstown, Pa., were freed under suspended sentence yesterday by Judge John C. Knox after they had pleaded guilty to passing counterfeit $5 bills in New York. They were put on probation for five years.

Probation officers assigned by the court confirmed the girls' story that they had left home, having been promised jobs in New York by the supposed representative of an employment agency.

SCOUT LEADER PREDICTS ERA OF CULTURE

A new generation when greed will be frowned upon was predicted by Dr. George J. Fisher, of New York, deputy chief scout executive of the National Boy Scout Council, in a speech last night in Kaufmann's auditorium.

Speaking to some 500 scoutmasters and executives at a banquet and business meeting of the Allegheny County, West, of the Boy Scouts of America, Dr. Fisher, author and editor of publications dealing with scouting, said:

"The emphasis in the future will be on leisure. Tomorrow we will have great blocks of time to think, read, play and follow the beautiful things of life. People will live their life as they choose.

"The industrial era has reached its peak and the pendulum is swinging backward. The future will bring a nobler living, the finer virtues and more culture."

Dr. Fisher said the future will bestow on writers and artists the glories the past has given such men as Carnegie, the Armours, the Morgans.

WOLF NAMED HEAD

The officers elected were Irwin D. Wolf, president; F. F. Schauer, first vice president; Arthur M. Scully, second vice president; Andy T. Benson, secretary; First National Bank at Pittsburgh, treasurer, and C. W. Head, scout commissioner.

Directors elected for a three-year term were Frank J. Lanahan, Chester H. Lehman, Judge William H. McNaugher, John M. Phillips, John Sands, F. F. Schauer, W. P. Snyder, Jr., H. L. Stone and Arthur M. Scully.

For faithful service: Former President Harmar D. Denny, Jr., C. R. Long, Arthur M. Scully and Harold C. Baird were presented with the silver beaver award, the highest honor the local council can confer.

Former Gov. John S. Fisher, president of the Chamber of Commerce, gave that organization's cup to Charles Robbins, scoutmaster of Troop 212, South Hills. The troop planted the most nuts, 11,634 in all, for the year.

Judge William H. McNaugher gave citizenship certificates to 23 Scouts who recently reached 21.

KEYS, AWARDS GIVEN

Scoutmaster keys and scouters' awards were presented to 19 scoutmasters and commissioners. Keys went to Charles L. Rebenack, Alex Della Valle, Fred Wenck, William Vidt, Harry Goss, Ralph Johnston, Fred A. Hunt, Fred J. Harm, William P. Sabo and the Rev. Robert Laing, and awards to John Kish, Harry Hollis, Loyal McNaugher, Henry Mayer, Dr. R. H. Schmidt, Paul Gascoine, Earl W. Wyslip, Alex Nagy, Jr., and William D. Babbitt.

Dr. Fisher said President Roosevelt has asked the National Council of Boy Scouts to send one representative scout from the 30,000 troops in the country to a special meeting in Washington, February 10.

At that time the President will speak over a national radio broadcast, he said, and issue a call for the entire Boy Scout membership of America to aid the recovery program.

Ross Leffler was chairman of the committee in charge, assisted by C. A. Rehtmeyer and C. H. Lehman.

Greenhouse Blaze Damages Plants

Hundreds of plants were damaged by smoke and fire which broke out in Herman Gumto's greenhouse at Lemington avenue and St. Peter's Lutheran Cemetery today. An adjoining one-story brick building, containing the boiler room, was destroyed.

Fire Chief Fred S. Beckett estimated the damage at $8,000. An overheated furnace was blamed.

GLOBE-TROTTING

By LOUIS L. KAUFMAN

Hello, Ladies and Gentlmen:

Another hundred questions came today about veterans' compensation to be paid by the state of Pennsylvania.

Lieut. J. Guy Griffith is answering all questions.

To facilitate the work he is asking that enough space be left on the letter paper so that he can jot down the answer. The original letters with the answer noted will then be mailed back to the sender.

Address the letter to me at the paper. Inclose, if possible, a self-addressed stamped envelope, or if that is inconvenient just enclose a stamp and if you have no stamps your letter will be answered anyhow.

Carl Steigerwald, of 2300 Charles street, wants to delight the Dutch patrons of his hotel with Mayor McNair's favorite dish, schnitz and knepp, but he doesn't know how it is made.

The idea behind the dish is that the slices of apples are cooked with ham and served poured over a dumpling.

Dr. Henry Anhaltzer has one of the 1851 copper pennies. Jack Daub reports that 9,800,000 were minted and are too common to be valuable to collectors.

Mrs. James Mountain thinks that I have kissed the "Blarney Stone" and sends in a picture of Blarney Castle. We see a soldier in the act of osculating the aforesaid stone. Kissing is dangerous as well as thrilling, you know, and it's no exception with the Blarney Stone.

The one who wants the blessing that the stone bestows on its worshippers must hang over a wall, head downward over a sheer drop of several hundred feet.

That kind of kissing is too dangerous.

CANDIDATE FREE IN BANK BREAK

HOLBROOK, Ariz., Jan. 30.—(AP.)—Dillworth Sumpter, who came closer to occupying a congressional seat than any other Socialist candidate in Arizona, today was free under a suspended sentence for attempted bank robbery.

Upon his plea of guilty to burglary yesterday he was sentenced to a year and a day in prison by Superior Judge P. A. Sawyer, who then suspended sentence.

While the jurist gave no reason for the suspension, others indicated officials with whom the judge conferred had taken into consideration Sumpter's plea he attempted the robbery because of distraction over financial worries and the need of caring for his mother. At the time of his arrest Mrs. Lucilla Sumpter was waiting for her son to take her from a Gallup (N. M.) hospital.

sary in connection with White House entertainment.

Wines will be served, but only "simple" wines, not expensive, and preferably, American wines. That seems to be a good American wine program.

INTERESTING to those that study social problems, is Mrs. Mary Kelly, seventy-seven years old, mother of nineteen children, asking a divorce, for cruelty, from her husband, seventy-eight years old.

Of the nineteen children, only two are left alive. That should interest those that denounce birth control.

It might have been as well for Mrs. Kelly to have had four, five, six or seven children, and have them all live, rather than nineteen and lose seventeen.

IN THE latest earthquake shock, reported from Central Mexico, one West Coast town was badly shaken.

Details of the most disastrous earthquake of recent years, in India, came in slowly. "Twenty-five thousand killed in one region, unknown thousands killed elsewhere," is a statement that shocks the world.

When hundreds of thousands, or millions, died of famine and plague, when India was run by native rajahs, that shocked nobody much.

TEN THOUSAND are drowned or frozen to death in the latest floods of the Yellow River, overflowing its banks in Honan and Hopei provinces, North Central China.

The usual flood is made more horrible in this disaster by enormous cakes of ice rushing with the torrent, destroying fragile houses, with thousands climbing to tree-trops to escape the waters, and freezing there.

IT IS a troubled world, yet it might be worse. With nearly two billions of human beings held to earth's surface by gravity, disasters kill only a few, at intervals.

If something happened, a wandering star, passing close to our solar system, an unusually heavy comet, powerful enough to stop or reverse the turning of the earth, the oceans would immediately flow over the earth one mile deep, in all but high, mountainous regions, and practically every human being would be drowned.

We should be grateful in spite of earthquakes and flood. The earth is well managed.

PIERRE S. DUPONT, head industrial adviser of NRA, believes that agency "will do away with strikes," because NRA "has provided an opportunity to deal with strikes in the way labor wants to deal with them."

Mr. DuPont is optimistic. The natural and permanent interest of the worker is to get as much as he can of what the employer takes in. The interest of the employer is to keep as much of it as he can.

Strikes are by-products of that situation, and only Mussolini methods, which will not come here, for the present, can deal with them.

THE REV. DR. KISSLING tells students of Florida University:

"Public opinion is more often wrong than right, and the voice of the people is not the voice of God."

That would be difficult to prove, the voice of the people having had so rarely a chance to make itself heard. When did you last hear it? Dr. Kissling advises young men: "to stand against the wrong, to stand against the crowd, not to be moved by the pull and force of respectability," which is asking a good deal. It is difficult for the chip to go against the stream into which it is thrown.

Educator on Way For Work at Tech

A DuPont industrial grant at Carnegie Institute of Technology has been awarded Dr. Charles Carpenter, graduate of Syracuse University and the Technische Hochschule, of Darmstadt, Germany. He will arrive in Pitts'urgh tomorrow and will be associated with Dr. Earst Berl, former professor in the German institution, and at present research professor of chemistry.

Gray Hair

Best Remedy is Made At Home

You can now make at home a better gray hair remedy by following this simple recipe: To half pint of water add one ounce bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and one-fourth ounce of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it yourself at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained.

Barbo imparts color to streaked, faded or gray hair, making it soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.

Almost Instant Relief From Colds in this Simple Way

If you catch a cold—don't take chances with "cold killers" and nostrums. A cold may be dangerous to take chances on.

The method pictured above is the way doctors throughout the world now treat colds.

This is recognized as the QUICKEST, safest, surest way to treat a cold. For it often checks an ordinary cold almost as fast as you caught it. Do this: 1. Take 2 Bayer Aspirin Tablets. 2. Drink Full Glass of Water. Repeat treatment in 2 Hours. 3. If throat is sore, crush and dissolve 3 Bayer Aspirin Tablets in a half glass of water and gargle. This eases the soreness in your throat almost instantly.

Your cold should be relieved quickly when you do this because the real BAYER Aspirin embodies certain medical qualities that strike at the base of a cold almost INSTANTLY.

You can combat nearly any cold you get simply by taking BAYER Aspirin as directed. Sore throat can be eased by gargling this way in two or three minutes.

Ask your doctor about this. And when you buy, see that you get the real BAYER Aspirin. It dissolves almost instantly. And thus works almost instantly you take it internally. And for a gargle, it dissolves completely enough for this purpose. Get a box of 12 tablets or bottle of 24 or 100 at any drug store.

NO. 12

AN ORDINANCE—Amending an Ordinance, entitled "AN ORDINANCE authorizing and empowering the Mayor and the Director of the Department of Public Works to enter into a lease with the Pittsburgh Piping and Equipment Company for a portion of the public land along the Allegheny River, in the Ninth Ward of the City of Pittsburgh, fixing the terms and compensation of said lease, and authorizing and empowering the same officers to join with the Pittsburgh Piping and Equipment Company in the cancellation of an existing lease for a part of the same premises, dated June 1, 1924, when the lease hereby authorized becomes effective," approved December 28, 1933, and recorded in Ordinance Book Volume 45, page 476, by changing the rental from $2,000.00 per annum to $1,500.00 per annum.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh, in Council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same. That the first paragraph of Section 1 of an Ordinance, entitled, "AN ORDINANCE authorizing and empowering the Mayor and the Director of the Department of Public Works to enter into a lease with the Pittsburgh Piping and Equipment Company for a portion of the public land along the Allegheny River, in the Ninth Ward of the City of Pittsburgh, fixing the terms and compensation of said lease, and authorizing and empowering the same officers to join with the Pittsburgh Piping and Equipment Company in the cancellation of an existing lease for a part of the same premises, dated June 1, 1924, when the lease hereby authorized becomes effective," approved December 28, 1933, and recorded in Ordinance Book Volume 45, page 476, be amended to read as follows.

Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh, in Council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same. That the Mayor and the Director of the Department of Public Works be and they are hereby authorized to enter into a lease in writing with the Pittsburgh Piping and Equipment Company, leasing to the said Company for a period of Ten (10) years, at an annual rental of One thousand five hundred dollars ($1,500.00) beginning January 1, 1934.

SECTION 2. That the last paragraph of Section 1 of said Ordinance be amended to read as follows.

The said annual rental of One thousand five hundred dollars ($1,500) shall be payable in equal quarterly installments, to-wit: the sum of Three hundred seventy-five dollars ($375.00) on the first day of January, 1934, and a like and equal sum on the first day of April, July and October of each and every year during the term of said lease, and the said rental shall be paid through the Bureau of City Property.

SECTION 3. That any Ordinance or part of Ordinance, conflicting with the provisions of this Ordinance, be and the same is hereby repealed, so far as the same affects this Ordinance.

What! No Sense of Humor Among Democrats?

By AIRCASTER

Observers who have interested themselves in the personnel of the talent to be included on tonight's all-network broadcast in honor of President Roosevelt's birthday, were gossiping today over the failure of the program lads to assign Will Rogers a spot in the show.

I recollect that Will has been the unofficial White House jester for years.

It is notable however, that the cowboy humorist enjoyed this distinction to a greater degree during Republican administrations, and I'm wondering whether Rogers' ability to make statesmen and politicians laugh, is confined to Republicans.

HOT TIME FOR WARM SPRINGS

The final set-up for the big radio birthday party launches the show at 11:15 tonight via the combined facilities of WCAE, KDKA and WJAS, as well as Koo-Koo-Vee.

The broadcast will consume an hour. Four speakers will be heard, including the President.

The others will be Keith Morgan, head of the Warm Springs Foundation, and Henry L. Doherty.

The entertainment will be in the hands of Eddie Duchin, the three service bands, one of them playing in Pittsburgh, Howard Barlow, the Whiteman band, George M. Cohan, Nini Martini, Elizabeth Rethburg, Mischa Elman, Raymond Paige's orchestra, Admiral Byrd, Burns and Allen and the Fisk Jubilee Singers.

TALLEY ONE OF WARING'S GANG

Fred Waring, the enterprising young bandsman who will open a new series next Sunday at CBS-WJAS, shows a fine consideration for guest artists.

When Marion Talley was booked as his first guest, he promptly called upon her and asked how he might be of help.

He wanted to know whether Miss Talley preferred her own accompanist; whether she wanted to be "spotted" between any particular types of melody, etc., etc.

Miss Talley promptly defied tradition which endows opera singers with temperament and snobbishness and answered Waring by saying:

"You know more about radio than I do. Your own pianist will suit me as an accompanist. Do as you please about 'spotting' and supply the melodic background according to your own judgment."

Colds Ended in a day

Now tens of thousands of people will tell you that the FASTER, SUREST WAY to get rid of a cold is to take two HILL'S COLD TABLETS and two glasses of water every few hours.

These wonderful little tablets give you such speedy relief—relief you can't obtain by less scientific methods—because they do the three things necessary to break up a cold. Wash poisons from system. Check fever and ease away ache and pain. Fight off cold germs ALL AT ONCE. Thus your cold goes in a jiffy and you feel like a new person. Get rid of cold this proven, faster way. A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy cheeks—sparkling eyes—most women can have. Dr. F. M. Edwards for 20 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave his patients a substitute for calomel made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients, naming them Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, causing a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, take one of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets—now and then to keep fit. 15c, 30c and 60c.

STATE BEGINS WAR ON RUM VIOLATORS

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Representatives of state and federal agencies will confer in Harrisburg tomorrow on a campaign to drive bootleggers out of Pennsylvania.

Wilhelm F. Knauer, deputy attorney general attached to the State Liquor Control Board, announced plans for the drive. Knauer said it would center in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. Internal revenue laws will be the main weapon of the attack, he added.

Charging "city-wide abuses of the club privilege," Knauer and Philadelphia police are co-operating to revoke the license of every chartered club which sells liquor for a profit.

Knauer disclosed that regulations governing the sale of liquor in drug stores, restaurants and hotels are being entirely redrafted. Among the new requirements is a rule that every drink of whisky must be poured in plain sight of the customer to prevent substitutions.

U. S. WORRIED

(Copyright, 1934, by the Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—The administration is deeply concerned over rampant bootlegging that is taking place under repeal and is somewhat at loss as how to approach the problem, but has submitted to leaders in Congress as many as three projected bills providing for drastic liquor control regulation.

The Justice Department, the Federal Alchol Control Administration and the Internal Revenue Bureau all are urging immediate enactment of stringent legisation not only to combat the bootlegger but t prtect the dry states as is prvided under the Twenty-first Amendment.

Representatives of these agencies appared in a secret session today before the House Judiciary Committee to discuss the problem. Efforts have been made by members of Congress to have the agencies get together on one piece of legislation tealing with the problem, but thus far they have failed. The matter is understood to be before Attorney General Cummings, but he has given no indication of what he will recommend.

Gundelfinger Dims 'Sweepstakes' Hopes

There's no telling when Pittsburghers will be able to buy more Sweepstakes, the dollar whisky, Philip Gundelfinger, supervisor of the state liquor stores, said today.

The demand for the short quarts has been so great that the distillery can't keep pace, Gundelfinger said.

Lynn to 'Pillory' Known Drunkards

LYNN, Mass., Jan. 30.—(Universal.)—"Known drunkards" are to be pilloried in Lynn in a list which will hang in all liquor establishments for the guidance of proprietors, who will be forbidden to sell to persons who imbibe too freely with regularity.

Monoxide Poisoning Is Still Taking Its Toll

Despite the constant warnings of the medical profession, state and federal authorities, accidents from carbon monoxide poisoning continue to take their annual toll. Carbon monoxide poisoning causes a serious and often fatal disease. Yet, it is a preventable one.

It is a common belief that poisoning from carbon monoxide occurs only from leaky gas fixtures and stoves. This is not true. Carbon monoxide, one of the most deadly of gases known to mankind, is found in natural gas, coal gas, illuminating gas and in the exhaust of automobiles. The menace of this gas cannot be overemphasized. Every precaution should be taken to guard against breathing it.

Perhaps the greatest menace of carbon monoxide poisoning attaches to the automobile exhaust. A recent newspaper clipping tells of the dreadful tragedy where a whole family was overcome by this gas. While sitting in a closed car with the motor running the fumes of the exhaust carrying the poisonous gas reached the occupants of the car who had fallen asleep.

Another accident, too common, is poisoning from the fumes of carbon monoxide while tinkering with a car in a closed and poorly ventilated garage. Bear in mind, that carbon monoxide strikes rapidly and, unfortunately, renders great damage to the body within a very short time. In many instances, death occurs before aid can be summoned.

Never sit in a car that has the motor running unless you are assured of plenty of fresh air. Above all, never work on your car in a closed garage. Keep the doors open, even if the weather outdoors is below freezing. A good plan is to attach a hose pipe to the exhaust and lead the hose outdoors. The safest plan is to keep the motor off while inside.

In all cases of gas poisoning call a physician and immediately notify the nearest hospital of the accident. Do not resort to the usual methods of artificial restoration. Until the physician arrives, clear the room of gas and allow the victim to have as much fresh air as possible.

Place hot water bags at the feet of the victim and keep him well covered with warm blankets. Do not move the sufferer, and take pains to protect him against unnecessary motion or exertion. The slightest movement may prove fatal.

I cannot overemphasize the importance of warnings issued by the Department of Motor Vehicles of New York State and the officials of other states who realize the seriousness of this menace to health. In addition, may I remind you to repair all defective tubing and leaky stoves that may be unsuspected sources of carbon monoxide poisoning.

McNair to Keep Hands Off State Primary

By MARK SHIELDS

For the first time in many years, Mayor William N. McNair, according to his present notion, will take no part in the forthcoming Democratic state primary. The Mayor explained today that usually at this time in a state election year he began to look around to see what he could run for, but now he has a job, and intends to seek no other.

Mr. Shields

But his present notion, as expressed to newspapermen, goes much farther than not being a candidate. He intends to take no active part in behalf of any other candidate, not even for the men who are supported by Joseph F. Guffey and County Chairman David L. Lawrence, who picked Mr. McNair to be the Democratic organization candidate for Mayor.

He is doubtful, now, if any one during the primary will be able to tell who he is for, something unusual in the attitude of a Pittsburgh Mayor.

The Mayor was extremely emphatic in his present notion. He said that city employes could be anti-Guffey and anti-Lawrence in the primary if they wished to be, and would not be penalized under any conditions.

That spirit of freedom is excellent, but it does reconcile with the Mayor's principle that each department head is autonomous, and can do as he wishes with regard to hiring and firing. Under such a system a department head might be for the Guffey-Lawrence candidates and require his subordinates to be the same way. If they disobeyed, he might get rid of them, and then where would the Mayor be with respect to his attitude of hands off?

See Johnston 'On Spot' In Open Job Parleys

The open cabinet meetings are not much of a success, so far as facilitating public work is concerned, but they do provide an opportunity for citizens to lodge protests in the open, to baldly demand a cut of the patronage, and to put department heads in embarrassing positions.

Canny political observers have deduced that the struggle over the employment in the Department of Public Works is a carefully-designed plan to make Director Leslie M. Johnston so sick of his position that he will resign, opening the way for a Democratic organization man to be named, a man who will be more complaisant in rewarding the faithful.

As a word of warning, Mr. Johnston is not the kind who resigns.

Mayor McNair tells all complainants that his department chiefs are autonomous, that they hire and fire, and that if any group thinks it is not being duly recognized because of its work for the ticket in the general election he is sorry, but can't do anything about it.

That centers the play of politics upon the directors, and Mr. Johnston doesn't care much about the game. Should he become sufficiently fed up to resign the Democratic organization would be well satisfied, as he has never been a Democrtic factionalist, and in the last primary supported P. J. McArdle for the Republican mayoralty nomination.

It is understood Mr. Johnston has been told by some of his friends that they decry the adroit business in the background, and he is forewarned. There are, so far as can be learned, no differences between the Mayor and Johnston, but it would not be surprising should there develop in a short time a demand by some racial groups upon the Mayor that Johnston be removed if he will not resign.

Mayor Fails to Stick To 'Hands Off' Policy

As a matter of fact some department heads do consult the Mayor about replacements. They ask him to send them candidates for position, and he does so. But it also appears that the department head is under no compulsion to accept the first man sent, and only takes the one capable of filling the job. He is, however, a McNair nominee.

This is fair enough. It will work, and is proper procedure. It is something between the policy of the late Mayor Charles H. Kline, who issued flat orders on appointments, and the Mayor's announcement that he will have nothing to do with jobs. The actual McNair system divides responsibility, putting some on the man elected, as well as the man appointed.

County Chairman David L. Lawrence derided a story printed in the East that he had advised Philadelphia Democrats to drop consideration of all other gubernatorial candidates and swing to S. Davis Wilson, newly-elected city controller of Philadelphia. Mr. Lawrence is for State Chairman Warren Van Dyke.

Mr. Wilson would be a difficult person for Mr. Lawrence or Mr. Guffey to do business with. He is a Republican before he is a Democrat, and is reported to have suggested that he run for the Republican gubernatorial nomination on a ticket with Gov. Pinchot for the Senate.

Even should Mr. Lawrence suggest abandoning the candidacies of all Democrats so far mentioned —and he will not—he would under no conditions turn to Mr. Wilson. And neither would the Philadelphia Democrats.

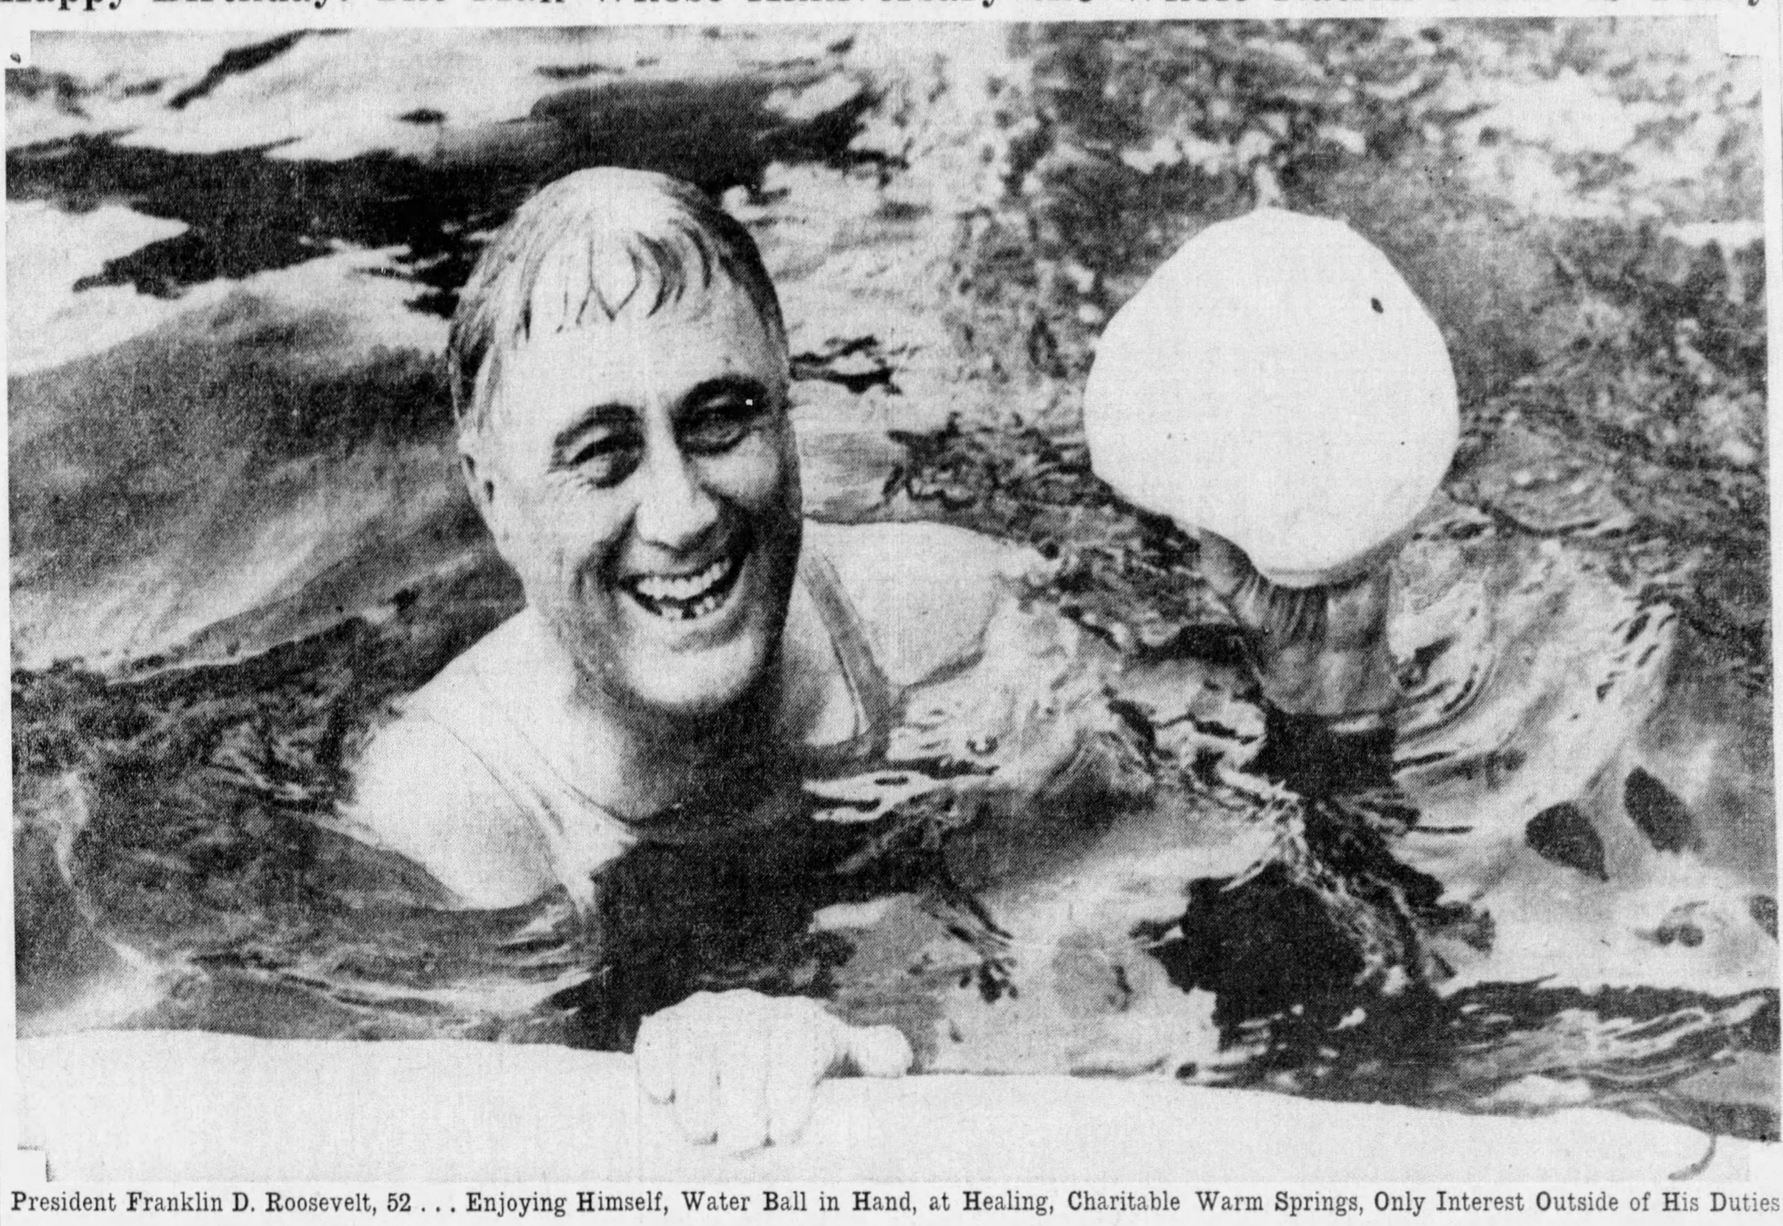
California Red Men Send Greeting in Gold

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(INS.)—A birthday greeting card, made of $200 worth of solid gold, was presented to President Roosevelt today.

The card was the gift of the Improved Order of Red Men of California. The greeting was inspired by the fact that the President joined the lodge in New York in his youth.

CITY JOINS U. S. BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR ROOSEVELT

Happy Birthday! The Man Whose Anniversary the Whole Nation Observes Today



President Franklin D. Roosevelt, 52 . . . Enjoying Himself, Water Ball in Hand, at Healing, Charitable Warm Springs, Only Interest Outside of His Duties

Today's nation-wide celebration of President Roosevelt's birthday throws the spotlight of public attention upon his favorite benefaction—The Warm Springs Foundation, which will receive the financial benefit of the day's functions.

As the whole world has learned, the healing waters of the Georgia resort were little known until Mr. Roosevelt went there, a victim of infantile paralysis.

In large part, of course, his progress toward recovery was due to himself. He was indomitably determined to be restored to activity. But Mr. Roosevelt experienced the curative values of warm springs, and the existing foundation sprang from his resolve that other sufferers should share the benefits.

Consequently, in making the Warm Springs Foundation their objective, the citizens and organizations celebrating the President's birthday have chosen a graceful means of paying tribute to the Chief Executive.

Franklin Delano Roosevelt

A Birthday Poem

Out of the marts, the mines, the mills,
From rolling farms and snowy hills
There comes a cheerful voice that fills
The land from shore to shore.
A nation lays its cares away,
Forgetting skies that once were gray,
To celebrate your natal day
And wish you countless more.

Watching the storm clouds drifting by,
A nation stands with reverent eye,
Breathing a hope that God on high
Will guide your hand aright.
And as the tempest fades away
A hundred million mortals pray
That they will always bless the day
You first beheld the light.

GEORGE E. PHAIR.

NATION DANCES FOR CHARITY TONIGHT

Thanks for Tribute To Be Broadcast By President

The best bibs and tuckers of a lot of folks were pressed up today for the sake of charity and in tribute to President Roosevelt on his fifty-second birthday.

Ballroom finery will be arrayed from Maine to California tonight in probably the most unusual charitable and social event in the history of the country.

A goodly share of it will make an appearance in the ballroom of the William Penn Hotel at 9:30 p. m. when Mayor William N. McNair and Miss Elizabeth Arbuthnot lead off in the grand march that opens Pittsburgh's part of the festivities.

1,500 TICKETS SOLD

The committee in charge of the arrangements announced that about 1,500 tickets had been sold at the time the headquarters opened this morning.

That part of the populace inclined to charity and merrymaking will dress up and dance to the strains of hundreds of orchestras so that thousands of infantile paralysis victims may benefit through the President's principal charity interest, the Warm Springs Foundation, at Warm Springs, Ga.

Proceeds of the 6,000 dances to be held throughout the country will go to the foundation. The President plans to make the widely known health center the concentration point for a nation-wide battle against the disease which he himself has suffered.

The Presidential Ball here will be specially noteworthy because 55 United States Army Band players will furnish part of the music. In addition, there will be other orchestras and a floor show featuring members of the cast of Earl Carroll's "Vanities."

While stay-at-homes listen in at 11:20 p. m. for the President's radio message of thanks for the nation's interest in the fight against infantile paralysis, the dancers, too, will hear Mr. Roosevelt. Amplifiers will carry the speech to every room of the seventeenth floor of the hotel engaged for the affair.

Roosevelt, Feeling Fine, Awaits Party With Buddies

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—President Roosevelt was deluged today with a mighty birthday greeting from every sector of the country.

Looking forward to his birthday party tonight with his "buddies of 1920" and workers at the White House, the President arranged to acknowledge his fifty-second birthday celebration in a talk over the air at 11:20 p. m., eastern standard time.

Telegraph greetings were estimated at 150,000. Birthday cards for the day were calculated to total another 100,000. Bundles carrying all manner of gifts were stacked high in the executive office. Birthday cakes were on about every desk.

Smiling and touched by the expressions, Mr. Roosevelt went to his desk as usual and appeared in the best of health on his first birthday in the White House.

He was interested particularly in the arrangements privately made for benefit balls tonight to be given for the Warm Springs, Ga., Foundation fund for the treatment of infantile paralysis victims.

MOVIES TO FETE ROOSEVELT

International News Service.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 30.—Hollywood celebrities join with civic leaders to pay honor tonight at the birthday of President Roosevelt and aid in the endowment of the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation.

Numerous birthday dinners were scheduled for Los Angeles, Hollywood, Pasadena and nearby suburbs. At Beverly Hills, Elliott Roosevelt, son of the President, will be guest of honor.

Among the stars who have donated their talents for the various functions are Dick Powell, Jimmy Durante, Joe E. Brown, Marie Dressler, Sally Rand, Jeannette McDonald, Earl Carroll's Vanity Girls, Leslie Howard, Adrienne Ames, Bruce Cabot, Ginger Rogers, Richard Dix, Ann Harding, Corinne Griffith, Clark Gable, Wallace Beery, Clara Bow, Constance Bennett, Lupe Velez, Johnny Weissmuller, Robert Montgomery and Arline Judge.

Roosevelt Censured At McKinley Fete

NILES, O., Jan. 30.—(AP.)—Criticism of the Roosevelt administration was mingled with praise for William McKinley here last night as Niles honored the anniversary of the ninety-first birthday of her most illustrious son with a banquet.

Congressman Charles M. Bakewell, of Connecticut, asserted that the "dictatorial" powers given President Roosevelt by Congress must be temporary if traditions of American government are to be preserved.

ALASKANS MUSH WAY TO BALL

SEATTLE, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—Far up under the Aurora Borealis, they will celebrate the birthday of President Franklin D. Roosevelt tonight with one of the most gorgeous settings the world has ever known.

They call it night, but it's night all the time right now in northernmost Alaska, and the shimmering crimson and violet Northern Lights will illuminate the parties.

At Fairbanks, Juneau, Ketchikan, Cordova and other cities they are holding dances and at each point a sell-out is indicated. Hardy Alaskans are mushing behind dog teams over the frozen snow to reach the crowded halls at Fairbanks and other interior towns.

Even the weather favored the President, for at Fairbanks, for instance, where it was 65 degrees below zero a week ago, gallant men and fair ladies only have to brave a temperature of around 14 below tonight.

Stork-Weight Data On Roosevelt Lost

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—Washington had to start celebrating the President's birthday today without having data on one important fact—how much he weighed when he was born.

Reason: Scales were scarce in those days. Right at first he wasn't weighed. Later, he was taken down and weighed on the scales on the butcher's cart. The butcher is dead.

WARM SPRINGS SET FOR PARTY

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Jan. 30.—(AP.)—Neighbors and friends in this Georgia home of President Roosevelt will celebrate his fifty-second birthday with a party tonight at the Warm Springs Foundation.

Despite the sudden cold snap that sent the mercury down in the South, Warm Springs bore a festive air. The children at the foundation, where sufferers of infantile paralysis receive treatment, were ready for the birthday dinner tonight and the party afterwards.

Then will follow a square dance by the patients in wheel chairs, and a huge seven-foot fruit cake will be cut.

Roosevelt Son to Cut Big Cake in Boston

BOSTON, Jan. 30.—(INS.)—James Roosevelt, eldest son of the President, and his brother, Franklin D., Jr., a freshman at Harvard University, will participate tonight in one of two functions here in celebration of their father's birthday.

James will wield the knife on the huge one-ton birthday cake, while Franklin D., Jr., was listed as an usher.

Gov. Pinchot Wires Greeting to Roosevelt

HARRISBURG, Jan. 30.—(INS.)—Gov. Gifford Pinchot today wired his birthday greetings to President Roosevelt from New York:

"It was a good day for America when you were born. Warmest congratulations and many happy returns. Every right-thinking man and woman in America is behind you. Every happiness and success to you."

Baby Born at 12:01 Named for Roosevelt

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—Franklin Delano Roosevelt Linster was born at 12:01 a. m. today, President Roosevelt's 52nd birthday. The son of Mr. and Mrs. John Linster, he is their third child.

Mrs. Linster said yesterday:

"We'll name him after the President if he is born Tuesday."

30,000 Alabamans Sign Birthday Wire

BIRMINGHOM, Ala., Jan. 30.—(AP.)—A telegram bearing birthday greetings to President Roosevelt from 30,000 Alabamans started moving three days ago and is still going strong.

Sponsors of the idea say they hope to have a half million names signed to the telegram before it is finished.

ALL DIXIE PLANS BIRTHDAY FETES

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 30.—(AP.)—While the white folks are dancing in honor of President Roosevelt's birthday tonight, southern Negroes will be having their own parties as token of respect for "the man in Washington."

Without any suggestion, so far as is officially known, from any white person or white organization, the Negro Woman's Federated Club at Milledgeville, Ga., started plans for a Negro dance to be held "just like the white folks," turning over receipts from the occasion to an endowment fund for the Warm Springs Foundation.

In all, there will be five balls—three white and two Negro—in Milledgeville.

In Birmingham, Ala., there will be a tremendous torch light parade.

The Golden Rule Alliance of Tampa, Fla., has completed plans for a Negro Roosevelt ball.

The Negroes of Charlotte, N. C., Fort Worth, Tex., and Houston also plan celebrations.

$50,000 Gift Goes To Warm Springs

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 30.—(INS.)—A $50,000 gift from the Horace H. Rackham Foundation to the Warm Springs Foundation was announced today by Abner E. Larned, chairman of the local President Roosevelt birthday ball committee.

President's Stars Lucky, Horoscope Expert Says

By MARIE MANNING

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The day Franklin D. Roosevelt was born, January 30, 1882, the stars conspired to give the future President the greatest of good fortune. His sign of the Zodiac is Aquarius, and it extends from January 20 to February 19.

According to Hiram E. Butler, author of "Solar Biology," persons who belong to this sign, come under the "nerves and bony framework of the Zodiacal system." Such people are strikingly intuitive and remarkably good judges of character.

On the day of his birth, Uranus was rising, which makes the President an idealist and explains many of his public policies. People born under this sign are nearly always active in the direction of public welfare.

Mozart, Mendelssohn, Byron and Franz Schubert were born under this sign, and Walter Damrosch was born on the same day as the President, but 20 years earlier. The vibrating impulse of Aquarius finds its outlet in music, poetry (Robert Burns also has the same sign) and painting.

The President is highly appreciative of good music, and only a few weeks ago made a very excellent suggestion to a professional musician at the White House.

Aquarius heirs are students, thinkers, reformers, the supporters of innovations which tend toward the advancement of human liberty, through arts and letters.

William McKinley, twenty-fifth President of the United States; Samuel Gompers, Ex-Kaiser Wilhelm, of Germany, and Horace Greeley are also Aquarius people, but they have certain modifying astrological signs, which make their horoscopes differ considerably from that of the President. Many politicians have these signs.

Aquarius heirs are prominent patrons and supporters of the opera, theater, public parades, shows, fairs and places of popular resort. They are seldom mechanics. They have an active, nervous temperament and are liable to diseases of a nervous and rheumatic order.

Mother Recalls Birth Of 'My Boy, Franklin'

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—Mrs. James Roosevelt today recalled the first birthday of "my boy, Franklin."

While the nation celebrated his 52d anniversary, the President's mother remembered the sunny upstairs room in their house on the Hudson—the room where Franklin was born.

She was very busy today—the smiling gray-haired woman whose son is the thirty-second President; but between events—a radio address, a fashion show where she consented to receive, a dinner and the largest of New York's "birthday balls" for her son—she reminisced.

It came near being a dark day—that January day 52 years ago. For, as the President's mother recalled:

"When he was born I was given too much chloroform, and it was nearly fatal to us both.

"The nurse said she never expected the baby to be alive, and was surprised to find that he was."

She never dreamed, on that first birthday, that her son would be President. That was the last thing she ever imagined for him.

What was her ambition for him? Very simple, she says:

"To grow to be like his father —straight and honorable, just and kind, an upstanding American."

Not only as he is now, but as he was then—a baby, "plump, pink and nice"—she sees her son today.

She thinks, too, of his Welsh pony; of the "sailboat" he and his playmates built in the top of a tree, and his early declaration:

"I'm a seafaring man."

RELIEF AGENCY FIRE ROUTS SCORES

One man was burned and scores fled to the upper floors when fire, caused by a minor explosion in the incinerator, swept through the paper baling room of the Pittsburgh Association for the Improvement of the Poor, 428 Duquesne way, during last night's rush hour.

The diners in the basement restaurant ran to the upper floors. Steve Sirgo, 45, working in the baling room, was burned about the face and hands and taken to Allegheny General Hospital.

Harry W. Shepard, the general manager, said there was no excitement among the 1,200 men in the building during the fire. The four-story building is fireproof and there was no fear of the flames spreading from the basement, Shepard said.

Firemen confined the blaze to the baling room and estimated the damage at $100.

BROOKLINE BLAZE

The two-story brick home of H. C. Lippincott, of 306 Aidyl avenue, Brookline, was damaged $300 by fire last night. The blaze was caused by an overheated furnace, firemen said.

Damage estimated at $100 resulted when fire broke out in the automobile of A. J. Deeks, in the sheet meal garage in the rear of his home at 227 Gross street.

HOME DESTROYED

Fire destroyed the one-story frame home of J. Hoffman, Greenway, Millvale. The blaze, of undetermined origin, had enveloped the building when Millvale and Cherry City firemen reached the scene. They said Hoffman was absent at the time.

A city-owned automobile assigned to Traffic Inspector Jacob Dorsey was slightly damaged by fire at Ross and Diamond streets last night.

Defective flues were blamed for fires in the homes of Tony Passante, at 709 Carson street, and John Sebyhnisnic, at 843 Progress street.

SPEED TRAPS WARNING GIVEN

Warning to motorists of an official speed trap and two enforcement areas in the Pittsburgh district where state highway patrolmen and constables have been making arrests for motor violations, was given today by the Pittsburgh Motor Club.

On Route No. 28, the Freeport road, state highway patrolmen have marked off a course and are clocking car speeds. The spot is just south of the Bessemer railroad high-level bridge across the Allegheny River.

Constables have been patroling the Pittsburgh-McKeesport boulevard near Dravosburg, while state patrolmen are enforcing a "stop" sign at the Beaver Bridge entering route 51 near Beaver. In the last few days 35 drivers have been arrested at this intersection.

HEAVY SPENDING ON DOGS DENIED

A denial that Franklin Morton McGuire, Beechwood boulevard, spent $100 a month on his dogs was contained in an answer to his wife's petition for alimony on file in Common Pleas Court today.

The wife, Anna Marie McGuire, 5857 Douglas street, averred in her petition she had heard McGuire say it cost him that much to keep his pets.

The answer, filed by Attorney Charles B. Prichard as counsel for McGuire, also denied McGuire was paid a salary of $400 a month as alleged by the wife.

STATE TAX COMMISSION LIMITS PUBLIC'S BURDEN

Workings of Indiana Reviewing Body Described

(Today's article describes operation of the Indiana Tax Commission. Such a commission has been suggested for Pennsylvania.)

At least two organizations, one state-wide, have already advocated a state tax commission for Pennsylvania, to serve as a check against unnecessary bond issues, extravagant budgets and exorbitant millage rates.

The Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce is considering the desirability of presenting legislation at the next session of the Legislature for the creation of a central board or agency, to review, on petition of a certain number of taxpayers affected, the local budget and bond issues of their municipalities.

The Allegheny County Real Estate Owners and Taxpayers League also has included in its program the creation of a state tax commission. Both organizations would set up a board similar to the one functioning in Indiana.

Economists and others interested in our tax problems admit that the Indiana plan has been a success. It has been in operation 13 years and in the first 12 years heard appeals from 1,230 taxing units. Reductions were made in 638 cases.

In Indiana there exists a central reviewing authority of local tax rates, bond issues and budgets. This board will act on petition of any 10 taxpayers who feel that their tax rate is too high, that their budget is exorbitant or that a bond issue is unnecessary. The central board will hold public hearings, and the board also has the authority to reduce the rate or refuse the local authorities the right to offer a bond issue.

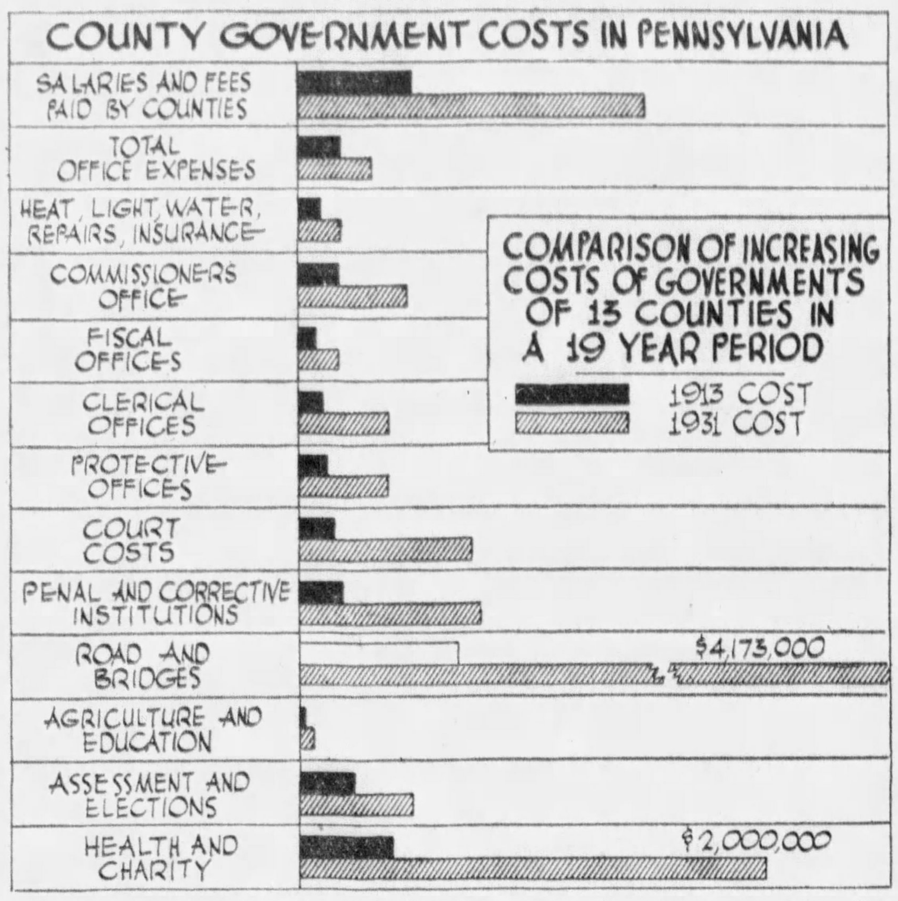
The Indiana Tax Commission has a force of tax experts who work in the field and who are in touch with local officials and assessors, aiding them in practical means of economy and along the lines of equitable assessments. The budgets of all local taxing units are made up in public and any taxpayer who does not get satisfaction from a public official during budget making time can appeal to the state commission.

In Pennsylvania the local taxing agencies are supreme as long as they keep within the laws that pertain to general taxation. Each bond issue must be reviewed by the Secretary of Internal Affairs, who determines whether the issue in question conforms with the law. The Department of Internal Affairs, however, cannot do much more than advise the local officials. The taxpayers have no method of direct appeal.

In many parts of Pennsylvania budgets are prepared and the millage set at meetings held behind closed doors. It was only a year ago that Allegheny County Commissioners set their millage for the year at a closed meeting, the public and newspaper representatives being barred.

Time and time again budget sessions of the city and county officials as well as the school board, have been attended by representatives of real estate owners and taxpayers organizations. These representatives have on several occasions, presented proposed budgets, pointing out where economies could be put into effect. Their protests have been repeatedly shunted aside.

If Pennsylvania had a central tax commission for the review of such budgets, millage and bond issues, it would be kept constantly busy hearing the complaints of such groups.



Bond Issues, Budgets And Millage Are Regulated

Huge Growth of Public Indebtedness Shown

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—The public debt of federal, state, county and municipal governments is reported by the Census Bureau to have aggregated $39,171,587,000 for 1932. Since that time the federal government's gross debt increased $3,051,622,000 to the end of June last year, bringing the total to $42,223,249,000.

The gross debt reported for 1932 of all public indebtedness of states, counties, cities and all other subdivisions with the power to incur debt amounted to $19,684,577,000, or an average of $158.10 for each person. Ten years ago the aggregate debt was $10,255,458,000, or an average of $94.32 for each person, while twenty years ago it was $4,379,079,000, or an average of $45.11 for each person.

The federal government's gross debt on June 30 last was $19,487,010,000, or an average of $156.12 per person. In 1923 it was $22,349,688,000, an average of $200.10 per person, and in 1913, before the World War, it was $1,566,863,480, of $12.58 per capita.

Of the total gross debt, exclusive of the federal government, state governments represented 14.7 per cent; counties, 12.3 per cent; cities, towns, villages and boroughs, 51.5 per cent; school districts, 11 per cent; townships, 1.8 per cent, and other civil divisions, 8.9 per cent.

The total for states was $2,895,845,000; counties, $2,423,306,000; cities, towns, villages and boroughs, $10,088,352,000; school districts, $2,172,375,000; townships, $353,306,000, and other civil divisions, $1,751,393,000.

To End a Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

Saves Big Dollars! No Cooking!

Millions of housewives have found that, by mixing their own cough medicine, they get a purer, more effective remedy. They use a recipe which costs only one-fourth as much as ready-made medicine, but which really has no equal for breaking up obstinate coughs.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. The syrup is easily made with 2 cups sugar and one cup water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. It's no trouble at all, and makes the most effective remedy that money could buy. Keeps perfectly, and children love its taste.

Its quick action in loosening the phlegm, clearing the air passages, and soothing away the inflammation, has caused it to be used in more homes than any other cough remedy.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, famous for its healing effect on throat membranes. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

THE LIFE OF A CITY
AT HIS FINGER TIPS...

The SYSTEM OPERATOR . . . the man few people ever know . . . the man few people ever see . . . the man apart from the outside world . . . a stranger to the living, laughing, busy humanity; and yet a man whose work vitally affects our every day existence.

His is the realm of Electric Energy, wherever it reaches, wherever it performs its countless tasks—with the comfort and safety of more than a million and a half people at his fingertips each minute of the day and night. In front of him are the instruments that record all conditions of your Electric Service; a huge illuminated map, dials, meters, and the charts giving him the complete picture of more than a thousand square miles of Electric Service. He knows when and where more service is needed; he knows ahead of time of bad weather approaching from another state; he knows of all conditions that may interfere with smooth flow of your Electric Service.

It is not by accident that lights stay on when storms and blizzards rage outside. It is not by accident that power generated at the electric plants comes through unmolested, the power for industries, or power for transportation, for communication, for homes, for entertainment. It is because the System Operator, whose headquarters is like a bee-hive when storms break unannounced, is issuing orders as fast as lightning itself. Power plant operators respond to his orders . . . linemen and service men speed to the areas affected . . . wires that are down are restored . . . poles that are weak are strengthened . . . transformers are protected . . . generators are speeded up . . . the whole system of men and machinery functioning oblivious to the hazards of the elements in order that Electric Service may be there when you want it.

Yes, the System Operator's work is vital to our every day existence. By his constant vigilence and watchfulness the record of uninterrupted service for the entire Duquesne Light Company system stands at 99.9927% for the year 1933... an accomplishment in the interest of your service.

AUTO LEADER, PASTOR BACK SALES TAX

Belief that a national manufacturers' sales tax offers a solution to the perplexing problem of financing the federal government was expressed today by an automobile distributor and a minister.

Charles L. Day, president of the Pittsburgh Automobile Dealers' Association, sponsors of the successful automobile show in Motor Square Garden, said his faith in the sales tax plan was strengthened by the successful operation of a sales tax in Illinois, Illinois.

The enactment of a manufacturers' sales tax plan such as the Canadian one, to replace the income tax was advocated by the Rev. Dr. Hugh Thomson Kerr, pastor of the Shadyside Presbyterian Church. Dr. Kerr said:

"The manufacturers' sales tax plan is a most satisfactory way of meeting the country's financial needs. Under the plan operated in Canada the burden of financing the government is borne by all."

Mr. Day said:

"I have been an advocate of a national manufacturers' sales tax plan for many years and my belief that it offers Congress an ideal solution of the always perplexing, and sometimes baffling, problem of taxation was strengthened recently when some friends from Illinois described the operation of a similar plan there.

"Recently published reports from Illinois indicate that its 2 per cent state sales tax produced an average yield of $2,062,500 monthly, or 27.8 per cent of the total sum collected in taxes. It was asserted the plan was meeting the success its sponsors predicted.

"I think the Canadian sales tax plan, providing for the elimination of the many so-called 'nuisance' taxes and exempting the necessities of life from taxation, forms an ideal pattern for our lawmakers to follow in financing the government."

PITTSBURGHER BYRD HERO

Sparse reports from ice-bound Antarctica today spelled heroism for Finn Ronne, young Pittsburgh engineer in charge of skis and dog sleds on the Byrd expedition to Little America.

According to dispatches, Ronne, in an attempt to determine the shortest route to Little America from the supply ship, narrowly escaped death repeatedly due to breaking ice during a 40-hour reconnoiter.

Although only two miles from Little America, the ship's crew is unable to transfer supplies to the headquarters established two years ago due to pressure ridges in the ice. Ronne was making the survey to avoid, if possible, the necessity of a long detour. He had had no sleep during the survey, it was said.

Lets Mosquitoes Feed on Him Every Week

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—Anyone who has ever climbed over theb edrom furniture with a folded newspaper in search of one loud buzzing little mosquito may like to hear about the job of Carroll Smith, 24.

Every seven days, winter and summer, Smith rolls up a shirt sleeve, puts on a glove, and places his arm in a cage to give 200 mosquitoes their weekly meal of blood—his blood.

That, among other things, is what Uncle Sam pays Smith for. He is employed at the Agriculture Department's bureau of entomology. The mosquitoes are kept for experimental purposes.

Smith says he doesn't mind the job. The welts, he says, disappear within an hour.

Denies Unemployed Have Quit Council

Philip Frankfeld, county chairman of the Unemployed Councils, denied today that the West End chapter had withdrawn from the unemployed group. He said that only George Bigley and a "small clique" had quit. Frankfeld, who says that the Unemployed Councils are not Communistic, himself has been active in Communistic activities.

MILITARY BALL PLANNED HERE

All branches of the United States armed forces will participate in the annual military ball of the Pittsburgh Chapter, Reserve Officers, to be held in the Fort Pitt Hotel February 10.

The entire first floor of the hotel has been reserved. A reception in the gold room will precede the night's program in the ballroom. A feature will be the use of the rose room as a tap room. All officers are requested to appear in uniform.

Lieut. Gordon L. Clawson is chairman of the general committee and Lieut. Ronald L. Thompson, vice chairman. Ticket headquarters will be maintained at 99th Division headquarters, Westinghouse Building.

STORE HEAD LAUDS ROOSEVELT

His Picture Alone Inspires Faith, Says Kaufmann

President Roosevelt's picture alone has inspired the country with courage and confidence, Arthur Kaufmann, vice president and general manager of McCreery's, told 700 employes of the store last night at an NRA party.

The affair was the twenty-ninth annual dinner of McCreery's Mutual Aid Society, held in the store dining room. Kaufmann said:

"I think the United States is the most fortunate country in the world to have at this trying time a man like President Roosevelt. I think he is doing a marvelous job—I admire his vigor, I admire his foresight.

"He has turned around the country in one year and we are going up the hill step by step. His very picture alone has inspired the country with courage and confidence. He is always quiet, pleasing and cheerful."

He praised Roosevelt for putting in force a code of fair competition through the NRA and its "elimination of the chiselers," and the manner in which he has withstood all opposition.

Jerry Murphy, re-elected as president of the Mutual Aid Society, named the organization's officers and directors and read the yearly financial report. The other officers, S. Baker, vice president; E. M. Moser, secretary, and H. C. Engel, treasurer, also were re-elected.

The directors are Miss Olive S. Kinsey, G. E. McCurry, T. Curran, G. C. McCullough, Miss M. Sweeney, S. Berkovitz and A. Hoffman.

Opera Star Wears Rabbit's Foot for Good Luck

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—Goeta Ljungberg, now singing in "Salome," at the Metropolitan Opera House, wore a newly-acquired rabbit's foot for good luck last night.

The rabbit was caught during the dark of the moon on the plantation formerly owned by John C. Calhoun in Oconee County, S. C. Before being sent to the singer, who had publicly expressed a wish for such a token. A spell was put on it by Mary Lee, a Negro "conjure woman," of Calhoun, S. C.

REFRIGERATOR DAINTY GETS AWARD

If your time is limited (what housewife's isn't), yet you want to retain that reputation of being a good hostess who always serves the right thing, you'll find today's main prize winner, frozen dessert, a welcome addition to your table, either as the final course at dinner or luncheon or for party refreshments.

Nor is it the only recipe you'll welcome. All of today's 11 prize winners have their delectable place in your recipe file or cook book. Prudence Penny publishes her prize column, so that you can conveniently clip recipes for future use.

Every woman has her special way of preparing certain dishes which she knows is better than any other housewife's. Send in your favorite methods to Prudence Penny, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. She awards one daily prize of $5 and 10 prizes of $1 to the best recipes submitted. No recipes are returned to the senders.

Five Dollar Prize Winner

MRS. W. B. FRITCHEY,
632-A Middle avenue, Wilmerding.

FROZEN DESSERT

One medium-sized can crushed pineapple.
One pound marshmallows cut in small pieces.
Two bananas diced.
One cup sliced fresh strawberries.
Blend these with a cup of whipped cream or ice cream. Put in electric refrigerator pan with a layer of whipped cream on top. Sprinkle with chopped nuts. Freeze for several hours. This mixture may be alternated with layers of plain sponge cake, then sliced when frozen hard.

Ten $1 Prize Winners

MRS ROSE ANGEL,
188 Meadow street,

TULTA
(Filling)

Six medium-sized potatoes.
Six medium-sized onions.
Three eggs.
One-half green pepper.
Four sprigs parsley.
Salt and pepper to suit taste.
One-fourth cup olive oil.
One-half cup grated swiss cheese.

(Crust)

Six cups flour.
One teaspoon baking powder.
One teaspoon olive oil.
Pinch of salt and pepper.
One cup lukewarm water.

Mix, work and roll out as ordinary crust. Wash, peal and slice thin, the potatoes and onions. Add eggs, chopped pepper and parsley, salt, pepper, olive oil and grated cheese. Mix well together. Take the crust and line the roast pan, allowing crust to hang over edges, put in filling and fold extra crust over the top well. Sprinkle a little salt and pepper, bake in moderate oven about one hour, remove and cut in squares about three inches wide. This serves eight people. This is an excellent dish to serve with steak or any other meat.

CARY CHRISMAN,
611 Ivy street.

HOMINY AU GRATIN

One pint uncooked hominy or one can.
Three tablespoons butter.
Six tablespoons flour.
One quart milk.
One-half pound cheese.
One-half teaspoon salt.

Soak hominy over night and cook until soft. Blend flour with butter. Stir in heated milk and cook until thick. Add the cheese just before removing the white sauce from the fire. Pour the sauce over the hominy and bake until well browned on the surface. (Good Lenten dish).

MRS. G. T. ATKINS, JR.,
632 Hazel avenue, Ellwood City.

BOUDINS

Add to one pint ground, cooked veal.
One-half cup bread crumbs.
Two tablespoons chopped parsley.
Salt and pepper to taste.
Four tablespoons melted butter.
One cup meat stock.
Three beaten eggs.

Mix well. Fill buttered timbale or custard cups with the mixture. Place cups in pan of hot water and bake in hot oven for 20 minutes. This recipe requires one pound of boneless veal and makes four large portions.

JOHN W. KNAUER,
609 S. Main street, Columbiana.

WILTED LETTUCE
(German Method)

Six slices of strip bacon.
Two tablespoonfuls of vinegar.
Two large stalks of lettuce.
One small onion.
One level tablespoon of flour.
Salt.

The homely German method of preparing lettuce is a tasty and desirable way of adding the extra fat needed to furnish fuel for winters days. Wash the lettuce and cut in small pieces. Scrape the onion. Fry the bacon in a heavy skillet until brown and crisp, and remove from fat. Add salt, vinegar and flour to fat and cook until it thickens. Add lettuce and onion to the hot dressing and stir until it wilts. Serve at once with broken up strips of bacon.

CLARA SCHMIECH,
510 Geranium street.

A CHICKEN SALAD

Take a fine white bunch of celery, scrape and wash, reserve the delicate green leaves; shread the white part like straws and arrange in dish like a nest. Mince the white meat of a boiled or stewed fowl, and put in nest.

SALAD DRESSING

Rub the yolks of two hard-boiled eggs to a smooth paste with a teaspoonful of salad oil or melted butter, add two teaspoonful of made mustard, one teaspoon sugar and one cup vinegar. Make a wreath of the leaves of the celery around the nest, between it and chicken. Pour the dressing over chicken when ready to serve. Whiteheart lettuce may be used in place of celery.

MRS. HENRY MULLER,
150 Chalfante avenue, West View,
Bellevue P. O.

BAKED FISH OR MEAT

Six tablespoons minute tapioca.
One and one-half teaspoons salt.
One-eighth teaspoon papper.
Three cups milk (scalded).
Two cups cooked fish or meat, flaked or finely diced.
Two egg yolks, slightly beaten.
Two egg white (stiffly beaten).
One-half cup bread crumbs, buttered.

Add minute tapioca, salt and pepper to milk and cook in double boiler 15 minutes, stirring frequently. Add fish or meat and cook five minutes longer. Cool slightly, add egg yolks and mix well. Fold in egg whites. Pour into greased baking dish and cover with crumbs. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 minutes or until brown. Serve hot. Serves six.

MISS MARY RICARDINE,
311 Broad street, Jeannette.

CAULIFLOWER WITH ITALIAN ANCHOVY SAUCE

One medium head cauliflower.
One-half cup olive oil.
Six salted anchovies.
Six kerneis of garlic.
Two tablespoons of butter.
Pinch of salt.

Soak cauliflower in one tablespoon vinegar, one tablespoon salt and a quart of cold water for five minutes to remove dirt and insects. Cook whole in boiling salted water until tender. Put cooked cauliflower in a serving dish and pour over it the sauce made as follows: Wash, remove bones and cut anchovies in small pieces. Cut garlic in small pieces also. Cook anchovies, garlic, butter, oil and salt in sauce pan over a slow fire until garlic is just slightly brown. Pour over the cauliflower and serve hot.

MRS. J. JARVIS,
Ninth street, Irwin.

ESCALLOPED SALMON AND MACARONI

Break one-half cup macaroni and boil 20 minutes. Free one can salmon from bones and skin. Lay in layers in baking dish alternately with the macaroni, pouring over each layer cream sauce made with one tablespoon flour, one tablespoon butter, one cup milk, season with salt, pepper and lemon juice. Cover with buttered crumbs and bake 20 minutes in moderate oven.

MRS. JOSEPH NEILSON,
813 Florence avenue, Avalon.

PINEAPPLE FILLED COOKIES

One cup sugar.
One-half cup shortening.
One egg.
One-half cup sweet milk.
Three and one-half cups flour.
Two teaspoons cream of tartar.
One teaspoon soda.
Pinch of salt.
One teaspoon vanilla.

Cream shortening and add salt. Gradually add sugar, creaming constantly. Add egg. Sift flour, soda, cream of tartar together and add to creamed mixture alternately with the milk. Add vanilla to milk. Knead until smooth, roll thin and cut and place on a cookie sheet. Place a little of the pineaple mixture on the top of cookie and then cover with another. Pinch edges together so that no liquid will escape. Bake in a moderate oven until lightly browned.

PINEAPPLE FILLING

One can of grated pineapple.
Sugar to sweeten.
Two tablespoons cornstarch.

Mix sugar and pineapple together. Thicken with the cornstarch dissolved in a little cold water. Cook for 10 minutes over a slow fire or until the mixture is thickened and has lost its starchy taste. Cool before placing on the cookies as this keeps the mixture from running out while the cookie is baking.

MRS. ANTHONY COSCIA,
6450 Navarro street.

STUFFED PEPPERS

Four cups bread crumbs.
Two cloves garlic.
Salt and pepper.
Four sprigs parsley.
One cup olive oil.
Twelve green olives.
Dash of paprika.
A few capers.
Six anchovies.
Two ripe tomatoes.

Wash and dry 12 green peppers. Remove core wih a sharp knife. Fill with the following: Grate stale bread very fine on a grater. Add two cloves of fine chopped garlic, six boned and minced anchovies, four sprigs of fine chopped parsley, 12 finely chopped green olives and one cup of olive oil. Two ripe tomatoes may also be added. Mix well and stuff peppers. Place peppers in heavy skillet and add a little oil and cook over a low flame until tender and a golden brown.

In selecting the winners the university considered the student's general proficiency, including superior scholarship with high rating in character, citizenship, personality and record of general student leadership.

JUNIOR PATROL

Try to see the real nature of things, fellows!

Does that sound funny? Really, it isn't—it's an interesting subject about which many men have thought a great deal. The real nature of things is hard to explain in a few words, but it is a real problem just the same.

The fact is that almost everybody thinks they know what the real nature of things are—that is, when they see a house, for instance, they think "There is a house," and usually let it go at that.

But almost everything has more to find out about it. You can look and look at a thing and still think of more things to say about it and do about it.

Take a snowflake, for instance. Lots of fellows look at them and see just a snowflake—a little spot of white on your hand or coat that melts soon and brushes away. But if you look real closely at it, you will see that it is really a beautiful crystal like the pattern of a lace tablecloth or like a glittering star, with tiny delicate rays.

Through a microscope men can see details, a whole miniature world that is invisible to the naked eye—and through the telescope they can bring the moon, stars and planets nearer, and the far off nebulae—things that we see only dimly and often not at all.

How many of you have ever seen the rings whirling around the planet Saturn? Or the tiny moons whizzing around the same planet? There is always more to see in things, fellows. A brick isn't solid at all—water will go through it!

Now here's an envelope today from Ronald Knonter, of R. F. D. No. 3, Coraopolis, Pa., and he sends four pledges all at once. Glenn Ramsey, Merle Ramsey, Mack Styles and Leo Styles are the boys named on the pledges.

268 GRADUATED BY 2 SCHOOLS

Last night in Soldiers' Memorial Hall, 179 Schenley High School students were awarded diplomas by Frank M. Leavitt, associate superintendent of schools, marking the school's eighteenth mid-year commencement.

At Langley High School, holding its eleventh mid-year commencement, 89 students received diplomas.

The highest honor, "superior leadership," at Schenley High was awarded to Miss Katherine Hastings Barrett. Others receiving high honors were Minnie Polyxena Bonaros, Rae Cardiff, Rose Childs, Mary Curl, Violet Claire Czuba, Eva Gigliotti, Austin Hiller, Margaret Laschinger, Harold Nathan Marous, Norman Shorr, Mary Sokolsky, Ruth Blanche St. John and Edith Swartz.

The highest honor at Langley was awarded to Vetaw M. Swegzda. On the high honor roll were Louise Fereda Auer, Elizabeth Ferrel Casey, Esther E. Fehl, Dorothy Isabel Goldby, Paul J. Halyaman and Eleanor Anne Hoover.

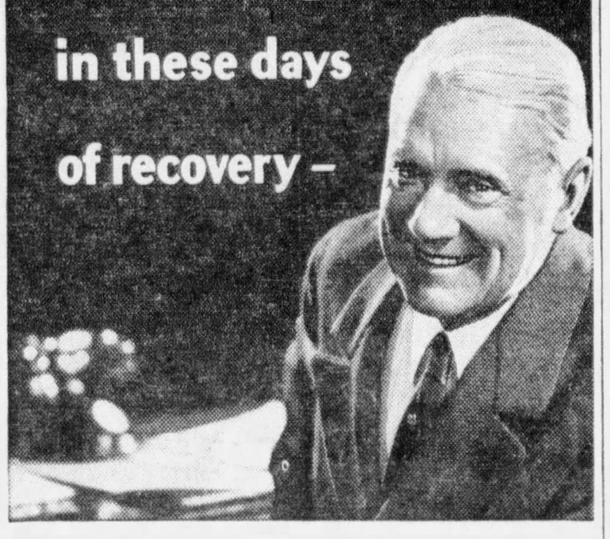
QUICK STARTS for COLD MOTORS

"I keep fit— in these days of recovery—



"—if I don't someone else will have my job"

HOW? "Well, I learned years ago that work . . . wear and tear . . . takes something out of men and women—particularly those who work indoors.

"Good food and fresh air at night are most valuable, but I found that the so-called simple tired feeling—'let down' some call it—comes from overtaxing one's strength.

"I tore down those precious red-blood-cells faster than my good body could rebuild. A friend told me the story of that grand medicine S.S.S. Now at 4 P. M. I am fit to still 'carry on'."

One of the really sad things in life is the pushing aside or "shelving" of the weak . . . someone is always ready for your job. Why not reason sensibly that when you begin to "let-down" then it is time . . . before it is too late . . . to build back your vitality?

Of course, if you suspect an organic trouble, consult a physician or surgeon. But if you feel weak . . . lack a keen appetite . . . or if your skin is pale . . . try S.S.S. as a part of your regular daily diet. Take it just before meals. Unless your case is exceptional, you should soon notice a pick-up in your appetite . . . your color and skin should improve with increased strength and energy.

S.S.S. is not just a so-called tonic but a tonic specially designed to stimulate gastric secretions, and also having the mineral elements so very, very necessary in rebuilding the oxygen-carrying hemo-glo-bin of the blood to enable you to "carry on" without exhaustion as you should naturally.

If your condition suggests a tonic of this kind, we recommend S.S.S. because its value has been proven by generations, as well as by modern scientific appraisal.

S.S.S. is truly a blood and body tonic. It is sold by all drug stores in two convenient sizes . . . the larger is more economical.

There is no substitute for S.S.S.

Secure S.S.S. from your own druggist . . . with few exceptions druggists are ethical and conscientious, and will not suggest a substitute. No medicine has the same formula as this time-tested Blood Tonic . . . nor does any other concern gather the same roots with their own trained collectors and extract the active medicinal principles, unchanged, in their original fresh state—this is the secret of S.S.S. . . . there is no substitute. Thousands of people have a low red-blood-cell count and don't recognize it. S.S.S. is useful in promoting a keen appetite and restoring deficient red-blood-cells and their hemo-glo-bin content which are so necessary for sound health. © The S.S.S. Co.

YAROSZ ILL, TITLE BOUT WITH SMITH POSTPONED

JAMES J. LONG'S SPORTS COMMENT

Rabbit Near Playing Peak. Chance to Pass Wagner. Needs 139 More Games.

Change in Slab Tactics. Scoring on Fake Fumble. Old-Time Riders Durable.

If Rabbit Maranville can continue for one more season to be as active as he was in 1933, he will gain the distinction of having played in a greater number of championship games than any other player in the history of the National League. That record still belongs to Honus Wagner, but Maranville has drawn so close that he may succeed in taking it away from the Dutchman before the end of the coming campaign. The Rabbit needs only 139 more games to put him out in front.

Rabbit Maranville

In his 21 years as an active diamond performer, Wagner set an all-time National League record for individual competition by taking part in 2,785 championship games. Participation in 143 contests for the Braves last season brought Maranville's grand total up to 2,647 games for a stretch of 22 years, cutting Wagner's lead to 138, so that by breaking into 139 more box scores Boston's 42-year-old infielder can set the highest mark ever known in the senior major circuit since the league was organized in 1876. An ambition to pass Wagner's record for games played has been one of the spurs to keep Maranville going in his remarkable career. The all-major top of 3,033, set by Ty Cobb in the American, may be beyond Rabbit's reach, but the little fellow says he is determined to crack the National League mark, at least, before he puts away his glove.

HARRIS TELLS SIDE OF FAMOUS PINCH HIT

Dave Harris, of the Washington Senators, was discussing the other day the famous pinch single with which he deprived Tommy Bridges of a no-hit game in 1932, with two out in the ninth inning and the score 13 to 0 in favor of Detroit. The sheriff denies a story that has been told repeatedly in connection with that hit—that he remarked on the bench about the seventh inning he would purposely strike out if sent to bat in such a situation.

That's what many a veteran player will do if the game is hopelessly lost and the pitcher has a chance to break into the hall of fame, but Harris says it's all wrong and that he never made the remark credited to him. He declares he has always believed in playing out the string, and that when Bridges' first pitch came just where he wanted it, he swung hard and earnestly and slammed a single to left field. Harris, incidentally, is the most consistent pinch-hitter in the majors, particularly against left-hand pitchers. In his four years he has been up 115 times as a pinch clouter, driven in 29 runs, scored 15 himself, drawn 16 bases on balls and made 39 hits, including eight doubles, one triple and three home runs, for an average of .394.

LIVELIER BALL MAY BRING NEW PITCH

Stringing along with the old wheeze that necessity is the mother of invention, Ben Cantwell, of the Boston Braves, thinks the extra pressure to be put on the National League hurlers by a livelier ball this year will lead some resourceful flinger to invent a new pitch. Cantwell says the batters may be a little premature in counting on greatly fattened averages by reason of the new pill, and predicts some of the optimistic sluggers are going to be disappointed.

Ben Cantwell

Ben was one of the four National League slabmen to win 20 games last season, and ranked second in percentage and sixth in earned-run average. He doesn't fear that the different ball will cause a great slump in his record for 1934. The Boston chucker points out that pitchers frequently have to shift their mound tricks to meet varying enemy attacks, and to combat the changing conditions in park layouts as they move from one playing field to another. They have found a way to overcome new handicaps placed on them in the past, he remarks, and he is confident they will discover a method of retaining their effectiveness while handling a livelier pellet.

MOVE TO HAVE FUMBLE-TOUCHDOWN BANNED

Action on the part of the football rulemakers is being sought by George Trevor, supported by Ed Thorp, veteran official who worked in the Rose Bowl game, to close a loophole that was overlooked by the country's coaches in suggesting changes in the code for next season. The faulty rule to which objections are raised is the one that makes possible a touchdown on a fumble near the goal line.

If a ball carrier finds himself stopped short of his distance on fourth down a step from the goal line, there is nothing to prevent his simulating a fumble and surreptitiously tossing the pigskin into the end zone. A cagey player could easily fake a fumble so well as to keep it from being ruled an illegal forward pass. If his mates were tipped off to be on the lookout for the trick if the carrier failed to cross the goal line under his own power, the odds are that one of them could recover it for a touchdown. If an opponent were to recover it, inasmuch as the ball would have been lost anyhow, on downs, the only loss would be the 20-yard touchback distance. A good gamble.

Joe McGlone, ex-Harvard quarterback, confesses that the Providence pros scored half a dozen touchdowns by the fake fumbles. Even in the case of accidental fumbles, it is held a team should not be allowed to profit from its own error to the extent of a touchdown, and the suggestion has been offered that when a fumbled ball is recovered by an offensive player in the end zone the ball be given to the defensive side at the spot where the fumble occurred.

JOCKEYS MORE LASTING IN EARLIER DAYS

Looking into the past, Tom Kearney, turf veteran, remarks that the old-time jockeys lasted much longer than the modern riders. Billy Hayward, pronounced by some the best saddleman racing ever knew, started riding in England as a 13-year-old boy in 1857, and 35 years later, or in 1892, he climaxed his career by winning the Dwyer, the Belmont Stakes and the Futurity. Steve Donoghue, who rode six English Derby winners, is past 50. So is Joe Childs, another British rider. Bobby Lewis, Australia's leading jockey, is 56.

Steve Donoghue

At the age of 57, Francis Buckle, of England, won the Derby on Emilius the Oaks on Zino, the 2,000 guineas on Pastile and the 1,000 guineas on Zino. George Fordham, Fred Archer's great rival in England, started riding in 1850, and 30 years later he won the 1,000 guineas on Hauteur. Fordham rode five winners of the English Oaks, six winners of the 1,000 guineas, and one Derby winner, Sir Bevvys. William Clift, another English jockey, won the Derby at the age of 57 on Tiresias. The reason why the old-timers lasted so long is believed to have been some secret system of keeping down weight. It is not fading skill, but increasing poundage, that stops the moderns.

COLLEGE TEAMS JOIN LOCAL ICE LOOP

CITY HOCKEY LEAGUE

STANDING OF THE TEAMS

	W.	L.	G.	OG.	Pts.
Morgans	3	1	19	3	6
Pirates	3	1	16	8	6
Webers	2	2	9	14	4
Ravens	0	4	7	21	0

The local City Amateur Hockey League, playing its games in Duquesne Garden, finally has been enlarged from a four-team to a six-team league with the addition of teams from Carnegie Tech and Duquesne University.

The college teams are not varsity combinations, but more or less informal outfits. The Tech team will be known as the Tech Collegians. The schedule will be revised to arrange for games every Monday, Wednesday and Saturday night, instead of only on Mondays and Saturdays. The first college team game is slated for Wednesday of next week.

Victory is proving to be a very elusive prize for the Red Ravens, sole possessors of the cellar position in the league. The Ravens dropped their fourth contest in as many starts last night as they were defeated by the Pirates, 6 to 3, the victory enabling the latter club to tie the Morgans for first position.

Although the Ravens' attack showed more power, the team's defense again proved to be inadequate. The team tallied in each period, Gibson getting all three goals, but the Pirates got two in the first, three in the second, and one in the third.

Bob Hoel, Pitt football tackle, broke into the Raven lineup and made a good showing. The lineup:

Pirates—6		Red Ravens—4.
Rodenbaugh	G.	Bughman
McCutcheon	L. D.	Chalfont
Scully	R. D.	Doolittle
R. Burke	C.	Lockhart
McMullen	R. W.	D. Thompson
McGill	L. W.	McKinney

Pirate spares—J. Friday, J. R. Friday, Davies, Montgomery, Connelley.

Raven spares—S. Burkes, Gibson, Longnecker, Livingston, Culbertson, Oliver, L. Thompson, Montgomery, Bobby Hoel.

Pirate scoring: First period—McCutcheon to Scully, 13:01; McCutcheon, 13:55. Second period—Scully to Davies, 5:14; Scully to McGovern, 7:10; Connelley to Scully, 12:28. Third period—McCutcheon to Davies, 12:35.

Red Raven scoring: First period—Lockhart to Gibson, 9:45. Second period—Gibson, 9:15. Third period—D. Thompson to Gibson, 9:15.

Penalties—McGill, 2 minutes (tripping); R. Burke, 2 minutes (fighting); Longnecker, 2 minutes (fighting).

Referee—Jack Campbell.

Walker in Draw; Quick K. O. Scored

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Jan. 30.—(AP.)—Mickey Walker fought to a draw with Bob Godwin, of Adel, Ga., in a 10-round bout here last night. He left the impression he could have won easily if he chose, but did not extend himself.

CARDIFF, Wales, Jan. 30.—(INS.)—Jack Peterson, British heavyweight champion, scored the quickest knockout on record here last night when he knocked out Charley Smith in 10 seconds. Two punches just after the opening bell put Smith away.

PARIS, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—Erich Seelig, of Germany, highly-touted middleweight, failed in his attempt to beat Marcel Thil, of France, claimant of the world championship, in 12 rounds here last night, Thil getting the decision.

CANZONERI MAY QUIT

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—Tony Canzoneri says he'll quit the ring if he doesn't beat Cleto Locatelli, Italian lightweight, in their 12-round bout in Madison Square Garden, Friday night, but if he wins he'll hound Barney Ross for another chance to regain the lightweight title.

COLD FORCES TED TO END TRAINING

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor.

Did you ever know it to fail? Every time there's a big fight which everybody wants to see something happens to jam the works.

This time it's the Ted Yarosz-Jimmy Smith bout for the state middleweight title, at Motor Square Garden, scheduled for Friday night and postponed a week last night when Yarosz came down with a cold and fever and was ordered by his doctor to break training.

Matchmaker Lew Raymond received the bad news from Ray Foutts, Yarosz' manager, in a telephonic conversation after receipt of a telegram asking him to call Foutts.

SMITH TO REMAIN HERE

Upon hearing of Yarosz' indisposition, Billy Clark, trainer of Smith and Danny Hassett, his stablemate, who meets Anson Green, of Homestead, in the six-round semi-final, immediately consented to stay over in Pittsburgh for the postponement. Dick Bircher, manager of the pair, has flown back to Philadelphia, but will return for the show.

Clark said:

"Certainly we'll stay over. We wouldn't want Yarosz to box unless he is in the best of condition. The public is entitled to that. This is an important match for both boxers, and the fans have a right to see them at their best. Neither side should have any alibi to offer after it is over, and Yarosz would have a good excuse in the event of defeat if he were called upon to enter the ring a sick man."

QUAILL SUFFERS INJURY

While the postponement is a bad break for the promoters in one sense, it may be a fortunate one in another way, Al Quaill, Brookline middleweight, who is to turn professional against Jack Dalcherone in the feature four-round preliminary, yesterday received a badly cut lower lip while sparring with Smith at the Pittsburgh Lyceum and will have to lay off boxing for several days. It is doubtful if he would be able to go through with the match this week. The accident occurred during the first round and Phil Goldstein, Quaill's handler, immediately called a halt and took his boxer to a doctor for medical treatment. At the same time, Matchmaker Raymond ordered that no more boxers on the Garden card be permitted to work out with Smith, saying:

"If this goes on, we won't have any preliminaries."

He had in mind also the body punching Smith handed out to Max Elling both Sunday and yesterday.

YAROSZ 'SPY' SEES WORKOUT

Watching yesterday's workout was a scout from Yarosz' camp, Mike Ray, who has been working in Teddy's corner in many of his bouts. Boxing Commissioner Dr. W. D. McClelland also was on hand to see how Smith stacks up, and was duly impressed with the latter's condition.

Smith will let down a bit in his

Penn and Michigan Renew Grid Rivalry

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—A two-year, home-and-home football series between the universities of Pennsylvania and Michigan, beginning in 1935, has been announced by Penn.

The first game will be played at Ann Arbor on November 2, 1935, and the following year the 1933 Big Ten Conference champions will come to Franklin Field. The date for the 1936 game has not been decided. The series marks the resumption of an old rivalry.

Matinee Club Asks Aid of Council

The Schenley Matinee Club, which has held light harness racing at Schenley Oval since 1903, has asked financial help from City Council for stabling and training horses for races this summer. If help is not forthcoming, it will be necessary to give up the annual races.

Only two charter members out of 1,000 remain in the club, according to David G. McDonald, treasurer and general manager.

Vines Beats Tilden In Long Battle

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—Ellsworth Vines, Jr., returning to California as a professional, defeated Bill Tilden last night in a bitterly contested tennis match, 6-0, 21-23, 7-5, 3-6, 6-2.

The match, witnessed by 5,000 fans, lasted more than four hours, ending 20 minutes after midnight.

MAX BAER ON AIR

Max Baer, heavyweight champion contender, will be a guest speaker on Ben Bernie's radio broadcast over an NBC hookup from Miami, Fla., at 9 o'clock tonight. WCAE is the local outlet.

Hialeah Park Puts Ban on Trainer

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 30.—(AP.)—Suspension from Hialeah Park here of Nat Ray, race horse trainer and former Canadian steeplechase rider, in connection with an investigation into alleged horse doping has been announced by track stewards.

Three horses, which the stewards said Ray trains, Kiltamond Heroson and Stealingaway, were ruled off the track, and the case was referred to the Florida State Racing Commission for further inquiry.

NATIONAL CONFAB OF GREENSKEEPERS GETS UNDER WAY

BODY LIKELY TO ADOPT NEW NAME

By TOM BIRKS

The annual convention of the National Greenskeepers' Association of America began a four-day stand in the William Penn Hotel here today as the convention's fine exhibit of golf course equipment was thrown open to the public.

All available floor space in the hotel's lower lobby is taken up with a collection of tractors, seed samples, fertilizer and other necessities to the well-being of an up-to-date golf layout, and is attracting curious and interested throngs.

The convention will have its official opening tomorrow, when four experts on the building and maintenance of greens will offer discourses.

OFFICERS PRESENT

Headed by the national officers, President John MacGregor, of Wheaton, Ill.; Vice President W. J. Sansom, of Long Branch, Canada, and Secretary-Treasurer Fred A. Burkhardt, of Rocky River, O., the delegates were busy registering all throughout yesterday. It is estimated that 400 members will answer the roll call tomorrow morning.

A number of the tri-state district greenskeepers were on the job yesterday, and a few tri-state professionals also put in appearances. Charley Manning, Pete O'Hara, Johnny Manley, Jimmy O'Donnell and Emil Loeffler were on hand looking over the exhibits.

The national officers held a board of directors' meeting late yesterday afternoon with the following in attendance:

John Quaill, Highland Country Club; John Morley, Youngstown, O.; John Anderson, West Orange, N. J.; Carl Bretzlaff, Indianapolis, Ind.; Edward Dearie, Mt. Prospect, Ill.; M. E. Farmham, Philadelphia; L. J. Feser, Wayzata, Wis.; Grange Alves, Acacia Country Club, Cleveland, O., and John Pirie, Chappaqua, N. Y.

The association has gone along for eight years since being founded by John Morley under its present title, but it is likely that the name will be changed at this session, inasmuch as at least 50 greenskeepers from Canadian clubs now are members of the body.

TWO NAMES SUBMITTED

Two names have been submitted, one being the North America Association of Greenskeepers, and the other is the International Association of Greenskeepers. The changing of the name seems a certainty inasmuch as Toronto, Can., is bidding strongly for the 1935 convention and is favored by the delegates.

Last night the delegates were the guests of the Manufacturers Association at a dinner. Fred Burkhardt, the genial secretary, who is also supervisor of the convention, was the master of ceremonies. He gave the tri-state greenskeepers body, headed by John Quaill, the general chairman of the convention, a great boost. Jimmy McElroy, Art Snyder, Bob Martin and Charley Nuttall are the other local greenskeepers working as committee chairmen to make the convention a success.

McKechnies Both Boss Players

JIM M'KECHNIE — BILL M'KECHNIE

But, whereas Bill McKechnie, of Wilkinsburg, is the manager of the Boston Braves, a big league baseball club, Brother Jim is a stage manager. He's in charge of the Vanities show at Loew's Penn Theater. They both know the ropes. This is a Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph picture.

SLAVIA ELEVEN TO SHOW NEW STARS HERE

Three new faces will be seen in the lineup of the Slavia soccer club when the Clevelanders take the field against Curry next Sunday at Greenlee Field in the second round of the national open cup competition. The newcomers will be Preski, a fullback; Kenny, a halfback, and Pomi, an inside right.

None of these three played in the game last year here when the Slavias succeeded in eliminating Curry from the big tourney. According to Mike Bookie, Pomi formerly played with New Bedford in the Eastern Professional League. Mike states that the new forward can do a lot of tricks with the ball.

The Slavias had complete control of the game against the Milwaukee Viennas a week ago Sunday. It was only the stubborn defense of the Wisconsin aggregation that prevented the Clevelanders from running up a big score.

LYCEUM RING TEAM WINS

The Pittsburgh Lyceum amateur boxers scored a clean sweep in the four bouts in which they participated in the Islam Grotto's ring show on the North Side last night. Four scraps on the program ended in knockouts.

Zayak scored the quickest knockout of the evening, dropping Jackie Peters after 23 seconds of mixing in the first round. The summary:

112-pound class—John Gallo defeated Joe Gigliotti.
118-pound class—Gene Gibbons defeated Frankie Wingo.
135-pound class—Jackie Walls defeated Frank Rickard; Carl Kleiber defeated Pete Sully.

CRAVOTTA BEATS CLARK

BUTLER, Pa., Jan. 30.—Jimmy Clark, Oil City, was no match for Charley Cravotta, of Uniontown, former A. A. U. welterweight champion, in the feature five-round bout of an amateur ring show here last night, and assimilated a neat lacing.

The bouts were staged at the Y. M. C. A. The summary:

130-pound class—Ike Luscola defeated Tony Como, Kid Richardson knocked out Young O'Connor, first round.
138-pound class—Tom Stanley defeated Toots Misconia, John Hunka defeated Nick Rossi.
160-pound class—Smoke Robinson defeated Harry Dunkle.

KNOCKOUTS MARK SHOW

M'DONALD, Pa., Jan. 30.—A trio of technical knockouts were recorded here last night at the amateur ring show staged by the local American Legion. The victors were Adragna and Moreau, of McDonald and Chuck Prosser, of East Liverpool. The summary:

135-pound class—Ray Eberle defeated McCain.
140-pound class—Don Trotter defeated Paris.
147-pound class—Chuck Prosser won by a technical knockout over Parlich, 3 rounds.
160-pound class—Keith Goldblatt defeated Price, 5 rounds.

Greens Convention Chiefs Here

JOHN MAC GREGOR — FRED A. BURKHARDT — JOHN QUAILL

Officers of the National Association of Greenskeepers at eighth annual convention, which opened today in the William Penn Hotel. Mac Gregor, of Wheaton, Ill., is president, and Burkhardt, of Rocky River, O., secretary-treasurer. Quaill, of the Highland Country Club, is a member of the board and general chairman of the convention, which ends Friday. More than 400 are expected to attend the confab. CHILLYSAUCE

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Bill McKechnie has returned from Boston where he attended a farewell dinner in honor of Mayor Curley . . . Bill says Curley made one of the grandest speeches he has heard. . . . The Boston celebrity is a self-made man, and a fellow who apparently likes excitement. . . . This story is told of Curley. . . . When he was a candidate for Mayor he was answering questions asked by his audience . . . A hostile heckler referred to an incident in Curley's life on which the candidate was very tender. His anger up, Curley leaped off the platform, swung on the heckler's jaw and scored a one-round-Hogan. . . . He deftly leaped back to the platform, brushed the dust off his hands and continued: "Now, are there any more questions?"

A son of Mayor Curley will be the traveling secretary for the Braves this year . . . McKechnie spent most of yesterday in company with his brother, Jim, who is the stage manager for a musical production in a local show house . . . Mike Cullen, the theatrical impressario, was a kid around the Newark ball park when Bill McKechnie managed the Newark Feds . . . Bill developed a couple of pretty fair ballplayers named Eddie Roush and Benny Kauff when he was in the "outlaw" circuit.

Jimmy McKechnie, aged 7, is a wild baseball fan. Brother Bill, Junior, was a member of the Penn State club last year . . . Little Jimmy wanted to see Brother Bill play, so unbeknownst to the collegian, his dad and Little Jim drove to the Nittany school on a certain day in which State was engaged in the diamond . . . Bill, Junior, was not aware of the presence of his folks as the game started . . . He fanned on his first time up and his father, ribbing Jimmy, remarked:

"Well, Jim, let's go—I've seen enough."

Jimmy refused to quit on his brother and pleaded with dad to stick around. On his next trip to the plate, Bill doubled and Jimmy was beside himself with joy.

A great baseball prediction of last year was that ventured by Frank O'Doul a few weeks after the season opened. Speaking through the columns of the Sun-Tele, O'Doul dwelt upon the deadened ball. He said:

"I don't think the league will have a hitter, with the possible exception of Chuck Klein, who will bat as high as .350 . . . Chuck may get this high on account of that crackerbox park." . . . Klein was the only regular to hit .350.

It is to be hoped the Dodgers will listen to the holdout threat of Hack Wilson. . . On drawing power Wilson earns his salary twice over. . . Hundreds of fans get a thrill out of Hack after he looks at what the umpire says is a third strike. . . And don't forget that the return of the lively ball will be right in Hack the Whacker's alley!

Sports writers are not the only critics who scatter their shots all over the target and rifle range. . . The literary commentators are throwing a lot of wild pitches these days. . . A book reviewer of the New York Times lauds Sinclair Lewis' latest book, while Time, news magazine, says in effect that the red-head has lost the hop of his fast one.

PAPER SCORES BIG TRIUMPH

International News Service.

BOSTON, Jan. 30.—The Boston Evening American's campaign for a "new deal" for New England junior athletic talent scored a smashing success yesterday when Judge Emil E. Fuchs, president of the Boston Braves, offered contracts to 10 sandlot players out of school entered in a contest conducted by the American to select the 10 most promising young ball players.

Albert J. White, 19-year-old pitcher, a student at Holy Cross, and Elburt Fletcher, 17-year-old first baseman, have been selected to go to the Braves' training camp at St. Petersburg. Eight more budding stars will be given a trial with the Harrisburg club of the New York-Pennsylvania League, a Braves' farm.

Taking 10 young players, all of whom are unknown to anybody connected with the club, on a southern training trip at a cost of approximately $5,000, is unprecedented in local big league circles.

The Evening American's "new deal" campaign isn't confined to baseball. With the co-operation of Boston Garden officials, the American is conducting a school for young boxers.

training until the latter part of the week to keep from going stale.

The accident which befell Quaill happened in a curious manner. Smith had missed him with a right to the head and struck him in the mouth with his elbow as he was drawing back his arm. Quaill said it was the first time he ever had been cut in training.

Leon See's 'Inside Story' Of Carnera's Career

EDITORIAL FOREWORD

On the heels of world-wide publicity accorded his two thrillers late in 1929 with Stribling, Carnera seeks new worlds to conquer, so he, the author, and their staff sail on Christmas Eve for the United States and—the most spectacular adventures in quest of the world championship . . .

CHAPTER XIII

By LEON SEE

Developer and Former Manager of Primo Carnera, World Heavyweight Boxing Champion

The first part of my program was accomplished; the first equation of my problem was solved; my proof by the absurd was becoming concrete with implacable precision. Already Carnera was the recognized champion of Europe without, so to say, having received a punch. His reputation of super-man, of super-boxer, had crossed the ocean. America was awaiting him.

Now the question was to conquer America as we had conquered Europe in one year. And the United States conquered practically meant as a prize the title of champion, my idea problem entirely solved and the definite triumph of the absurd.

Big Boy Peterson

But America was not as easy to bluff as Europe. There must have been at least a hundred heavyweights capable of beating Carnera—of making just a mouthful of the "man eater"—back in 1929-30.

I had to use a different method, adapted with the greatest care to American ideas, based psychologically on national peculiarities and weaknesses.

OFF FOR AMERICA

To face with precision this new problem was to solve it. And the terms of the problem were very clear.

What is necessary for a boxer in America to attain the absolute maximum of worth?

And the answer is: The maximum not only of victories, but also of personality and of color.

Well, I would take charge of Carnera's victories. The personality and the color details, I would have to create them—to develop them, to magnify them, to make them reach unattained heights. So—

On Christmas Eve, 1929, Primo and I set out for New York and—a new world to conquer!

With what weapon was I armed for this difficult invasion—this conquest bristling with dangers? Perhaps you will laugh . . . as you read of my tricks and stratagems later. . . .

PUBLICITY PLUS

Our arrival in New York had been preceded by cables to sports writers of all the great dailies. Therefore, a score of reporters and camera men were waiting for us at the pier. It was the happy beginning of the most unprecedented publicity in the annals of pugilism—publicity which I was to maintain from month to month by all the means which a fertile imagination could suggest.

I can say without boasting that never did a reporter "short of copy" (seeking a story), come to see me without my giving him material for an exclusive article; that no photographer in search of an interesting shot went back with blank plates because Primo would pose for him cheerfully in all sorts of new and amusing attitudes.

The secret of intensive publicity is in the art of turning it into news. It would take a volume to ennumerate all the publicity stunts which I devised and executed.

As soon as we landed, Carnera at once provoked an unbelievable public curiosity due chiefly to "Man Mountain" newspaper publicity. His feet—his hands—his shoes—were truly the talk of the town and country, too. All New York wished to see the colossus, the superman, whose least deed or gesture was reported and photographed.

GYMNASIUM JAMMED

At Stillman's Gymnasium, where Primo began his training, curious crowds flocked in such number that it was necessary to withdraw one of the two boxing rings to accommodate the paying public. The entrance fee was raised from 25 to 50 cents. Every day hundreds were turned away.

I had engaged two or three colored sparring partners whom I paid generously to play their role before the giant, to stagger under his blows, to go down from time to time; in a word, to give the illusion of Primo's overwhelming superiority.

For example, I had devised that which I had named "le coup des coudes," which in English means "the elbows trick." That always made a tremendous impression.

During a round, at a given signal, Carnera cornered his adversary against the ropes, then pretended a series of blows to the stomach—four very short punches, left—right, left—right, in rapid succession. Then his spar-mate lowered his guard, at which moment Primo caught him, one hand under each elbow, and lifted him into the air, pivoted, and deposited him delicately, turning him loose in the center of the ring, where Primo proceeded promptly to score three or four light straight lefts.

AN ELBOW TRICK

The spectators were left gaping by such an exploit. The trick is worked this way: To lift as a feather a 200-pound heavyweight and to carry him six feet away without the least apparent effort is a feat requiring three indispensable conditions: (1) the victim must contract his arms, the elbows close to the body at the exact moment of lifting, without which the thing is impossible. Then (2) at the precise moment of the effort, the lifted man must give a light impulse with his feet which helps considerably the take-off. Finally (3) there must be perfect co-ordination and synchronization of movements between the two "actors."

In the course of a clinch, at a propitious moment, Primo would say in a whisper to his partner:

"The elbows!"

That meant:

"Let me corner you, tighten your elbows, and jump."

The impression on the crowd was so deep, so unforgettable, that I have known passionate admirers of Primo to rave to me:

"You can believe it or not, Monsieur, but I have actually seen him with my own eyes, in his training three years ago, lift a 200-pound man like a child and throw him three meters away!!!"

Eh, bien!

FIRST NEW YORK BOUT

Fight offers arrived from all sides. The innumerable Italians of New York wished to see their compatriot in action. Madison Square Garden was aware that the first appearance of Carnera would draw a big gate, as fistic financiers phrase the idea of large receipts.

I was summoned before the New York State Boxing Commission, where I found myself in the presence of the late William Muldoon, who was then its president. He was an energetic though elderly man who ruled as a dictator.

It was an amusing conflict between two firm wills. I was bursting with concealed laughter to observe the confidence and conviction with which Mr. Muldoon pretended to impose his views on me. He said:

"It seems that Carnera is an invincible man. Very well, I am going to give you for his first appearance here the choice between four opponents—Sharkey, Campolo, Maloney or Godfrey. Which do you choose?"

The execellent old man must have taken me for a novice, considering that Sharkey had been the victor over Young Stribling less than a year before, that Campolo had just completed an impressive series of victories by knockouts, that Maloney was still a topnotcher, and that Godfrey probably was then the best battler in the world when he wanted to, or could, cut loose. No wonder I had trouble not to burst out laughing.

A QUICK KNOCKOUT

I replied politely to Chairman Muldoon that Carnera, having just landed in the United States, was not sufficiently acclimated as yet and that I preferred that he be permitted to take on an opponent a little less tough than those mentioned for his American debut.

"Besides," I added without smiling, "if Carnera, as it is evident, beats immediately one of the four men you have just mentioned, who will face him next?"

I needed several days of discussion to gain my point, but finally it was conceded.

The first adversary of Carnera was Big Boy Peterson, a good enough heavyweight whom I knew three years before in Chicago.

I desired that Primo should make his American debut with a sensational victory and also that the "fight" should not last more than one round (one minute, to be exact), and that it should end via a magnificent uppercut from Carnera's right to the tip of the chin.

KEYSTONE A. C. TOPS P. A. A.

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Keystone Athletic Club athletes carried off a 33-21 decision over P. A. A. performers last evening as sports representatives of the downtown and Oakland organizations clashed in the first inter-club night program of the season. The triumph was the initial K. A. C. win since inauguration of the series events last winter. Winged Head delegates having prevailed both at home and abroad in 1933.

The victors registered through impressive performances in squash racquets, handball, tenpins and volleyball. At squash, the Downtowners, led by Joe Oliver, Larry Semans, Jean Casper and Del Kennedy, garnered seven wins in 11 starts, while their handball entries, paired off into eight doubles teams, captured six matches to two for the visitors. The Keystone volleyball sextet topped an improvised Red and Gray outfit, 10-8, and Keystone tenpin bowlers swept handsomely to a team verdict.

In baseball and duckpins alone were the invaders successful. P. A. A. President Rod Flannery twirled his diamond followers to a 8-4 margin in an abbreviated game. A return meeting will be held at the P. A. A. on Tuesday, February 20. Last night's summary:

STOCK PRICES ADVANCE 1 TO 2 POINTS

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—Stocks slipped into high gear today and the upward trading rush in the early hours attained a momentum equal to some of the fast sessions of the 1933 spring-summer revival.

Led by the rails and industrials, most share groups were pushed ahead 1 to 2 or more points before profit-taking cut down some of the extreme gains. The advance was variously attributed to final Congressional action on the President's gold bill, with its inflationary implications on the one hand and dollar stabilization authorization on the other. Increased demands for favorite issues put the ticker tape seven minutes behind floor transactions at one time, and trading in the first two hours exceeded 2,000,000 shares.

Grains, cottons and other commodities did not take part in the demonstration, although most were fairly steady. The dollar held to a narrow groove in foreign exchange dealings. Bonds were mildly improved.

Shares of Santa Fe, New York Central, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and a number of other carriers were up 1 to around 2 points. American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, United Aircraft, Douglas Aircraft, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Chrysler, United States Industrial Alcohol, Case, Allied Chemical, Auburn and Public Service of New Jersey also recorded gains of 1 to more than 2. The metals were hesitant.

Most of the aircraft stocks were especially active following approval by the House Naval Affairs Committee of the recommendation to purchase 1,184 naval planes over a five-year period at a cost of some $95,000,000. One block of 30,000 shares of Curtiss-Wright changed hands at a fractional gain.

An expansion of public participation in equity trading was reported by several commission firms while, at the same time, several professional operators were said to have lightened their commitments on the theory that some of the more active issues have advanced too rapidly.

Although there has been considerable buying by foreign traders and investors, the expected heavy repatriation of American capital was understood to have thus far not developed. Banking quarters pointed out that, with the new $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund in operation, those who shipped their funds to Europe to escape inflation and dollar depreciation are virtually assured of getting their money back into this country on a dollar value of between 50 and 60 per cent of former parity. Most of the capital flight, it was said, took place at a much higher value.

COTTON STEADY AT ADVANCE

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Cotton futures opened steady, 4 to 6 points advance on higher Liverpool cables and commission house and trade buying. March, 11.39; May, 11.58; July, 11.75; October, 11.91; December, 12.03; January, 12.07.

There appeared to be some further buying here for foreign account. The advance extended to 11.45c for March and 11.77c for July contracts during th early trading, while May sold up to 11.62c or about 8 to 10 points net higher. This carried the market back to within 3 or 4 points of the mid-January highs which attracted considerable realizing.

The realizing attracted by the early advance was absorbed on reactions to about yesterday's closing quotations and the market steadied up again later in the morning. After selling off from 11.45 to 11.35, March rallied to 11.41 and was holding around 11.38 with the general list showing net advances of 2 to 6 points.

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 30.—Cotton, 2,000 bales; American nil. Spot quiet; prices 13 points higher. Quotations in pence: American strict good middling, 6.77; good middling, 6.47; strict middling, 6.32; middling, 6.17; strict low middling, 6.02; low middling, 5.77; strict good ordinary, 5.57; good ordinary, 5.27. Futures closed quiet, January, 5.90; March, 5.88; May, 5.87; July, 5.87; October, 5.87; December, 5.89.

GRAIN PRICES BUOYANT

CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—Fresh upturns in grain values early today accompanied buoyancy shown by the stock market. Continued low temperatures in domestic winter wheat territory, suggesting additional crop damage, acted also as a bullish factor. Opening 1/4-3/4 higher, wheat afterward rose further. Corn started at 1/8-5/8 gain, and subsequently altered little.

A new high price record since November 17 was reached by wheat. Much broader volume of trade than has recently formed the rule was in evidence.

Optimistic At Cost of Recovery

By B. C. FORBES.

Mr. Forbes

NOW THAT people have ceased worrying acutely over the future value of the dollar, many of them, especially in conservative financial circles, are expressing alarm over the cost of the recovery program.

The total federal government debt within sight is placed at as high as thirty-five billion dollars.

Before any such total is reached, the probability is that a goodly part of the loans made will have been repaid.

Even so, it looks certain that our public debt will exceed the peak touched after the World War, $26,596,000,000.

That is a lot of money, a lot even these days when we hear Washington talk glibly daily about billions.

One reader, William Leigh, offers consolation and inspiration to troubled taxpayers, bankers, politicians, etc. He writes:

"Thanks for the encouraging optimism of your daily column.

"In his 'Short History of the English People,' John Richard Green states that the population of England at the close of the Napoleonic wars was thirteen millions and that the national debt was eight hundred million pounds, or four billion dollars.

"However, in those days the pay of a laborer was fifty cents a day, so that a dollar was very much bigger than it is now, and the four billion dollar debt was equal to probably eight, or even ten billions, of today's money.

"The writers of those days advised the young people to emigrate because, with such a crushing debt, England was done.

"Yet, shortly afterwards better times than had ever been known before set in.

"The alarmists explained that, 'they had overlooked the fact that no money had been borrowed from abroad!'

"These facts should have a wonderfully reassuring effect on many of your daily readers who are apprehensive about our young and vigorous nation of 130,000,000 people assuming a national debt of 32 billions."

Respectfully submitted.

ANOTHER READER, H. Stock, writes:

"Your article allaying the old lady's fears about her dollars should remove all doubts as to the immediate consequences of the President's gold policy.

"Prices creep up all but, but wages don't, and that is all the wage-earner cares about just now. The specter of distress, bitterness and despair is stalking through the country. How will it end?"

A. A. BECHTEL, legislative chairman of the National Association of Substitute Post Office Employes, writes, in part:

"Since the beginning of the depression the economic position of the 'sub' has become more and more precarious, until at present our income is insufficient to provide the barest necessities for ourselves and our families. This is due mainly to the administrative practice of curtailing service to the public when a 'regular' is absent.

"We ask, first, for a 30-hour week, without deduction in pay, for all federal employes: second, full restoration of the present 15 per cent pay-cut; third, resumption of appointments to fill vacancies. Please place our problems before your readers."

OBITUARY

Mrs. Abram G. Holmes.

Funeral services for Mrs. Abram G. Holmes, 71, sister of the late Mrs. George Westinghouse, and prominent club woman, who died at her apartment in the Hotel Schenley Saturday, were to be held this afternoon at the H. Samson funeral home, 537 Neville street. Interment was to be in the Homewood Cemetery.

Mrs. Holmes, born in New York, came to Pittsburgh at an early age to make her home with the family of George Westinghouse, founder of the Westinghouse Manufacturing Company. She attended the Pennsylvania State College for Women and graduated in 1884. Soon after she married A. G. Holmes.

She was a member of the Twentieth Century Club, Congress of Women's Club, American Association of University Women, Allegheny County Civic Club, and of the board of directors of the Pittsburgh Home for Babies. She also was a worker in the Y. W. C. A. and many charitable organizations.

Mrs. Holmes was also the sister of Mrs. Paul Wadsworth, of Albany, N. Y., and Mrs. Mary Hewitt, of Kingston, N. Y. She leaves her husband, a daughter, Mrs. Gertrude Holmes McClure, of Swarthmore, Pa., and four grandchildren.

Mrs. Mary Anne Willets.

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Anne Beattie Willetts, wife of Dr. Ernest W. Willetts, will be held in the Moreland Chapel tomorrow at 4 p. m. She died at her home, Rosedale Heights, Sunday night.

Besides her husband, she leaves a daughter, Mrs. William H. Seward, of Madison, N. J., and two sons, Ernest W. Willetts, Jr., and Arthur T. Willetts.

Mrs. Willetts was born in Gainesville, Fla. She had been a resident of Pittsburgh more than 30 years. She was a member of the D. A. R. and of the Daughters of the Confederacy.

Mrs. Mary Brennan Quinn.

Requiem high mass will be celebrated at 9 a. m. tomorrow in St. Thomas Church, Braddock, for Mrs. Mary Brennan Quinn, who died Sunday at her home, 1216 Rebecca street, North Braddock.

She leaves three daughters, Mrs. Thomas Griffin, Mrs. Charles Weakland, and Mrs. Alice Kelly; two sons, John A. and James P. Quinn, and four brothers, Daniel, James, Edward, and W. P. Brennan.

Mrs. Elizabeth R. Wrenshall.

Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Church of the Epiphany, California and Home avenues, Avalon, for Mrs. Elizabeth R. Wrenshall of 450 Dawson avenue, Bellevue.

Mrs. Wrenshall, who died last night at her home leaves her husband, C. W. Wrenshall.

CHAPTER XXIII

"I suppose, gentlemen, that there is no fool like an old fool, no emotion as uncontrolled and violent as that which consumes a middle-aged man who has never even experienced the growing pains of puppy love.

"I began to write Sunny love letters—oh, just little notes that I thought some day might come to mean something to her. I suppose that she has received thousands of such offerings in her life and took them as a matter of course.

"But the child seemed to understand something of what I was suffering for every once in a while I used to get an answer from her saying that she knew how I felt and that she was sorry. Then she wrote me finally that I had better not come here to the house any more—that she loved Paige only and that someone might misunderstand my calls.

"I didn't quite understand this until one day I learned that Sunny was going to be a mother. For a little while, I was really crazy, I think. I was certain that her life with Ranny was only a question of time and I feared for her and for her baby.

Divorce Suggested

"I wrote to her and begged her to see me, but she replied that she was very happy and that there was nothing to worry about.

"But I was determined to talk to her and to find out the true state of affairs for myself. I knew that Mrs. Phelps here was a good friend of Sunny's and Sunny had often told me that her heart was as big as her head. I had a casual acquaintance with her as I told you and I determined to appeal to her and see if Sunny would not permit me one last interview if she were present."

Here Cleveland turned to Mrs. Phelps who nodded a quiet assent.

"The result was that I discovered that Mrs. Phelps felt as bitterly about Ranny's meanderings as I did. She had often begged Sunny to obtain a divorce. She promised to help me and she succeeded in getting Sunny to talk to me that last night—the night she was killed. I had no very definite idea in my mind—I just wanted to see her and to tell her face to face that if she ever needed a home for herself and her child that she was to come directly to me."

Here Cleveland stared sadly into the flames for a moment.

"Well, I called for Mrs. Phelps in my car that night at 8 o'clock as you already know. We drove straight here and Sunny herself let us in. I didn't see any servants or anyone else.

Saved Letters

"She appeared very agitated and unhappy, due to my persistence, I thought, and I inwardly cursed myself for my folly in disturbing her while she was in that condition. Mrs. Phelps never left us alone for a single moment.

"Sunny began to cry almost as soon as we came in. She seemed dreadfully upset.

"'You must just let me alone, dear,' she told me again and again. 'I do not love you in the way that you want and you are going to spoil my life. I love Ranny and him only and even if he is unfaithful to me, I love him anyhow. Some day he will understand just how truly I do love him and he will be content with me alone.

"'And you not only jeopardize my happiness but you are running the risk of spoiling your entire professional career. To you and to me, too, your love seems a very beautiful thing, but that is not the way the world looks at it. Someone will get one of your letters'—and she waved her hand toward that desk over there. 'I keep them locked in that inside drawer because I am not very happy and they mean more to me than you might think. Sometimes I like to get them out and read them and know that I have such a true friend.'"

The lawyer's voice broke and he was unable to continue.

"That was all that happened," explained Mrs. Phelps. "Mr. Cleveland promised that he would do as she asked and told her that if she ever needed help that she was to come directly to him. Then we said goodby to her and left her. Mr. Cleveland drove me straight home."

"What was it that you took from Mrs. Paige's desk?" asked Anderson. His face was emotionless and I could gain no idea of what impression this strange story had made upon him.

"Mr. Cleveland's love letters. I was afraid, since they were there in that inner drawer, that the police would discover them and believe that there had been some intrigue between them. Mr. Cleveland asked me to get them, if possible, and we both thought that I could do it better than he."

Drawer Empty

"I see," said Anderson meditatively. "Very cleverly done. Where are these letters now?"

"I don't know," answered Mrs. Phelps. "That was why I unfastened the desk with a hairpin just as you guessed. But the inner drawer was unlocked and empty. That was why Mr. Cleveland came to talk to you this morning. We were anxious to know if the police had found them."

"That's all true," put in the lawyer.

Anderson's face wore a queer expression, just as if some strange and new idea were beginning to dawn in his mind. But his eyes were far away and very steely.

"Do you suppose that Mrs. Paige herself destroyed them after her interview with you?"

There was silence.

"Did Mrs. Paige mention to either of you the receipt of a letter in the morning mail which had disturbed her very much?"

"No," denied Cleveland and Mrs. Phelps in chorus.

"Did she mention a phone call which had upset her?"

"No."

"There are a couple of questions," continued Anderson. "It is my desire to believe your story and I admire your frankness even at this late date. However, there seem to be several points which you have conveniently forgotten to touch upon. First, I want to know what took you two into the basement of this house and why you remained there long enough to smoke 19 cigarets between you?"

No Explanation

And he took the parcel of butts from his pocket.

Cleveland and Mrs. Phelps bent forward curiously.

"Why, we came into the hall and into this room and that is all," said the lawyer. "That was all, wasn't it?" he appealed to his companion.

"It was indeed," answered Mrs. Phelps positively. "Are you certain, Inspector, that you picked these up in the cellar? These are the brand I always smoke and I see on them some of my lip-stick—or lip-stick that is exactly like mine. If you had picked them up anywhere else I wouldn't hesitate to claim them. I guess I've smoked hundreds of them over here. Maybe the maid just emptied them into the cellar."

"No," explained Anderson. "Mrs. Deane says that they were not on the basement floor the morning before the murder and we found them the next morning. Someone smoked these in the cellar while awaiting an opportunity to murder Mrs. Paige."

But both Cleveland and Mrs. Phelps shook their heads in denial. They had no explanation to offer.

"This is the truth as God is my witness," protested the lawyer warmly. "I have made a clean breast of everything I know."

"Very well, sir," replied Anderson. "What you say may be true in part or altogether. I don't know yet. Now let me ask you—when you left Mrs. Paige was she very much agitated?"

"Decidedly so. I cursed myself for being a fool to upset her like that."

"Did you tell her that her husband had been unfaithful to her?"

"I think that she knew that already," answered Cleveland slowly. "Everybody else did. It could not have been news to her."

"Then her reaction was very queer," commented the Inspector. "Most women would have raised the devil. Walked out or sued him for divorce."

Theory Disapproved

"You didn't know Sunny," answered Cleveland sadly. "She was there in a strange country without money and her pride was enormous. Ranny might have destroyed every shred of love and respect she had for him, but she would never have let the world know it. And she was counting on the new baby to steady him."

"True, true. But I begin to wonder if we are not on the wrong track, after all. Mrs. Paige was unhappy, convinced, you tell me, of her husband's disloyalty, and a stranger in a strange land, as well. I wonder if she did not yield to the impulse of the moment and decide that the quickest way out of an unfeeling world was the best way? She may have caught the tassel in her mouth in her death struggle."

"You didn't know her," breathed Cleveland and Mrs. Phelps in chorus, "or you couldn't say that. She never killed herself!"

"Well, one more question, Mr. Cleveland. You say that you drove Mrs. Phelps directly to her own home after your interview here. I assume that you then returned to your own house?"

"No," answered the lawyer with some difficulty. "I have been expecting that question. I did not return home until dawn broke the next morning. I was very much upset and disturbed and I drove the larger part of the night. Sometimes I stopped for a while and brooded over the whole sorry business and sometimes I just drove, finding a certain relief in the rushing of the car and the cool wind."

Synopsis

Sonia (Sunny) Paige, wife of socially prominent Randolph (Ranny) Paige, is found hanging by a silk dress cord from the chandelier in her boudoir. An autopsy reveals that Sunny had been suffocated first with the tassel of the cord and then hung. Mrs. Deane, the housekeeper, says the night of the tragedy was her night off and that Mrs. Phelps, a neighbor, was to spend the evening with Sunny. Inspector Anderson is furious when Ranny employs Kirk Judson, a shady private detective, to investigate the tragedy. Anderson and Judson decide to forget their antagonism and work together. Anderson questions Mrs. Phelps. A face peers in the window. Anderson thinks Mrs. Phelps tampered with Sunny's desk when the police sought the intruder. Robert Cleveland, prominent attorney and friend of Paige, seems anxious to help the young man. The police learn Mrs. Phelps saw Cleveland the night of the murder. Suspicion is thrown on Mrs. Deane after she reads a letter addressed to Anderson. Cleveland confesses that he was in love with Mrs. Paige.

SESSION OF PERMANENT COURT OF INTERNATIONAL JUSTICE, 1929

This court sits at the Peace Palace, Hague. It consists of 15 judges elected for 9 years by the Assembly and Council of the League of Nations. It hears, determines disputes about interpretation of treaties, international law, investigates alleged breach of obligations suggesting solution (repair.) The World Court, holding an Austro-German custom union inconsistent with existing treaties, (1931) was criticised as biased.

Though the United States did not join the League of Nations, she entered the World Court by sending elected American judges (Prof. J. Bassett Moore, Charles Evans Hughes, Frank B. Kellogg) abroad. (World History.)

HAPPY DAYS OF OLIVER WITH MAYLIES

Oliver, ill used by his undertaker boss, runs away, is picked up by the London gang of Fagin, pickpockets' trainer. Oliver goes along with them.

Instead of a culprit, Oliver is caught. Cleared, he is cared for by respectable Mr. Brownlow. Kidnaped by the gang, Oliver is shot during their burglary attempt in Maylie's house. He is nursed by the same family to health.

The plot of Fagin and Monks (Oliver's half brother) against his life and his kinship to Rose Maylie unveiled, Oliver receives inheritance and is adopted by Mr. Brownlow. (English Literat.)

INAUGURATION OF PRESIDENT HERBERT HOOVER 1929

President Coolidge "did not choose to run," and Herbert Hoover won the presidency on Republican ticket. His administration (1929-1933) is remembered by: Hawley-Smoot (Grundy) protective tariff bill; Farm Relief bill (500 million dollar fund to buy agricultural surplus); collapse of prosperity; financial panic; worst depression in history; Reconstruction Finance Corporation created with 500 millions to help banks, railroads, insurance companies with loans; Home Loan Bank established to save small home owners from mortgage foreclosures.

Foreign Affairs: Co-operated with League of Nations in China-Japanese crisis, declaring against recognition of any "de facto" situation brought about by violations of treaties; took part in London Naval Conference (limitation of Navies); General Disarmament Conference (deadlocked, 1932); proposed one-year moratorium for reparations and war debts (1931) leading to Lausanne Accord (1932, nations scaling down Germany's reparation obligations provided U. S. should foot the bill, by forgetting her loans.)

Increasing depression and unemployment proved the measures of the Hoover administration unsatisfactory, resulting in a landslide for the Democratic candidate Franklin D. Roosevelt, in 1932.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS (POLIOMYELITIS)

This disease aroused countrywide interest through the valiant fight President Franklin D. Roosevelt put up against it. It is an inflammation of the gray matter of the spinal cord and medulla, caused by a filterable, not visible microorganism, intruding probably through respiratory passages reaching the spinal fluid by way of lymph.

Poliomyelitis attacks mostly—but not exclusively—young people, hence its name "infantile paralysis". It's first symptoms are those of a common cold, with headaches, fever, perspiration; then vomiting, pains in limbs, and paralysis. If paralysis extends to muscles of alimentary canal or respiration (in about 20% of cases) death results. The Drinker respirator saves many such desperate cases. About 20% recover completely while about 60% retain some lameness, deformities.

Remedies: Bed-rest, serum from reconvalescent injected into spine and later extended electro-hydrotherapy, massage, exercise, correction of muscle action by mechanical apparatus (above), surgery. A fine celebration of President Roosevelt's birthday today is to support his idea of creating a research fund to attack this disease. (Gen. Science.)

BRAIN, CENTRAL CLEARING HOUSE OF BODY

The nervous system secures order, efficiency and timing of all parts of the body. It is composed of nerve cells, (neurons) and divides into central (cerebro-spinal: Brain and spinal cord), peripheral (cranial, spinal nerves) and autonomic or sympathetic (ganglia and their nerves) systems (right).

The central nervous system adjusts the body to external conditions, the peripheral (partially) and the sympathetic systems co-ordinate internal (life maintaining) functions.

The Brain, (above) is in the upper part of the skull and it divides into the cerebrum, interbrain, mid-brain, cerebellum, pons and medulla. It has three coverings (meninges): dura mater (two layers of connective tissue with veins and fine nerves between), the arachnoid membrane and the pia mater (vessel-carrying, projecting into brain). Between the two latter are spaces, where fluid from brain and spinal column circulates.

Cerebrum is divided by deep fissure into right and left hemispheres connected by corpus callosum (nerve fibers), has many fissures, convolutions and is the seat of higher mental processes. Left hemisphere controls right side of body; right hemisphere the left side.

At the base of cerebrum lies the interbrain (reflex centers for responses, involving feelings); adjoining it, is the mid-brain, connected to eye, ear, skin, by nerve fibers. Below these is the cerebellum, also of two hemispheres (center of timing, succession, coordination of movements) connected to the cerebrum by the pons (bridge), seat of acts of skill.

The adjoining medulla on top of spinal cord, controls many vital functions (respiration, heart beat, contraction of blood vessels etc). Life functions strain nerves, produce fatigue poisons; eight hours daily sleep (lessened nerve activities) is needed for recuperation. (Gen. Science.)

HUMAN NERVOUS SYSTEM . . PATH OF NERVE IMPULSES

Nerves, receiving, carrying impulses to centers are called sensory or afferent; those transmitting the responses from centers to muscles, glands, etc., are motor, efferent nerves. Each has central body with large nucleus, treelike branching fibers (dendrites) and one long thread, the axon. (Gen. Science.)

Scrambling the Brain Trust

Let's look over the list of stabilization plans submitted boldly and fearlessly by our anonymous correspondents:

1—Take the money out of the banks and put it in the banks.

2—Fix the dollar at 67 and ⅔ cents. This will make it tough for the small dealer to make exact change.

3—Peg the dime at 10 cents subject to atmospherical conditions.

4—Expand credit and contract the creditors.

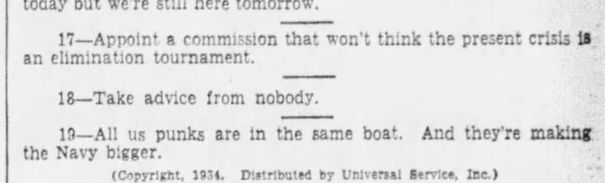
5—Multiply the value of gold by the ratio of silver and give us the answer in copper.

6—Put rubber bars on the 12 Federal Reserve banks.

7—Prof. Flimp says that business looks forward to the future. Well, nobody is stopping that, is he?

8—If the dollar sank in the Seine and the Thames why are the bubbles breaking on the surface of the Potomac?

9—Give every citizen $200 and stand back.



10—There must be seven years of drought. There must be seven years of famine. The present crop of leaping experts must be the seven years of grasshoppers.

11—Make Europe pay its war debts. Or has that been said before?

12—Call everything off and start with a new slate. If not a new slate start with something else that will break just as easily.

13—Print fiat money. Which is irredeemable currency made legal tender by law. Nobody can object to that except everybody.

14—Make credit easy by making the creditors uneasy.

15—Don't holler, "Wolf" when you're the guy who is eating the mutton.

16—The trouble with us small businessmen is that we are gone today but we're still here tomorrow.

17—Appoint a commission that won't think the present crisis is an elimination tournament.

18—Take advice from nobody.

19—All us punks are in the same boat. And they're making the Navy bigger.

Not Time to Relax

The Flood Control Fight Should Be Pressed and Council Should Aid.

When the enemy wavers and gives ground—that is no time to relax.

Instead the attack should be pressed with the greatest possible vigor.

After 25 years of campaigning by the Flood Commission of Pittsburg for the construction of storage reservoirs at the headwaters the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers to protect the cit and other communities in the three valleys from high water, the United States government has at last recognized that this is properly a federal job, and has appropriated three million dollars of PWA funds for preliminary work on one of the reservoirs. It is to be built on the Tygart River in West Virginia.

The Flood Commission, heartened by this victory, would press on. Now is the time, when Washington is in a receptive mood and money is available, to urge in the strongest possible way that the Allegheny Valley be given protection, too—indeed that the whole fifty-one million dollar project be undertaken.

We regard it as unfortunate that President Robert Garland, of City Council, has not been more sympathetic towards the move.

When the Flood Commission requested an appropriation of between $5,000 and $7,500 to continue its efforts at Washington, Mr. Garland suggested that the appeal be made to the County Commissioners. He apparently did not stop to think that his attitude might hold up the campaign.

The city would be the greatest beneficiary of flood control and has properly supported the fight for it heretofore. To withhold support at a time when the chances of success are the brightest that they ever have been would be inexcusable.

Mr. Garland should refresh his memory concerning the havoc that floods have worked in Pittsburgh.

In one year and five days, between March 15, 1907, and March, 20, 1908, three floods occurred, causing a direct loss within the city of six million five hundred thousand dollars, or ABOUT A THOUSAND TIMES AS MUCH as the Flood Commission is now asking of Council to help protect Pittsburgh permanently from these devastating inundations.

We would remind Mr. Garland also that the Flood Commission's engineers reported after a long and painstaking study that unless storage reservoirs are built "it is not improbable that Pittsburgh will some day experience a 40-foot flood," which would give a stage of water five feet higher than we experienced in the record flood of March 15, 1907.

Edwin K. Morse, the well-known engineer, has said of that flood:

"If the extremely high water in the Allegheny and the extremely high water in the Monongahela River had come out at the Point at the same time instead of being two hours and 15 minutes apart, the whole of Smithfield street would have been under water with the exception of a short piece at the intersection of Diamond . . .

"If the storm of March 23-28, 1913, which produced the Dayton Flood, had passed over Pittsburgh instead of passing 60 miles west of Pittsburgh, there would have been 46 to 48 feet of flood in the city, and a steamboat could have come up Smithfield street.

"Had the heavy rainfall of December 12, 1927, followed up the Ohio River from Parkersburg and passed over this district, there would have been a minimum height of 40 to 45 feet at the Point."

It is appalling to consider these possibilities.

Council owes it to the city to do what it can to prevent their becoming realities.

Appendicitis Mortality

The State Medical Society Is to Be Commended for Its Campaign Against This Disease.

The alert Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania is entitled to congratulations on its announcement that it will conduct a vigorous campaign of education to reduce the mortality from appendicitis.

The announcement is of particular interest to Pittsburgh, because our death rate from the disease—17.5 for each 100,000 persons—is unusually high, comparing with 11.3 in Philadelphia, 14.8 in New York, 14.5 in Chicago, and 14 in Cleveland.

Physicians say that 20,000 persons die rather suddenly of appendicitis in the United States annually, and that from 16,000 to 18,000 of these deaths could be prevented. They give this warning:

"In the presence of abdominal pain, never give a laxative or physic. Give nothing by mouth. Call your family doctor. Abdominal pain, cramp or soreness which lasts four hours is usually serious."

The circulation of this warning should help, we are told, to reduce appendicitis mortality.

Not Worth the Risk

Little Is to Be Gained by Speeding, Even If There Is No Accident.

Tests made by motor club officials, as reported by the Governor's Committee on Street and Highway Safety, show that if two men travel along the same route for 10 or 12 miles through a city, one following every rule of law and caution and the other driving at maximum speed, the latter will save only three or four minutes.

The gain is so trifling that the risk is not worth taking.

Here is something else that impatient motorists would do well to think about: A man 35 years old has a natural expectancy of 17 million more minutes of life. If while driving he takes a risk to gain a minute he is giving odds of 17 million to one on his venture.

Even the most reckless gambler should hesitate to offer such odds.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Bob Hague is about the last of Broadway's good fellows, the sort who purge decorous gatherings with blasts of comedy. A millionaire, he has rounded the Horn on wind-jammers, knocked about the hell roaringest seaports and toyed with a tea cup in select drawing rooms.

As vice president of a major oil company, he controls a fleet of freighters and is loved by his crews, from oil wiper to captain. He is married to Mary Lewis, the freckled Arkansas beauty who sang her way from Taits-on-the-Beach to the Metropolitan opera.

Indicative of his grasp of the arts, three months after his marriage to Miss Lewis he naively observed one evening at home: "They tell me you sing? Let's hear you!" And while she trilled her golden throated arias he held to a dead cigar and snored. But she adores him.

Hague by wireless from somewhere in Brazil will act as host to several hundred actors at the Lambs. He is a sucker for the hard luck story and can put away a quart of Bourbon and still yawn over the dullness of the evening. His favorite cronie is William Gaxton, the actor.

A tragi-comic tale concerns a jet-bonneted lady carrying her deceased Peke to Brooklyn in a hand satchel for interment. A man in the subway asked if he might not relieve her of the burden. She held to it nervously. He followed her up the steps, snatched the satchel and sprinted!

The Hartsdale Dog Cemetery is the resting place for most New York dogs whose owners can afford the reasonable charges. A plot and burial cost about $35 and for $5 yearly graves are kept green. It is on an upward slope from the Hudson.

The most depressing structure in town is the mammoth and abandoned hospital at West End avenue and Seventy-second street, occupying almost a half-block on the former site of the mansion of Huyler, the candy man. It is now in rapid decay, broken windowed and cobwebby. I am told bondholders salvaged only a penny for each dollar invested. A few blocks away on Riverside Drive, is the Bonus Camp, where jobless ex-soldiers are bravely riding the economic storm in tin can huts. There should be a ligature between this forlorn building, with room for all, and the cold, cramped quarters of the squatters.

I stirred up a mare's nest in a recent sniff for precise grammar. But the majority of letters maintain, paraphrasing Hamlet: "The paragraph's the thing." The greatest stylists and masters of rhetoric with flyspeck criticisms are so often bores. An analogy may be found with champion golfers. With the exception of Bobby Jones, the greatest, are deviators from orthodox form.

Ernest Hemmingway's phrases are so awkwardly clipped they shame the Oxford Englishman. A new writer, Myron Brinig, stipples similar staccato. Not many hold them paragons of literary purity. But they are direct and grip readers. Contrariwise, Dreiser is verbose, prolix, circumlocutious and involved. Also a writing master. The chapters of his "An American Tragedy" between the time the murder was committed and the murderer apprehended, are more tragically breath-taking than even Victor Hugo's similar chase of Jean Valjean. Arnold Bennett admits he wrote best when he chucked grammatical rules out the window.

Now that Anthony J. Drexel Biddle has ended a 20-year-old self exile on the Paris boulevards, another ex-patriated die-hard, E. Berry Wall, is expected to join the dollar flight hegira soon. His English boiled dinner sartorial effect will add lustre to the Park avenue promenade.

I once sauntered with Mr. Wall and his chow from Sulka's corner along the rue de Rivoli to Rumpelmayer's. Mickey Nielan, stepping out of the Maurice, glimpsed us and, grabbing a megaphone from a yap wagon spieler, yelled: "Everybody grab partners for a Gay '90 totter!"

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

Justice Is What We Make It

She's asking the oldest, perhaps the bitterest question in life:

"IS JUSTICE REALLY JUSTICE?"

You've asked that question, too, haven't you—with just such heat and bitterness? Particularly if you've ever tangled with our courts. If so, how many hours have you spent telling your unfortunate friends that there wasn't any justice anyway—nothing but mockery and corruption?

But you were wrong—just as wrong as the rosy idealists who expect this half-baked way-station to be a rose-wreathed Garden of Eden.

IS JUSTICE REALLY JUSTICE?

OF COURSE IT ISN'T.

LIKE EVERYTHING ELSE IN OUR IMPERFECT HUMAN LIFE, JUSTICE IS WHAT WE MAKE IT.

Justice isn't a divine ideal and program transplanted, in toto, from the heavenly archives into our murky human affairs. It's a dream of fair dealing—a vision, still vague and muddled, of something taller and finer than our selfishness, cruelty, stupidity and greed. And in just the proportion that we are able to express that dream, we have justice.

Often you're appalled or enraged at the cowardice or crookedness of judges, the stupidity of juries, the inadequacy of our laws. You say these conditions are abominable. They are. But don't lose faith in civilization because of that.

THE WONDER IS THAT WE HAVE ANY JUSTICE AT ALL, AS YET.

For we are still such a little way removed from savagery. We have so many generations of stark brutality behind us, when the only possible system was the brute system of "dog eat dog." And we're still savage inside; many of us little better than baboons.

So that justice is still not only rare and miraculous, but actually a dangerous thing.

It is a dangerous thing to try to be fair in this selfish, struggling world. It is dangerous to trust people; dangerous to give the other fellow an equal chance. The just man is bound to be misunderstood, considered a fool and taken advantage of.

And the honest judge who tries to dispense justice is not dealing with absolute right and wrong, with 100 per cent good people, 100 per cent bad people. He is dealing with a bewildering mixture of goodness and badness, strength and weakness. No law on earth can tell him how to solve that mystery perfectly, nor is there sufficient understanding in his undeveloped spirit. He must simply do the best he can, and his best must inevitably fall short of the ideal.

So the wonder isn't that we have so little justice, but that we have any at all.

And if you really want to fight the injustice of the world, there is just one thing to do—stop crabbing at bungling judges, and juries, and ineffective laws, and GET BUSY ON YOURSELF. FOR JUSTICE IS AS GREAT AS OUR OWN DREAM OF IT—AS STRONG AS OUR OWN DESIRE TO EXPRESS IT!

Gypsy Spell

I shall throw all my cares away,
Just when the wind blows by;
I'll toss to it my every grief
And every little sigh!

For now I have a gypsy spell
To make me glad once more,
And I can fling away regrets
Like ashes from my door.

My cares along the wind will drift
And sink into the sea.
Then I shall carol like the lark,
So free from grief, so free!

And I shall bless the gypsy queen
Who gave me lore like this.
To turn dismay into delight
And burdens into bliss!

Upon the wind I'll cast my grief
And say the gypsy spell;
She whispered it, the gypsy queen,
And I have learned it well!

Once Overs

By J. J. MUNDY

Sometimes you regret that you are not included in the affairs of what you consider an "upper class" of society.

Have you ever considered that you might be less happy and contented if you were a member of that group?

How do you know that you would not be such a misfit that you would be considered one of, but not a part of, the coterie.

To be a hanger-on with nobody especially interested in you or your welfare certainly would not be very pleasant.

You could not be your natural self because you would sense the very slight grip of your position and realize that a false move would disbar you.

What satisfaction could anyone get from that sort of social life?

What chance for expansion?

A puppet, jumping at the leaders' behest, it were better to remain in a crowd where you represent a personality that is recognized and appreciated.

A Great Wasted Fortune

Millions Worth of Sulphur Running Into the Sea.

"WHITE ISLANDS," A VOLCANO POURING SULPHUR INTO THE OCEAN

This little island off the coast of New Zealand, named "White Island" by Capt. Cook, is a great volcano, throwing up from the ocean's depths vast quantities of fine sulphur, pouring millions of dollars' worth of it into the ocean, where it is lost, at least until men shall begin exploring and prospecting the ocean's bed.

Occasionally, when this volcano subsides and appears to be at rest, efforts are made to extract the precious sulphur, and companies are formed. One was at work, with many employes, in 1914, when a severe eruption wiped out the whole staff of workers, destroying every life.

Later British capital tried again, established another plant, and that enterprise was abandoned at great loss a year ago. There was danger that the ocean might enter the crater that had been formed, and the water, suddenly turned to steam by the volcano's heat, blow up the entire volcanic island.

It is true that a volcano is nothing but a tiny pimple on the surface of the earth, but an exploding pimple might injure microbes gathered around it, and an exploding volcano is a serious thing for men. This volcano of "White Island," pouring out thousands of tons of sulphur, is a sample of the inexhaustible wealth that is inside the earth.

Some day men will know how to develop and use that wealth. To begin they will make a hole about 30 miles deep and obtain perpetual power, at no cost, from the earth's central heat. That and other things more wonderful will be done, including harnessing the tides and utilizing the sun's gigantic power.

All interesting to think about, but don't let it interfere with the particular job that you happen to have in hand.

Human Side of the News

German Deep Sea Divers Are Reported to Have Found Lord Kitchener's Private Papers

By Edwin C. Hill

AMAZING NEWS comes from Berlin that German deep sea divers, working with the utmost secrecy, have brought up from the hulk of the sunken cruiser Hampshire not only an enormous sum of gold but the private papers of the late Field Marshall Lord Kitchener. It has stirred the British Admiralty to protest. It is one of the most remarkable stories growing out of the war.

It was in 1916 that Lord Kitchener, then War Minister of Great Britian and its greatest military hero since the Duke of Wellington, started for Russia on a secret mission. He took with him a large sum in gold coin and gold bars, as an inducement for the wabbling Russians to remain true to their allegiance with the allies. And he carried in his portfolio papers of the greatest importance. The Hampshire set forth in stormy weather, and near the Orkney Islands, north of Scotland, hit a German mine and went down with all hands.

For years the gold and the bones of drowned men lay in their steel casket, the hull of the slain cruiser. And then curious reports began to filter about the world. It was known that a celebrated American locksmith named Charles Courtney, a wizard at opening safes, had gone abroad on a mysterious errand. Last summer Charles Courtney returned to the United States, his hair turned white, suffering from severe injuries, and barely hinted that he had come extremely close to remaining on the bottom of the North Sea.

And now one of the leading Berlin newspapers comes out with the story which has aroused the lords of the King's Navee. The tale is told by a German diving expert named Whitefield, who headed the secret raid on the sunken hulk of the Hampshire.

Long before the Germans had located the position of the cruiser and had marked it with an underwater buoy. When favorable weather came they made their attempt. They worked for five days, far down in the dark depths, cutting through the ship's side with acetylene torches, but they made so little progress that they decided to let off bombs to smash their way through to the safes where the Hampshire's gold was locked up. They planted time bombs and were hauled to the surface.

Ship Torn in Two By Explosion

PRESENTLY THE water boiled, and when the divers in their monstrous garb went down again to the sea floor, they found that the explosion had torn the ship in two. Their way was clear to the 11 safes which held the treasure.

Whitefield was the first to enter the ship's strongroom. As he opened the door the water swayed inward, causing a commotion in the cabin. At that moment he saw a man sitting in a chair in the room. Used to weird experiences, as deep-sea divers must be, Whitefield halted with his heart in his mouth. The man in the chair rose slowly and floated past him, out into the body of the ship.

Then Courtney, the lock magician from the United States, entered the strongroom and went to work on those safes that had not known the touch of a human hand for almost 18 years. Gold and stacks of documents rewarded him. The gold was in bars, in small metal cases. The documents were Lord Kitchener's own papers, relating to his secret mission to the Russian court.

Retreating from the strongroom, the divers were about to be hauled to the surface when a terrific explosion hurled them against a side of the cruiser. All were badly hurt, and barely got to the surface alive. There was where Charles Courtney, who confirmed the story to this writer, got his white hairs.

And now His Majesty's government wants the gold, and especially the papers of Lord Kitchener, and will make its demand on the government of Germany.

Sunken Treasure Constantly Allures

TALES AND legends of mysterious, hidden treasures ha excited the cupidity of men at a times and in all countries.

Probably the first treasure seeker in history was the Carthaginian gentleman who went to the Emperor Nero in Rome and told him that he had found the hiding place of the great treasure of Queen Dido. Around Carthage and in Mesopotamia, where Xerxes lost his treasure in Pompeii and Herculaneum, and in Russia, where Tartars and Huns left great booty as they were driven back to the steppes of Asia, the number of treasure hunters has been almost legion. Among the undiscoverable treasures is the legendary Rhine treasure from which Schumann got the inspiration for one of his immortal songs.

Volumes have been written on the treasures of the Aztecs, since the days that Montezuma was writhing on a bed of glowing coals because he refused to reveal to the Spanish conqueror, Cotez, the hiding place of the treasures of the Temple of the Sun.

Then there is the huge treasure of Cocos Island, for which many men have searched vainly since it was hidden by pirates a century ago. Two hundred and fifty million dollars in gold and jewels, the loot of the cathedrals of Peru, are buried in a cave on Cocos, the greatest lure to adventurers, probably, that the world knows today. In 1904 a clairvoyant in Marseilles asserted that she had seen the hiding place in a trance. The treasure was contained in two iron cases. But nothing came of the lady's vision.

Sir Malcolm Campbell, the world's fastest speed car driver, is one of those who believes in the treasure of Cocos, and he has made two attempts to get it. Earthquakes, probably, have buried the original hiding place.

A new attempt is to be made to drain the ancient lake in Colombia, near Bogota, into which the Indians used to throw gold vessels, coins, bars and jewelry, to placate a monstrous serpent which they believed was a dweller in the lake. From time to time shields in massive gold, bracelets and emeralds have actually been brought to the surface.

The sea hides treasures greater than the combined wealth of Alaska, Klondyke and the Transvaal.

The property in gold, silver and jewels lost with the ships sunk by German submarines is said to amount to a billion dollars.

Buried on the bottom of the Bay of Vigo are the 12 Spanish galleons which were sunk in 1702, conveying to Spain the wealth of the Caciques. The great treasure of William the Conqueror has never been found—buried somewhere in Normandy.

Life is not to be bought with heaps of gold, nor can gold win through the gates of fair Arcady, even at the heels of beggared love, as Henry Van Dyke told us. But always it has been the irresistible magnet that drew adventurers to strange seas, even as it drew Balboa, "When, with eagle eyes, he stared at the Pacific, and all his men looked at each other in wild surmise, silent, upon a peak in Darien."
